SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST RED CROSS

American Society Accused of Being More or Less a Pro-German Agency

Toronto, Jan. 13.—Dr. L. E. Brown-Lardone, of Paris, France, who is in Toronto, preliminary to making an appeal for the hospitals of Northern France, in an interview last night made the startling charge that the Red Cross Society in the United States is neither more nor less than a pro-German agency. He said that although given the nominal connection with the United States through the name of President Woodrow Wilson as honorary president of the organization, the Red Cross Society has for its president Jacob Schiff, a German Jewish banker, and on account of certain revelations in connection with the sailing of the Red Cross ship from America last fall, it has been identified as strongly sympathetic with the German people.

"In the first place," said Dr. Brown-Lardone, speaking to a Press representative, the Red Cross Society in the United States wasted $67,000 in chartering a special ship to carry hospital supplies, which British, Holland and French lines of boats offered to carry charges free."

"Then," he continued, "after the ship had left port a protest from Great Britain and France over the personnel of the crew resulted in her return to New York. The crew was re-organized, and those who left the ship took with them as their personal effects all the chloroform, iodoform and iodine that was contained in the cargo. And these articles were not replaced and no trace of them has ever been found. When the ship resumed its journey, it carried officials and crew about evenly divided between Germans and Americans. It took twenty-seven days for some of the cargo to be delivered in northern France and Belgium, to which countries the supply of hospital materials was destined."

Dr. Lardone further stated that packages intended for British soldiers were given to German soldiers.

DARING ENGLISH AIRMAN WHO LED RAID ON ZEPPELINS ON WAR MISSION IN AMERICA

THE NEW SOPWITH BIPLANE AT BROOKLANDS

Herewith is shown Squadron Commander Spenser Grey, daring British airman, who in America on a war mission. It was Commander Grey who commanded the little British squadron of three naval aeroplanes which on September 22 made a successful attack on the German airship sheds at Dusseldorf, destroying a Zeppelin. On October 8 Commander Grey flew 100 miles from Antwerp into the enemy's country at Cologne, where he dropped bombs on the railway station, which was damaged. Commander Grey, when seen in New York city, was unwilling to discuss his reported mission to this country, which is said to be the purchase of aeroplanes, although he displayed great interest in American devices. Commander Grey flies what is believed to be the fastest aeroplane in the British navy service. It is the racing Sopwith biplane, designed for the 1914 race for the Coupe Internationale d'Aviation. This contest was abandoned owing to the war.

INCREASE IN HOME USE OF PULP WOOD

Large Increase in the Manufacture of Pulp in Canadian Mills During the Past Year

Sixty-four pulp mills in Canada report a total consumption, in 1913, of 1,109,034 cords of pulpwood. Nearly an equal amount was exported to the United States in an unmanufactured condition. Thus, for the first time in the history of the industry, more than half of the pulpwood produced in Canada was manufactured into pulp in Canadian pulp-mills.

Quebec leads in the consumption of pulpwood, followed, in the order named, by Ontario, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. As the pulp industry on the Pacific coast is still in its infancy, steady increase in British Columbia may be expected. Over two-thirds of the wood used for pulp was spruce, and one-fourth balsam fir. The percentage of fir used has increased steadily, as the prejudice against this wood has been overcome. Jack-pine is also beginning to be a factor, though still a small one, less than 20,000 cords being reported as manufactured in 1913.

ASSISTING WOOL-GROWERS

Sheep-raising Industry to be Further Improved and Developed

The live stock branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is prepared to offer practical assistance to associations and display of their wool clips for market. Associations, in order to receive aid, must be organized in accordance with the regulations of the branch, and membership is limited to actual owners of sheep. West of Port William an association must contain at least 3,000 sheep, or sufficient to comprise one carload of wool; east of there, a relative number. The services of expert wool-classifiers, who will take the charge of and perform the grading, classification and preparation of the wool, will be provided.

This proposal represents much more than a mere continuation of the work that has been already been undertaken. It means the introduction of a definite scheme whereby wool producers may be actually assisted in preparing and presenting their wools upon the market in the most acceptable fashion, and thus be in position to enter more directly to the requirements of the market. Moreover, it should prove effective in developing and improving the general status of sheep-raising and in creating an impetus to the production and preparation of an improved grade of wool, and indirectly, a better class of mutton.

British recruiting is quite satisfactory to the War Office, but it is not going to give information of enormous value to the enemy by disclosing the number of recruits, merely to gratify public curiosity. That is not Kitchen-er's way of doing things.

Bradstreet's says that trade trends are on up grade with movement in distribution channels conservatively steady, rather than rapid.
