Stock Brokers end Debentures on the late Mr. Hogaboom purchased burnels and 6476 sacks; wheat 209,911 bushels. Bank stock, and within 30 days of the bank's failure sold them to Mr. J. D. Henderson. The late Mr. Hogaboom purchased the assets of the bank, and became the holder of judgments against the plaintiff and Kr. Henderson for $2800. The executors of the Hogaboom estate, the defendants, allege that the $1500 cash paid by the plaintiff to Mr. Hogaboom was in settlement of the latter's claim against him, without prejudice to Mr. Hogaboom's right to recover whatever amount he could from Mr. Henderson. The plaintiff, however, brings this action to recover the $1300, nlleging that at the time he paid the money Mr. Hogaboom was not the holder of the judgment, but had assigned it to Messrs, McGaw & Winnett. The defendants say that they have not yet received the full amount, $2800, due in respect of the shares, but only $2500, viz., $1500 from plaintiff and $1000 from Mr. Henderson. The court decided in favor of the defendant's contention.

Mr. Osler moved for a non-suit on the ground that Wasson as caretaker was responsible for the condition of the elevator, of which he had full knowledge, and was superintendent over Smith, whom he employed and instructed.

Chief Justice Armour held that the case must go to the jury on the question of Williams' negligence, but held that the pleadings must be amended, as they alleged negligence on the part of the college, whereas Wasson was responsible for the condition of the elevator.

Both counsel held a consultation, which resulted in the above settlement.

The suit of Detective Thomas Wasson, J.LORNE CAMPBELL (Member Toronto Stock Exchange)

28 JORDAN-STREET, TORONTO.

Physicians and Surgeons for $10,000 for compensation for the death of Mrs. Wasson, killed in an elevator accident in the Medical Building, corner Bay and Richmond-streets, came to an abrupt termination yesterday afternoon, being settled as follows: The suit of Thomas and Thomas Crawford Wasson was dismissed without costs, while Miss Margaret Wasson will receive $500 damages without costs.

The suit was heard by Chief Justice Armour before a ½ry, E. F. B. Johnston, Q. C., representing the Wasson family and B. B. Osler, Q.C., the defendants. The evidence showed that Mrs. Wasson opend the office of the shaft on the second flat to step upon the elevator, which stopped about a foot-about the foor level. In some manner the elevator shot up, and Mrs. Wasson stepped into the void. Her head struck an iron bar and she fell to the basement, expiring shortly afterwards.

William Smith, the elevator man, swore that the elevator had been working defectively for some time and proved so difficult or run with a wire rope that the Fensom Company had put in a lever to lessen the difficulty of controlling the water pressure.

James H. Futtrill, who was on the elevator with Smith, corroborated the story about the sudden jump upwards of the elevator with Smith, corroborated the story about the sudden jump upwards of the elevator with Smith, corroborated the story about the sudden jump upwards of the elevator with Smith, corroborated the story about the sudden jump upwards of the elevator with Smith, corroborated the story about the sudden jump upwards of the elevator with smith, corroborated the story about the sudden jump upwards of the elevator with smith, corroborated the story about the sudden jump upwards of the elevator with smith elevator and then Mr. Fensom took the stand. He testified that the elevator would not jump up suddenly.

Mr. Osler brought out the fact, however, that the governing cosk could be so arranged that the elevator would not jump up suddenly.

Mr. Osler moved for a non-suit on the ground that Wasson as car

| TORONTO STOCK MARKET. | 1 p.m. | 3.30 p.m. | Ask. | Bid. ceived the following despatch to-day from Chicago:

It looked last night as if there were too many wheat bears, and to-day's experience confirmed that. The whole professional element was anxious at opening only to get out a line of shorts before the market went to pleees. It got out its line of shorts, but the market raillied then, instead of breaking. From the bottom there was an advance of about 2 cents. The dose was about 1e over last night. Minneapolis, which has been getting so much wheat lately, was the strongest market on the list. St. Louis vied with it, Duluth lagged, so did Chicago, until toward close. Public cables easier. Private advices all builish, and we believe that public cables to-morrow will reflect the private advices we have to-day. Northwest receipts exceeded last year's, 853 cars, ngainst 640, but, with all the futures at a discount, the Northwest can do nothing except to rush its wheat as fast as it can. Raillies are not going to go very far while this spring wheat rush is on, but there has been enough decline in prices to make the buying side on breaks a little more promising than the short side.

Corn was up, closing 4c to %c over last night. There was some increase in western offerings to-day, and no improvement in the shipping position. Receipts, however, are becoming normal, 678 cars to-day, with 485 estimated for to-morrow. Clearances were 134,000 bush. Corn is worth the price it is selling at on crop estimates. Cash sales of oats here to-day are put as high as 750,000 bush. The Sept. has advanced faster than any other futures. Shippers are all friendly. Cash situation is considered excellent.

Provisions—Large hog receipts, seiling at 10c to 15c lower, caused a continuation of the easy feeling in provisions, which ruled lower most of the day; but recovered most of the decline near the closing. There was further liquidation by longs, and some sales of January delivery by packers. The demand was scattered and partly against sales of products; 26,000 hogs estimated for to-morrow. Can S & L.

Wheat—There was moderate selling by commission houses this morning, causing lower prices, but offerings were quickly absorbed, and the market soon developed fair strength, advancing 1½c. It subsequently suffered %c reaction, owing to local selling and pounding, but the undertone was very firm, and in the end there was considerable competition among the shorts to buy the small offerings, the market advancing 1½c, and closing firm at 92½c for December. Cattes dull and lower, and New York reported some selling for foreign account and very small export demand. There were only 15 loads taken for shipment there. There were further reports of Russian damage; the latest claim a very small yield of inferior quality. St. Louis market firm, and it aided the market here considerably. The market continues small and narrow, and the erratic changes are due almost entirely to position of local traders. We do not look for any decided change in the character of the market at present.
