scrofula

Any doctor will tell you that Professor Hare, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, is one of the highest authorities in the world on the action of drugs. In his last work, speaking of the treatment of scrofula, he says:

"It is hardly necessary to state that cod-liver oil is the best remedy of all. The oil should be given in emulsion, so prepared as to be palatable."

He also says that the hypophosphites should be combined with the oil.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is precisely such a preparation.

E. D. McLAREN. Vancouver, Aug. 26th, 1896.

The ladies of Knox Church, Woodstock, last week, held an entertainment in aid of the new edifice. Save for an excellent recitation by Miss L. K. White and two witty impersonations by Mrs. Cook Stewart, the programme was of a musical nature, those taking part being the Misses McMullen, Mr. Crooker, Miss Edith Campbell, Miss Gilmour and Miss King. Fifteen dollars was added to the building fund.

During the three months' absence of Rev. W. J. Clark, the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church, London, has been supplied for the first two months by Mr. John A. Clark, and during the past month by Mr. G. R. Faskin. The services of both have been most acceptable, and the attendance and interest in the services have been well maintained. At the close of the prayer-meeting last week, Dr. Hodge, on behalf of the session and management committee, and in name of the congregation, expressed to Mr. Faskin the pleasure and helpfulness which had been derived from the ministrations both of Mr. John Clark and himself, and hoped that he would meet with much success in whatever charge he might be called to labor. Mr. Faskin in reply thanked the congregation for their kind words, which, he said, had done him good, and would not soon be forgotten.

The Presbytery of Rock Lake met in the Presbyterian Church, Roland, recently for the purpose of ordaining Mr. Little as a minister of the Gospel. There was a large attendance from all parts of the field. Mr. Rumball, of Morden, presided, and after the Presbytery was duly instituted, preached. The usual questions were asked Mr. Little and satisfactorily answered. The Presbytery then did solemnly and with laying on of the hands ordain Mr. Little, Mr. Rumball leading in prayer. Mr. Baikie addressed the newly ordained minister in suitable and excellent terms. Mr. McLennan then addressed the people on their duties if the work was to be successful. Mr. Rumball in taking his leave of the people as Moderator of Session, spoke of the pleasure it had been to perform his duties, of the growth of the field, of the good work done by the missionaries, Messrs. Stewart, Reid and Baylis, and expressed the hope that the field would continue to prosper and that in a short time the Presbytery would be called upon to induct a regular pastor over them.

Oxford Steel Range

Because in them the fire answers so quickly to a touch, it can be brightened up or shut down low at a moment's notice, and so is always ready for emergencies.

And there are never any failures in baking with them, as the heat in the oven is kept perfectly even throughout by a patent flue not found in other stoves.

They're unequalled for satisfaction and economy.
