Maritime Summary.

— A branch of the Molsons Bank is about to be opened in Millbrook, Ont.

— It takes sixteen acres of willows to supply the Dundas Willow Ware factory. The Beverly swamps can surely now be utilized.

— The first session of the Supreme Court of the Dominion of Canada was opened on Monday last. It appears to have plenty of work on hand for some time.

— Mr. J. Miller, the inventor of the Wax Thread sewing machine, which we noticed in a late issue, proposes to locate his Factory in Peterboro, provided a bonus of $5,000 from the town is granted.

— Last Saturday the body of Mr. Leitch, of the firm of Leitch, MacLean & Co., who disappeared mysteriously last February, was found at Verchères, to which place it must have been carried by the current.

— Before leaving Montreal his Imperial Majesty, Dom Pedro, subscribed to the JOURNAL OF COMMERCE as the leading commercial paper of the Dominion, ordering it to be sent to the public library at Rio Janeiro.

Le Reveil is the title of a sparkling French weekly issuing from the Quebec press and edited by Mr. Arthur Buies: his well known incisive style will no doubt make the paper popular among readers of both languages.

— The people of Belleville are rejoicing over the completion of their street railway, and find it patronized so much better than was expected that the stock of the company has considerably appreciated in value since its opening.

— The Lowell cotton manufacturing companies are gloomy over the prospects for the future, and some of them predict this will be the hardest season for the manufacturers and operatives that the city has ever known.

— Jacob Ollendorf, of whose case we gave particulars in our last, has been served with a writ of attachment at suit of Samuel Goltman, who is a creditor we understand for borrowed money. Mr. O. now offers only 20 cents. on the dollar, 16 in cash and 4 on time secured.
