Latest War News

Close Quarters London, July 11.—After last night's assault the British remain in possession of Contalmaison, holding it against German counter-attacks and shell fighting. The British, bombing their way forward, gained considerably in Mamez Wood. The infantry is at such close quarters in the woods that guns on either side are not firing at the first line for fear of hitting their own men. Overhead shells are seen to fall into the reserves to the rear.

Casualty List Heavy

London, July 11.—To day's casualty list of British officers is the largest issued since the beginning of the offensive. It contains the names of 73 officers, many of whom belonged to the Newfoundland Contingent.

British Successes

London, July 12.—After ten days and nights of continuous fighting, our troops have completed the methodical capture of the whole of the enemy's first system of defences on a front of 14,000 yards. The system of defence consisted of numerous continuous lines of fire trenches. The German success in the recapture of Trones Wood after costly casualties was of short duration. To day we recaptured nearly the whole of the wood, and all but the northernmost end is again in our hands. Apart from the number of guns hidden in houses, we have in the course of these operations brought in 26 field guns, one naval gun one anti-air craft gun and one heavy howitzer, while the number of German prisoners exceeds 7,500.

Russian Prisoners

London, July 12.—The official figures for the Russian General Brusiloff's drive on the tenth of July are 271,630 prisoners, 312 guns and 866 machine guns.

Cannot Stem the Russian Advance

London, July 12.—According to a Russian communication the Germans have brought up strong reinforcements to defend the Stokod line and Kovel. General Brusiloff, however, now has the impassable Pinsk marshes covering his right flank and is in a position to out flank the German defences of Kovel. Huge conflagrations noted in the Russian communication south of the Kovel railway is regarded at Petrograd, as having been caused by the Germans to cover their own retreat and to impede the Russian advance which is within 20 miles of Kovel. The capture of 34,000 prisoners by the Russians in the Stokod and the Galicia battles from July 4th to July 8th seem to indicate that the Germans have been unable to throw reinforcements in sufficient strength to stem the Russian advance.
