TUNNEL UNDER THE THAMES

And Several Other Underground

Passages for Travel in Old London.

SIXTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Will Be the Cost of the Improvements in Transportation Facilities in the Metropolis.

London, April 30.—London has found the underground railway system so necessary that a new line of tunnels, extending under the city more than seven miles is nearing completion. For some years past, at various points between the Bank of England and the City, the London County Council has been engaged in the construction of great thoroughfares from Holborn to the Strand, an artery between the two crowded thoroughfares has been a vital necessity for many years.

Another project in connection with improvements at Charing Cross Station will also make a great change in existing surroundings.

The sum of money it is estimated that these improvements will cost is about $20,000,000, while the underground railway will cost at least as much more.

The new avenue sweeps away the Gaity Theatre, but leaves the historic Lyceum to one side. To the old theatre is among the buildings to be removed, and this intended improvement at the upper end of the Strand will remove the Opera Comique and Globe Theatres, and the Charing Cross changes the demolition of the Avenue Theatre.

His Farewell Sermons.

Rev. A. D. McDonald, D.D., is about to leave Seaford.

Seaford, April 30.—Rev. A. D. McDonald, D.D., who resigned his pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church here a short time ago, preached his farewell sermon to-day. He leaves the town in about a week after twenty years as pastor of the church here and 41 years in the active ministry. Failing health is the reason of his retirement. He is greatly respected by all classes of the community.

EVEN WORSE THAN ROCKS

Hermann Borne, a German, Now on Trial With Sixteen Murders Charged Against Him.

GREAT SENSATION IN GERMANY

Two Wives, Twelve Children and Two Mistresses Are on the List of This Man's Victims.

Breslau, April 29.—The most sensational murder trial in German annals and one of extraordinary interest in the criminal annals of Europe, began in Breslau Thursday. A shoemaker named Hermann Borne, aged 34, living at Reugendorf, Silesia, stands accused of 16 murders. His alleged victims are his first and second wives, 12 of his children and two of his mistresses. His career of crime extends over many years.

In 1880 Borne's second wife, Anna, suddenly disappeared. Rumors that the prisoner, Borne, killed and buried her in some unknown place were true, although Borne told his neighbors that she had probably committed suicide or had gone to America.

Found the Wife's Body. Last January, during some structural alterations in the cellar of a house in Fuesten-strasse, Breslau, formerly owned by Borne's second wife, the workmen discovered that a certain spot on the floor sounded hollow on being struck. The police had the brick pavement torn up, and a human skeleton was discovered lying on its back, with the head doubled up. Upon a finger bone was a marriage ring. The skull was completely fractured. A medical examination proved identity of the remains with the vanished Frau Borne.

The police inquiry developed a series of crimes. It was shown that Borne's brutal treatment of his first wife led to divorce and her death. In 1876 he was found guilty of murdering his first wife, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment for possession of strong poisons, such as cyanide of potassium.

Poison for the Babies. When asked how it happened that 12 of his children died soon after birth, Borne answered: "I cannot keep so many children; there are enough on earth. Three drops of cyanide suffice for one child."

The policeman seduced a working girl and robbed her of her earnings. She had a child by him, and within a short period both mother and child died under suspicious circumstances.

In 1887 Borne bought a house from the widow of a butcher. He had the right of living in one room during her lifetime. Borne was known to owe her 300 marks, yet when the widow died mysteriously soon after the sale of the house the prisoner was found to have received for money what she alleged were given him by the dead woman.

Borne has admitted that he had lived with four women consecutively, two of whom bore him children.

Much Sensational Testimony. The number of witnesses in the trial is 77, and each witness examined had something sensational to say.

The first witness was Police Commissioner Klemm, who made the statement that the prisoner had been found with a life that though she was years younger than himself.

Another witness, Frau Kriwanek, related that she saw Borne working in the cellar. He had all the tools of a mason, and was busy erecting a floor with a new layer of bricks.

Frau Muenzberg told how one morning she met Borne removing a basket containing chalk, broken bricks and earth from the cellar.

The testimony of a deaf and dumb witness, a former lodger of Borne's, gave a highly dramatic effect to the proceedings. He was unable to speak, but he had seen Borne committing suicide by hanging. To his neighbor's third wife refused to give evidence against him. This was coupled with the information that the poor woman attempted suicide because of Borne's cruelty.

Dr. Jurek inspected the cellar where Borne's wife's body was found. It is probable that the trial will end to-day.

FRENCH SHORE QUESTION.

Newfoundland Legislature Will Endeavor to Force a Settlement.

St. John's, Nfld., April 29.—The Newfoundland Legislature has announced that it does not intend to agree to enforce the French shore modus vivendi any longer than the close of this year, by this step forcing the British Government to bring about a settlement of the difficulty during the present session. When the Colonial Legislature meets, on May 11, an important pronouncement is expected on this question.

HUNGERS PANGS.

Tale of Lumbermen's Hardships on a Georgian Bay Island in Winter.

Mr. N. McEachern of Hartley, who worked during the winter for Mr. Thompson, the Hamilton lumberman, in his Spanish harbor camp, on Georgian Bay, has returned to his home in Georgian Bay, and after being four days without food, was reduced to such extremity that he was unable to kill a horse to allay his pangs of hunger, when they were rescued. This calamity occurred through the formation of ice, preventing the moving of three timber cribs. This happened 12 miles from the shore, on a long island opposite the mouth of the Spanish Lake. When rescued the men were so weak as to be unable to stand. Two of the men had their ears badly frozen.

Mrs. Craigie's Play.

London, April 30.—Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes) has almost completed a new comedy to-day for Cyril Maude and Harrison, to succeed the present piece, the Haymarket. Its story has political interest, and the characters include Cabinet Ministers.

Her three-act blank verse tragedy, "Osborne and Ursula," will be published in the first issue of Lady Randolph Churchill's new quarterly.

Mrs. H. Elliott, Peterboro, is at the Queen's.
