VETERANS AT CHURCH

Old-Time Warriors of British Service Attend St. James' Cathedral.

His Majesty's Army and Navy Veterans held their annual church parade to St. James' Cathedral last night, under command of Major W. A. Collins, president of the association. About men turned out. There were nearly 80 veterans of the South African war on parade. Sergt. Nichols represented the South African Veterans' Associa George Pearce, who took part in the charge of the light brigade at Balaclava in the Crimean war, and the Balaciava in the Crimean war, and the charge, was there. Sergt. Charles Ellingsworth, who was in "the thin red line" at the battle of the Alma, in the Crimea, was also on parade. Several Indian Mutiny men turned out.

Rev. Gore M. Barrow, chaplain of the association, and who fought in the South African war as an officer in the South African war as an officer in the cottish Borderers, preached the ser-The text was the 33rd verse of 13th chapter of St. Mark: "Take ye heed, watch and pray, for ye know not when the time is." the death of his late majesty, Rev. Mr. Barrow hoped the son would follow the example the father had given. The fife and drum band of the association played them to church. The British Welcome League Band had volunteered to do this, but did not materialize, altho the veterans waited fifteen minutes for them, and were not nformed of the change in the band's program. The veterans met at the corof Queen-street and Universityavenue. The association will assist in the unveiling to-morrow of the monument to the Canadians who fell in
