Address And Presentation to Miss French.

Dear Miss French:—On the eve of your departure from among us, we wish to give some slight expression of our appreciation of your help and presence in the various departments connected with our Church and school life. You have filled a very big place in our Ladies' Aid. Your optimistic disposition, your kindly cheering words have often raised our spirits amazingly, and your deft fingers have fashioned so many useful articles that have meant so much to the success of our different endeavours.

We do feel that we part with a very efficient worker, but feel thankful that you will move from perhaps a small sphere of labour to a larger one; for we know, wherever you go, you will always be busy at some helpful, noble work.

Then, in our choir and school, how you will be missed! Your regular attendance, in spite of many obstacles, should be an inspiration to many. Your work among the children will be remembered very gratefully.

We can part with you the more cheerfully, for we feel that the best things of life are awaiting you in the coming years.

Accept with our best wishes for your future welfare this little token of love and regard.

Sincerely Yours,
THE "LADIES' AID OF CENTRAL METHODIST CHURCH"

REPLY.

My Dear Fellow-Workers:—Words fail me to adequately express my appreciation of the pleasurable surprise you have given me this evening. I had no idea you were planning anything of the kind, which goes to prove that "Ladies can keep secrets."

I feel very unworthy of many things contained in your kind address, but trust that I may aspire to be more worthy in the future.

The hours that I have spent with you in that little church parlor, have been pleasant hours to me, and I pray that your meeting together in the future, and the work that you endeavor to do, may be both a pleasure and a success to you, and, above all, may you, in all your endeavors, have the approval of the Great Eternal Father.

Accept my sincere thanks for your beautiful and serviceable gift, which will find a prominent place among my choicest treasures.

Yours in the work,
PRUDENCE FRENCH.

Note of Thanks

The family of the late Robert Parsons wish to thank those who helped them in any way in their recent trouble; also those who sent wreaths to adorn his coffin, viz.:—Mrs. Wm. Parsons (of Beth), Mrs. Samuel Parsons, Miss Annie V. Dawe, Miss Renie French, Miss Pezzi French, Mrs. Capt. John Parsons, Mrs. Robt. Dawe, Mrs. Chas. Samways, Mrs. Henry Mercer, Mrs. Robert Parsons, Mrs. John T. French, Miss Violet French; also the organist, Mrs. Jas. Norman, and the Rev. C. E. Clench, who officiated at his burial.
