The stern terms of the armistice have now been put in force,

And our lads have wound the watch upon the Rhine: They have rescued ruined Belgium and redeemed war-stricken France.

And in Germany established their front line. And in Germany established their front line.

Some minister and L. D. A. announce in pious tones

That the Prussian downfall has been wrought by prayer,

While a lot of busky fellows crawled from underneath the barn,

Waved the Union Jack and yelled, "We've killed the bear."

But if you go out yonder where the regular fellows are And ask them what has given us victory, They will tell you that from mother's breast they sucked their pride of race

And their priceless heritage of liberty. They will tell you how the thought of home and mother to protect Nerved their fighting arm on yonder foreign shore,
For the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world, And the hand that rocked the cradle won the war.
