POLICE COURT.

Maud Lester was found drunk on Sheffield street between nine and ten o'clock last night and was arrested by Officers Barker and Crawford. This morning she was charged with being a common vagrant and was sentenced to six months in jail. Maud objected strongly to spending the balance of the year with a crowd of laborers and when being taken to jail made some disturbance in the court room by resisting the officers who were to escort her. She was finally subdued and went in quite tamely.

Richard Cotter who was reported for allowing his horse to roam at large in the North End was fined two dollars. Daniel Collins, arrested for stealing a watch from Stanley Howell, was remanded.

The young fellow arrested for stealing from the office of J. W. Smith was let go, Mr. Smith declining to prosecute.

MINISTERS' MOVEMENTS.

Rev. G. W. MacDonald, who has resigned from the pastorate of the Reformed Baptist church at Hartland, has decided to remain with the church and will in addition continue his work as editor of the "Kings Highway," the organ of the church.

Rev. A. L. Burbar, of Moncton, has accepted a call to the Reformed Baptist church at Calais, Me., and has with his family moved to that place.

Rev. G. M. Campbell, pastor of the Centenary church will leave about the middle of the month on an extended trip through the Kootenay District and to the Pacific coast.

STILL BURIED.

The hole in Tower street, Carleton, where the break in the water pipe occurred has been filled in and the iron pipe which was put down and forgotten has again been hidden. Nothing has as yet been done in regard to connecting this iron pipe with the water system and it is quite probable that it will be forgotten for some years longer, until the residents of the West End make a kick.

WON'T WEAR HIS ROBE.

Mayor White will not wear his robe at the coronation celebration. This information was given to the Star informally but very emphatically by his worship this morning. The robe is safely put away and it is stated that the mayor has solemnly sworn that it shall never see the light of day while he holds office.

DENIES THE CHARGE.

Samuel Armstrong of Lakewood, who was reported to the police court by F. L. Potts, market clerk, for making a false return of cabbage sold by him, called at the Star office today to state that he did not give Mr. Potts a wrong account of the cabbage. His cabbage did not come to the market at all as they are all sold on the field to A. L. Goodwin.

YELLOW FEVER

On the Bark Birnam Wood Bound for St. John.

Three of the Crew Have Died and Capt. Swatridge and a Cabin Boy Are Down With the Disease.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—After three days of aimless drifting in the fog the British bark Birnam Wood, Captain Swatridge, from Rio de Janeiro, June 18, for St. John, N. B., in ballast, has arrived in Little Machias Bay, on the eastern Maine coast, and anchored close to Old Man Ledge, off the Cutler shore, says a Bangor, Me., despatch to the Times. Signals of distress were flying and a boat from the shore learned that the vessel had yellow fever on board and that three of her crew, including the second mate, had died. Two of the dead were buried in the bay after the boat came to anchor.

Capt. Swatridge and the cabin boy are both sick with the fever, but are expected to recover. No other cases have developed. The bark will be held in quarantine, and will be fumigated after which she will be towed to St. John.

A despatch received by Wm. Thomson & Co. yesterday stated that the bark Birnam Wood, Capt. Swatridge, from Rio Janeiro for Partridge Island, was in the North Channel at the mouth of the bay, with the second mate dead. The name of the second officer is believed to be Rosenthal. The tug Neptune towed the bark yesterday afternoon to tow the Birnam Wood up to the island.

Indirect word was received this morning from the steamer St. Croix that she had passed the Birnam Wood in tow of the tug Neptune at Little River this morning. Little River is about thirty miles from St. John and the bark will reach Partridge Island some time this afternoon.

62nd. FUSILIERS.

Battalion drill was held last evening when a great many spectators were present, and Major Sturdee, who was in command, had an interesting drill. Blank ammunition was freely used, the feu-de-joue was fired, and then skirmishing drill and attack was carried out. The men moving very well in loose order. Some movements in battalion drill were executed and the men were sent to the armories to sign the rolls for pay day.

There will be a drill of the regiment tomorrow evening in field day order with the bands. There will be no drill on Friday evening, but the regiment will parade with the city brigades on Saturday for coronation and to assist in laying the corner stone of the monument.

MILITARY PARADE.

On Coronation day the 62nd Regt., 3rd Regt. C. A., No. 4 Bearer Co., and a troop of 4th Hussars will take part in the celebration. The different battalions will assemble at nine o'clock in the forenoon and will march to the Douglas avenue Memorial Park, where the foundation stone of the monument will be laid. At twelve o'clock a feu de joie and a royal salute will be fired from the park. After which the men will return to the barracks. The parade will be commanded by Lt. Col. McLean, Major Sturdee and Lt. Col. George West Jones will be in command of the 62nd and 4th Regt. C. A., respectively, and Major Markham will have about fifty troopers of the Hussars. It is expected that the different companies of the boys' brigade will join in the parade. The artillery will take to the park four of the field guns and with these the salute will be fired.

SEVERELY INJURED.

A very painful accident occurred between eight and nine o'clock this morning in the Maritime Lithograph Co's establishment on Dock street, in which Harry W. Wilson, the pressman, had his left hand crushed off at the wrist. Mr. Wilson was working at the press at the time and reached in to draw out a piece of paper which had caught. His hand became jammed between some cog wheels of the machine and was completely crushed at the wrist. He was at once removed to the hospital, where his injuries were attended. Mr. Wilson is a son of Edward Wilson, steward of the Union club, and lives at 43 Carleton street.

THE ROLLING MILLS.

A number of the directors of the Portland Rolling Mills leave by tonight's train for Sydney, where they will tomorrow meet with the council of that town to hear what inducements will be given for the removal of the mills to Sydney. One of the directors informed the Star today that it is not probable that a decision will be arrived at by the directors while in Sydney, but that they will hear the offers made by that town and upon their return lay the whole matter before a meeting of the stockholders. The directors expect to be back in St. John by Saturday.

THE FLTING MACHINE.

It is reported on good authority that the proprietor of the flying machine and a well known north end alderman had a rather heated argument on Friday concerning the merits of the machine. They did not come to blows, but another city official who was present at the discussion has stated that it was quite exciting.

The machine is still crawling along. A few more buckets of clay have been shifted ten feet by the labor of a dozen men, and it is hoped that by Christ mas the machine will be near the railway crossing.

ROW IN DURBAN.

Canadian Soldiers Mixed Up In the Trouble There.

Men Use Revolvers and Bricks and the Scene Was the Worst in the Annals of the City.

DURBAN, July 3.—For some time the streets have been rowdy in the evenings after the closing of the public houses. At ten o'clock last night the scenes exceeded in gravity and shamelessness anything before witnessed in Durban.

The real disturbance began while the bars were disgorging their mazy or less intoxicated customers. Somewhere in the neighborhood of the junction of Field and West streets, and between there and Mercury Lane, several Canadian soldiers, hilarious with liquor, had an encounter with the police. Soon West street was one mass of shouting and rushing soldiers and alarmed civilians, while police kept up an intermittent call for aid. Repeated whistles quickly brought reinforcements, but they also brought more rioters, who, while not attacking the police, indulged in disgraceful horseplay, charging and upsetting rickshaws and otherwise behaving most obnoxiously. Gradually the crowd moved towards the police station, and the scenes that occurred there between ten and eleven o'clock were the worst that have ever disgraced the annals of the town.

SEVERAL SOLDIERS WERE ARRESTED.

and this further aroused the ire of their comrades, whose numbers rapidly swelled. They demanded the release of the prisoners, and on this being refused, prepared most systematically to attack the police station. Many rioters carried revolvers, and some ordered them to prepare for fire. They lined up over a hundred strong in front of the station, amid a hideous babel of shrieking, shouting and cheering. The police were ready for an onslaught, and both Superintendent Alexander and Inspector Alexander were busy marshalling the local police force of Europeans and Kafirs. The latter turned out in large numbers, fully armed with sticks, and seemed anxious to meet the expected attack. Suddenly, just when the soldiers were ready to make a rush, the fire brigade turned on a strong hose and poured a copious supply of water over the disordered ranks, for many of the men were too much intoxicated to stand. This ruse was most successful. In a few minutes the soldiers fled out of range, but set up unearthly yells and calls of

"CANADIANS FIRE."

Then "bang, bang," went revolvers, bullets smashing through the police station windows. For a little while the riot abated, and efforts were made by the rioters to persuade the men to go away. However, many still shouted for "revenge," and matters again began to look serious. The Canadians armed themselves with bricks and other missiles, and the agitation for another attack became more heated. Superintendent Alexander stepped out and began to speak in conciliatory terms, but a howl again went up. "Fire, fire." No sooner were the wicked words uttered than more shots rang out, and two bullets whizzed past the superintendent's head through the window, and into the inside wall of the station. The respected chief had a miraculous escape with his life. He did not, however, get off unscathed, receiving a nasty smash on the left side of his face, causing an ugly abrasion. He was not the only person injured, although, so far as could be gathered in the general confusion, no one was dangerously wounded. Considerable damage was done to the police station, and doors, and further trouble was threatened, messages having been despatched by the rioters for reinforcements from the Point. Ultimately something like order was gained by allowing the military prisoners out on bail. Happily the colored police were otherwise much personal injury must inevitably have been sustained, for the rioters showed that they were ready if the occasion arose to use their firearms. The conduct of a number of civilians was even worse than that of the soldiers. In one flagrant instance a civilian urged the men to fetch their rifles and storm the station. The two or three Canadians and Australian officers present who tried to quell the disturbance had unfortunately no apparent power over the men, and did not seem able to assert their authority. On the way down to the Point a Kafir curio shop was broken into and a number of assegais were stolen. This morning the police and the pickets were busy arresting the colonial soldiers and conveying them to the ship by which they are to sail. Four civilians were at the court this morning charged with acts likely to cause a breach of the peace and interfering with the police.

The magistrate decided that the charges were too serious for the ordinary by-laws, and ordered the matter to be reported to the clerk of the peace.

THE BARS CLOSED.

Much feeling has been caused regarding the disturbances by the soldiers, and the lack of control over them. The commandant has, however, given orders for the closing of all public houses at eight o'clock tonight and until further notice, on the representations of the police. The military authorities have now arranged for all the drafts of the irregular corps to be landed at the Bluff and wait there in camp until the reports are ready. Strong pickets will also be provided in the town to put down all attempts at lawlessness.

It is only fair to say that in Tuesday's riot the Australians were not involved.

It should be added that these Canadians are not the gallant fellows who have done such excellent work in the field. These are the last contin-

UNTIL THE OPENING OF THE GREAT EXHIBITION, St. John, N. B.
30th August to 6th September, 1902.

FLOOR SPACE this year has been appropriated with most encouraging rapidity, in fact much more so than on any previous occasion.

THE GROUND FLOOR in the Industrial Building is entirely taken up; only a few choice locations remain in the Galleries.

THE PLANS can be seen at the office of the Exhibition Association, Magee Building, Water Street.

TO SAVE DISAPPOINTMENT, intending exhibitors are strongly urged to make immediate application, as time, like floor space, is now limited.

gent, who have not reached "the front."—Ed.]—Transvaal Leader.

A number of members of the regiment now in the city were seen by the Star in regard to the story and though a few had heard of the trouble none were able to give any further information concerning it.

Several of the men state that they heard of some disturbance in Durban, but did not think it amounted to much, and believe that the above story is exaggerated. Many of the returned soldiers know nothing of the affair. The Transvaal Leader is a somewhat sensational paper, and it is quite probable that the disturbance was not nearly so great as represented.

TEMPLE OF HONOR.

The annual meeting of the supreme council of the Temple of Honor will open this evening in the Temperance hall, Market building. It is expected that about forty delegates from the outside temples will be present. Several arrived by last evening's train, and others by boat and train today and the remainder are expected this evening. The reception committee includes John John B. Wallace, W. C. Simpson, F. A. Estey, D. McNally, William Lewis, C. A. Everett and others. The delegates who have already arrived have all been met by these gentlemen.

Among those who are in attendance at this meeting of the council are: Geo. C. Gates, Rhode Island, M. W. T.; Rev. Dr. C. F. Woodruff, New Jersey, M. W. R.; Jesse K. Starr, Fredonia, N. Y., M. W. V. T.; H. D. Williams, New Jersey, M. W. Chap.; Henry Pearce, Wisconsin, M. W. Usher; A. J. DeLong, Connecticut, M. W. G.; and W. L. Condit, New Jersey, P. M. W. T.

Tomorrow morning the business session will be continued and in the afternoon the delegates will be treated to an excursion up river on the steamer Star. Business meetings will be held on Thursday forenoon and afternoon, and in the evening a reception will be given in Alexandra hall, Main street.

MARITIME BOARD OF TRADE.

W. S. Fisher, as vice-president for New Brunswick of the Maritime Board of Trade has issued to the different boards throughout the province a circular letter impressing upon them the advantages of having a strong representation at the meeting of the maritime board to be held in Sydney. Mr. Fisher points out how the meeting of representatives from other places may be of much benefit to this province, and states that the opportunity of seeing the great developments in the coal and steel industry in Cape Breton as well as the meeting with the business men of that place will be of no inconsiderable advantage to merchants here. Representatives are asked from the boards in Chatham, Newcastle, Sussex, Moncton, Sackville, Fredericton, Woodstock and St. Stephen.

THE LATE JAMES KELLY.

The body of the late James Kelly was brought to the city by this morning's express from Halifax and was taken to his home on High street. The funeral will be held at half-past two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

For Coronation day the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will have excursion rates of single fare for the round trip between all stations on its line in Canada, east of Port Arthur; tickets good going August 8th and 9th, good to return August 11th.
