Nothing in this world is more distressing, and, unfortunately it is too common in this Canada of ours, with its extremes of climate-its almost Arctic winters and summer days of tropic heat—than to see a young lite fading away like a blighted yine. Its early days have been full of promise, but just when the young maiden becomes of a lovable rge with everything to live for, or the young man evinces signs of business aptitude, they are has discovered remedies to check the ravages of decline, when it has not gone too far. A year or so ago Haines had been reading of the marvelleasily imagined that Miss Haines require ed little persuasion to try the much talk ed of remedy, and well for her it was that she did so. In the course of a week she felt an improvement. By the time she had taken two and a half boxes she realized that she was experiencing such health as she had never known before, and her friends began to remark and congratulate her on the change in her appearance. Still persevering in the use of the pills, she found herself when at the end of the fifth box in perfect health and able to engage in all the work of the household and the amusements from which she had up to that time been debarred. She had an excellent appetite and no one could wish to feel better. Hearing of the marvellous change her sister from Fort Covington came over to satisfy herself, and could hardly be persuaded that the robust, happy-looking girl was indeed her sister whom she had never expected to see alive again. Miss Haines says she cannot say enough in favor of Dr. Williams' wonderful Pink

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR. Causes a Mild Sensation in Responding to a Toast.

London, April 19.—The Americans constituting the new American Society in London dined at the Cafe Royal this evening. There were about one hundred and fifty present. Ambassador Bayard, who presided, had on his right James B. Eustis, U. S. ambassador to France, and General Patrick A. Collins, consul-general, and on his left Andrew Carnegie In proposing the first toast of the even-ing—"To the Queen," Mr. Bayard said: The manhood of America responds to the manhood of Great Britain in this toast, as Americans of every opinion and party honor the Brifish sovereign. The toast to "the President of the United States," was given by the ambassador. He referred to Mr. Cleveland's actions at all times when the honor of the country demanded decisive steps. "We echo the voice of our chosen chief when he makes known his demands," he said, "and we stand behind his policy. The full court, consisting of Chief Justice Davie and Justices McCreight and Drake, are to-day hearing the appeal in Brown v. Jowett. The plaintiffs sued the defendant, the assignee of the estate of James McDonald & Co., for an account of all sums received by the defendant from the sale of certain goods covered by a bill of sale from McDonald & Co. to the plaintiffs, and which were taken possession of by the assignee after the assignment. The action was tried at Nelson before Mr. Justice Crease. His Lordship held there was a concurrence of intention to give an unlawful and voluntary preference between mortgagor and mortgage and that the bill of sale was null and void against the creditors, and dismissed the action. The plaintiffs now appeal. Mr. W. J. Taylor for the appellants and Charles Wilson, Q.C., for the respondents.

The Supreme Court. Dame rumor says that during the next few weeks there will be a change in the personnel of the Dominion Supreme court bench. Chief Justice Strong, it is said, manifested a desire to retire, while Justices Gwynne and Fournier are, it is understood, not unwilling to resign. Had the bill promoted by Sir John Thompson last session become law, it is possible that the three judges named would have retired, as this measure provide that when a supreme court judge attained the age of 70 years, and had acted as a superior court judge for fifteen years, of which five must have been on the supreme court bench, he could then retire the session, and as it met with considerable opposition it was massacred along with other innocents. It is not known whether a similar bill will be introduced this session, but even if it be not, there seems to be some ground for the report that some of the supreme court judges will shortly retire. Ontario's Wealthy Indians.

A computation has been made by the department of the surrendered surveyed Indian lands, of which the government is the trustee for the various Indian tribes in Ontario. The total area is 452,694 acres. These are bringing, when sold, about $1.50 an acre. The tand disposed of in 1894 was 32,385 acres, which yielded the sum of $44,711. Besides this, the Indians of Ontario, who number 17,330, own 3,680 houses, 858 barns, 1.577 stables; 77,749 acres of cultivated land. Their live stock consists of 3,857 horses, 2,367 cows, 388 oxen, 48 bulls, 961 sheep, 4,897 pigs and 4,034 young stock. The crop of the Indians in this province last year consisted princi-pally of 65.589 bushels of wheat, 107,773 oushels of oats. 31,115 bushels of pens, 11,419 bushels of barley, 87,255 bushels of potatoes and 11.501 hay. In addition to this they had fish, furs and other industries valued at $165,172.

Heavy Succession Duties. By the death of Col. Gilmour. of Ottawa, who left an estate valued at nearly a million and a half, the Ontario government receives succession duties amounting to nearly $140,00, a sum only about $10,000 less than the amount received during the whole of last year. The duties amounted in 1892 to $738. in 1893 to $45,507, and in 1894 to $150,-754, all of which is set apart in defraying the expenditure on asylums for the insane, schools for deaf mutes and for the blind, as well as hospitals and other charities. The C. P. They were greatly disappointed, as the windows of the cars in which the prisoners were confined were down and guards stood at the entrance to prevent any curious one from going in. The car was backed up into the yard and held there for a few minutes until MacBeth, the cattle stealer from Prince Albert, who was brought in from Regina on the express, was transferred to the Stony Mountain car. A special engine was then secured and the car run out-to the mountain without any on full pay instead of two-thirds as at the crowd the prisoner was seen by present. The bill was introduced late in the crowd, through a space of about three inches wide, but his face revealed only too clearly the desperate character of the man. There were twelve prisoners altogether, many of whom have twenty years and life sentences. The arrangements at Stony Mountain are better adapted for their safe-keeping than those at New Westminster.
