

Baseball Want Carrigan at the Helm

The New Boston Owners Want to Retain Bill Carrigan as Manager

Purchasers of World's Champion Baseball Club Are Well Known in the Theatrical World.

Boston, Nov. 2.—Although there are still some details to be gone over the sale of the Boston American League Baseball Club has been completed to Lawrence Weber, Hugh Ward, Harry H. Frazee and M. Anderson, theatrical producers, by Joe J. Lanning. Discussion of terms and conditions were entered into and decided in a satisfactory manner.

All the new owners are men well known in the theatrical world. Weber has produced plays in New York and Chicago for several years. He owns several theatres here and in Chicago, as well as in other parts of the country. Frazee has been associated with Weber in several deals, many of which were handled by Frazee and Ward. The new owners are well known in the theatrical world. Weber has produced plays in New York and Chicago for several years. He owns several theatres here and in Chicago, as well as in other parts of the country. Frazee has been associated with Weber in several deals, many of which were handled by Frazee and Ward. The new owners are well known in the theatrical world.

Frazee is to operate the club, and will try to retain Bill Carrigan as the manager, although Carrigan does not want the job. According to the same information, the negotiations for the sale have been going on since the world's series, and were only completed yesterday.

Weber telephoned Weber from Boston last night that he had reached a satisfactory agreement with Lanning, and that the transfer of the club could be made immediately. Weber asked that the proceedings be delayed until the morning. Upon this advice Frazee and Ward left Boston at midnight, and will arrive early this morning.

Weber refused to make known just what were the terms. He seemed pleased that the deal was as near complete as it is, but would not enter into any discussion as to the cost of the club. Lanning some time ago suggested that $800,000 was not too high a price to ask for the Red Sox and Fenway Park, but there are few who think this amount was excessive.

PLAYGROUND LEAGUE SOCCER STANDINGS

Seventeen teams played soccer in the several City Playground Leagues, as follows: Intermediate League, four teams; Junior, four teams; Juvenile, four teams; Midget, five teams.

There was not a Senior League, as the enlisting had taken practically all the senior and many of the intermediate boys. The winners of the several leagues were:

Intermediate League—Carlton Park.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Junior League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Juvenile League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Midget League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0

WORLD TWO-MAN LEAGUE.

Prizes	1	2	3	4
F. Moore	144	135	173	452
G. Gilbert	141	121	139	391
Totals	273	276	297	846
Emeralds	1	2	3	4
H. Dyer	64	130	70	284
L. A. Findlay	175	185	200	560
Totals	239	315	270	824
Agates	1	2	3	4
Paterson	121	106	121	348
H. Cameron	120	134	180	434
Totals	241	240	301	782
Pearls	1	2	3	4
F. McIntyre	97	127	118	342
H. Jackson	139	159	147	445
Totals	236	311	267	814

DENTS DEFAULTED.

Dents defaulted their Mulock Cup game to O.T.C. yesterday.

MAN AND WIFE WIN HONORS AT BOWLING

Mr. and Mrs. Relly of Windy City Have Two Titles in Family.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Is bowling the only sport in which a husband and wife have been national champions? Chicago voters of the allied sport say yes.

Chicago furnished the couple in Mr. and Mrs. Jack Relly. Twelve years ago Jack topped the big field in the American Bowling Congress tournament in Milwaukee with 173, the third highest record on the books of the A.B.C.

Several years later the "Missus" cleaned up the women's title at Pittsburgh from the largest field of feminine bowlers who ever took part in a contest for the title. Over 60 participating. The pair are loaded with medals they have won in other championships, but the two national trophies are their chief pride and joy.

Tennis enthusiasts almost can claim a pair of matrimonial champions in T. C. Bundy and his wife (nee May Sutton), but they were married after their titles.

Golf, another sport shared by both sexes, fails to show any two whose hearts beat athletically as one—that is, enough to top the other entrants in a national contest.

The Rellys are still at it, as evidenced by the victory of Mrs. Relly a few weeks ago, when she landed the title of women head-pin champion of Chicago. Two years ago she won the city championship of Rockford, where she was residing temporarily.

Jack won the northern Illinois title two years ago against the pick of Chicago, has a record of 768 pins in a special three-game tournament at Frazee's alley, besides a whole lot of other records that make his Milwaukee medal look like a just reward.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ryan, two Milwaukee players, have owned the state championship of Wisconsin for several years.

Andy Kyle has been signed to play on Toronto N.H.A. team defence. Claude Wilson will be the goalies.

WHITE HORSE
Direct to Any Toronto Address
Express Prepaid
$15.00
per case of 12 quarts
Remit money order to L. CHAPUT SON & CO., LIMITED MONTREAL

Want Carrigan at the Helm

The New Boston Owners Want to Retain Bill Carrigan as Manager

It is generally understood that the price was $875,000.

Since the new owners only leased Fenway Park and bought only the franchise, which carries with it the players, the price set by Lanning was not reached. The McAlister in 1912 is said to have purchased a half-interest in the club for $150,000. However, since then the club has grown in worth because of the playing of the team and the increased interest in baseball.

Weber and Frazee are not unfamiliar with the promotion of sporting events. With Jack Curley they have staged many of the big boxing bouts of recent history. They also managed the Gitch-Holmes-Schmidt wrestling bout in Chicago, which played to $125,000. It was thru the promotion of Weber, Frazee and Curley that Jess Willard won his boxing title from Jack Johnson in Havana, as these men staged that bout.

Weber intimated that Frazee probably would be given full charge of the club, and in all probability would be elected president. Just what position Ward is to assume is doubtful, as he is expected to leave for Australia shortly.

Since Boston received a franchise in the American League, in 1901, the club has changed hands five times. The first owners were Charles Somers, recently the owners of the Cleveland Club. Following Somers, the club was sold to Henry Killam, who had possessed it in 1902 and 1904. Next, John I. Taylor purchased the team and was the owner until 1912, when James McAlister and Robert McElroy acquired the holdings.

The next year Joseph J. Lanning bought into the club, and in 1914 he became sole owner, after B. B. Johnson, president of the league, had decided to resign to eliminate McAlister. Lanning has had the club since, but has several times been willing to sell.

He created a sensation in baseball circles only last season by declaring that the umpires were favoring other teams and trying to keep the Red Sox from winning. He was so sure of this that he would get out of baseball if he could find a purchaser.

After announcing the sale, Lanning said that he intended to enter the hotel business in Boston, where he already has a large real estate holding. He is also owner of the Boston Garden, an arena, and has a controlling interest in the Buffalo team of the International Association.

Within the past few years Frazee has entered into negotiations for the purchase of the Chicago and Boston National League teams, but all of the deals fell thru.

Frazee is to operate the club, and will try to retain Bill Carrigan as the manager, although Carrigan does not want the job. According to the same information, the negotiations for the sale have been going on since the world's series, and were only completed yesterday.

Weber telephoned Weber from Boston last night that he had reached a satisfactory agreement with Lanning, and that the transfer of the club could be made immediately. Weber asked that the proceedings be delayed until the morning. Upon this advice Frazee and Ward left Boston at midnight, and will arrive early this morning.

Weber refused to make known just what were the terms. He seemed pleased that the deal was as near complete as it is, but would not enter into any discussion as to the cost of the club. Lanning some time ago suggested that $800,000 was not too high a price to ask for the Red Sox and Fenway Park, but there are few who think this amount was excessive.

PLAYGROUND LEAGUE SOCCER STANDINGS

Seventeen teams played soccer in the several City Playground Leagues, as follows: Intermediate League, four teams; Junior, four teams; Juvenile, four teams; Midget, five teams.

There was not a Senior League, as the enlisting had taken practically all the senior and many of the intermediate boys. The winners of the several leagues were:

Intermediate League—Carlton Park.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Junior League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Juvenile League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Midget League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0

WORLD TWO-MAN LEAGUE.

Prizes	1	2	3	4
F. Moore	144	135	173	452
G. Gilbert	141	121	139	391
Totals	273	276	297	846
Emeralds	1	2	3	4
H. Dyer	64	130	70	284
L. A. Findlay	175	185	200	560
Totals	239	315	270	824
Agates	1	2	3	4
Paterson	121	106	121	348
H. Cameron	120	134	180	434
Totals	241	240	301	782
Pearls	1	2	3	4
F. McIntyre	97	127	118	342
H. Jackson	139	159	147	445
Totals	236	311	267	814

DENTS DEFAULTED.

Dents defaulted their Mulock Cup game to O.T.C. yesterday.

MAN AND WIFE WIN HONORS AT BOWLING

Mr. and Mrs. Relly of Windy City Have Two Titles in Family.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Is bowling the only sport in which a husband and wife have been national champions? Chicago voters of the allied sport say yes.

Chicago furnished the couple in Mr. and Mrs. Jack Relly. Twelve years ago Jack topped the big field in the American Bowling Congress tournament in Milwaukee with 173, the third highest record on the books of the A.B.C.

Several years later the "Missus" cleaned up the women's title at Pittsburgh from the largest field of feminine bowlers who ever took part in a contest for the title. Over 60 participating. The pair are loaded with medals they have won in other championships, but the two national trophies are their chief pride and joy.

Tennis enthusiasts almost can claim a pair of matrimonial champions in T. C. Bundy and his wife (nee May Sutton), but they were married after their titles.

Golf, another sport shared by both sexes, fails to show any two whose hearts beat athletically as one—that is, enough to top the other entrants in a national contest.

The Rellys are still at it, as evidenced by the victory of Mrs. Relly a few weeks ago, when she landed the title of women head-pin champion of Chicago. Two years ago she won the city championship of Rockford, where she was residing temporarily.

Jack won the northern Illinois title two years ago against the pick of Chicago, has a record of 768 pins in a special three-game tournament at Frazee's alley, besides a whole lot of other records that make his Milwaukee medal look like a just reward.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ryan, two Milwaukee players, have owned the state championship of Wisconsin for several years.

Andy Kyle has been signed to play on Toronto N.H.A. team defence. Claude Wilson will be the goalies.

Want Carrigan at the Helm

The New Boston Owners Want to Retain Bill Carrigan as Manager

It is generally understood that the price was $875,000.

Since the new owners only leased Fenway Park and bought only the franchise, which carries with it the players, the price set by Lanning was not reached. The McAlister in 1912 is said to have purchased a half-interest in the club for $150,000. However, since then the club has grown in worth because of the playing of the team and the increased interest in baseball.

Weber and Frazee are not unfamiliar with the promotion of sporting events. With Jack Curley they have staged many of the big boxing bouts of recent history. They also managed the Gitch-Holmes-Schmidt wrestling bout in Chicago, which played to $125,000. It was thru the promotion of Weber, Frazee and Curley that Jess Willard won his boxing title from Jack Johnson in Havana, as these men staged that bout.

Weber intimated that Frazee probably would be given full charge of the club, and in all probability would be elected president. Just what position Ward is to assume is doubtful, as he is expected to leave for Australia shortly.

Since Boston received a franchise in the American League, in 1901, the club has changed hands five times. The first owners were Charles Somers, recently the owners of the Cleveland Club. Following Somers, the club was sold to Henry Killam, who had possessed it in 1902 and 1904. Next, John I. Taylor purchased the team and was the owner until 1912, when James McAlister and Robert McElroy acquired the holdings.

The next year Joseph J. Lanning bought into the club, and in 1914 he became sole owner, after B. B. Johnson, president of the league, had decided to resign to eliminate McAlister. Lanning has had the club since, but has several times been willing to sell.

He created a sensation in baseball circles only last season by declaring that the umpires were favoring other teams and trying to keep the Red Sox from winning. He was so sure of this that he would get out of baseball if he could find a purchaser.

After announcing the sale, Lanning said that he intended to enter the hotel business in Boston, where he already has a large real estate holding. He is also owner of the Boston Garden, an arena, and has a controlling interest in the Buffalo team of the International Association.

Within the past few years Frazee has entered into negotiations for the purchase of the Chicago and Boston National League teams, but all of the deals fell thru.

Frazee is to operate the club, and will try to retain Bill Carrigan as the manager, although Carrigan does not want the job. According to the same information, the negotiations for the sale have been going on since the world's series, and were only completed yesterday.

Weber telephoned Weber from Boston last night that he had reached a satisfactory agreement with Lanning, and that the transfer of the club could be made immediately. Weber asked that the proceedings be delayed until the morning. Upon this advice Frazee and Ward left Boston at midnight, and will arrive early this morning.

Weber refused to make known just what were the terms. He seemed pleased that the deal was as near complete as it is, but would not enter into any discussion as to the cost of the club. Lanning some time ago suggested that $800,000 was not too high a price to ask for the Red Sox and Fenway Park, but there are few who think this amount was excessive.

PLAYGROUND LEAGUE SOCCER STANDINGS

Seventeen teams played soccer in the several City Playground Leagues, as follows: Intermediate League, four teams; Junior, four teams; Juvenile, four teams; Midget, five teams.

There was not a Senior League, as the enlisting had taken practically all the senior and many of the intermediate boys. The winners of the several leagues were:

Intermediate League—Carlton Park.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Junior League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Juvenile League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Midget League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0

WORLD TWO-MAN LEAGUE.

Prizes	1	2	3	4
F. Moore	144	135	173	452
G. Gilbert	141	121	139	391
Totals	273	276	297	846
Emeralds	1	2	3	4
H. Dyer	64	130	70	284
L. A. Findlay	175	185	200	560
Totals	239	315	270	824
Agates	1	2	3	4
Paterson	121	106	121	348
H. Cameron	120	134	180	434
Totals	241	240	301	782
Pearls	1	2	3	4
F. McIntyre	97	127	118	342
H. Jackson	139	159	147	445
Totals	236	311	267	814

DENTS DEFAULTED.

Dents defaulted their Mulock Cup game to O.T.C. yesterday.

MAN AND WIFE WIN HONORS AT BOWLING

Mr. and Mrs. Relly of Windy City Have Two Titles in Family.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Is bowling the only sport in which a husband and wife have been national champions? Chicago voters of the allied sport say yes.

Chicago furnished the couple in Mr. and Mrs. Jack Relly. Twelve years ago Jack topped the big field in the American Bowling Congress tournament in Milwaukee with 173, the third highest record on the books of the A.B.C.

Several years later the "Missus" cleaned up the women's title at Pittsburgh from the largest field of feminine bowlers who ever took part in a contest for the title. Over 60 participating. The pair are loaded with medals they have won in other championships, but the two national trophies are their chief pride and joy.

Tennis enthusiasts almost can claim a pair of matrimonial champions in T. C. Bundy and his wife (nee May Sutton), but they were married after their titles.

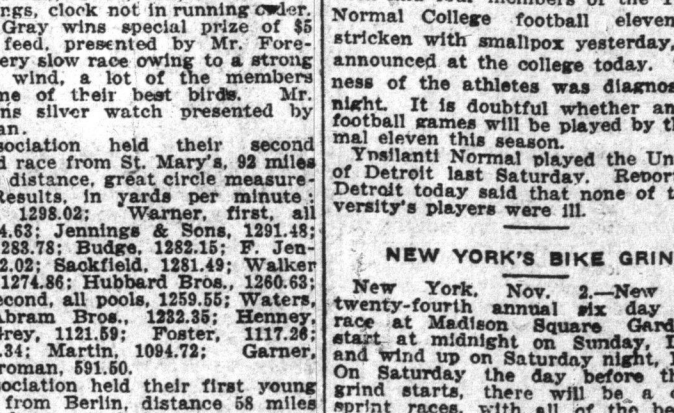

Golf, another sport shared by both sexes, fails to show any two whose hearts beat athletically as one—that is, enough to top the other entrants in a national contest.

The Rellys are still at it, as evidenced by the victory of Mrs. Relly a few weeks ago, when she landed the title of women head-pin champion of Chicago. Two years ago she won the city championship of Rockford, where she was residing temporarily.

Jack won the northern Illinois title two years ago against the pick of Chicago, has a record of 768 pins in a special three-game tournament at Frazee's alley, besides a whole lot of other records that make his Milwaukee medal look like a just reward.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ryan, two Milwaukee players, have owned the state championship of Wisconsin for several years.

Andy Kyle has been signed to play on Toronto N.H.A. team defence. Claude Wilson will be the goalies.

Men's Great Coats
For now and later wear

And a great stock to select from.

Single and double-breasted Chesterfields, and the full loose-fitting or form-fitting garments. All in the best of good styles; with and without velvet collars.

British weaves and London tailored. Cheviots, Llamas, Friezes and Harris tweeds.

Featuring the rich brown tones; but besides these there are the greens, heather mixtures, greys, blues and black.

Character, individuality and great values, at $25 - $27.50 - $30 - $35 up to $50

Men's Hats, Caps, Gloves and Umbrellas

Fairweathers Limited
84-86 Yonge St., Toronto
Montreal Winnipeg

Want Carrigan at the Helm

The New Boston Owners Want to Retain Bill Carrigan as Manager

It is generally understood that the price was $875,000.

Since the new owners only leased Fenway Park and bought only the franchise, which carries with it the players, the price set by Lanning was not reached. The McAlister in 1912 is said to have purchased a half-interest in the club for $150,000. However, since then the club has grown in worth because of the playing of the team and the increased interest in baseball.

Weber and Frazee are not unfamiliar with the promotion of sporting events. With Jack Curley they have staged many of the big boxing bouts of recent history. They also managed the Gitch-Holmes-Schmidt wrestling bout in Chicago, which played to $125,000. It was thru the promotion of Weber, Frazee and Curley that Jess Willard won his boxing title from Jack Johnson in Havana, as these men staged that bout.

Weber intimated that Frazee probably would be given full charge of the club, and in all probability would be elected president. Just what position Ward is to assume is doubtful, as he is expected to leave for Australia shortly.

Since Boston received a franchise in the American League, in 1901, the club has changed hands five times. The first owners were Charles Somers, recently the owners of the Cleveland Club. Following Somers, the club was sold to Henry Killam, who had possessed it in 1902 and 1904. Next, John I. Taylor purchased the team and was the owner until 1912, when James McAlister and Robert McElroy acquired the holdings.

The next year Joseph J. Lanning bought into the club, and in 1914 he became sole owner, after B. B. Johnson, president of the league, had decided to resign to eliminate McAlister. Lanning has had the club since, but has several times been willing to sell.

He created a sensation in baseball circles only last season by declaring that the umpires were favoring other teams and trying to keep the Red Sox from winning. He was so sure of this that he would get out of baseball if he could find a purchaser.

After announcing the sale, Lanning said that he intended to enter the hotel business in Boston, where he already has a large real estate holding. He is also owner of the Boston Garden, an arena, and has a controlling interest in the Buffalo team of the International Association.

Within the past few years Frazee has entered into negotiations for the purchase of the Chicago and Boston National League teams, but all of the deals fell thru.

Frazee is to operate the club, and will try to retain Bill Carrigan as the manager, although Carrigan does not want the job. According to the same information, the negotiations for the sale have been going on since the world's series, and were only completed yesterday.

Weber telephoned Weber from Boston last night that he had reached a satisfactory agreement with Lanning, and that the transfer of the club could be made immediately. Weber asked that the proceedings be delayed until the morning. Upon this advice Frazee and Ward left Boston at midnight, and will arrive early this morning.

Weber refused to make known just what were the terms. He seemed pleased that the deal was as near complete as it is, but would not enter into any discussion as to the cost of the club. Lanning some time ago suggested that $800,000 was not too high a price to ask for the Red Sox and Fenway Park, but there are few who think this amount was excessive.

PLAYGROUND LEAGUE SOCCER STANDINGS

Seventeen teams played soccer in the several City Playground Leagues, as follows: Intermediate League, four teams; Junior, four teams; Juvenile, four teams; Midget, five teams.

There was not a Senior League, as the enlisting had taken practically all the senior and many of the intermediate boys. The winners of the several leagues were:

Intermediate League—Carlton Park.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Junior League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Juvenile League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0
Midget League.
Carlton Park	5	1	0
East Riverdale	2	2	0
McCormick	2	2	0
Oster	1	6	0

WORLD TWO-MAN LEAGUE.

Prizes	1	2	3	4
F. Moore	144	135	173	452
G. Gilbert	141	121	139	391
Totals	273	276	297	846
Emeralds	1	2	3	4
H. Dyer	64	130	70	284
L. A. Findlay	175	185	200	560