CENTREVILLE, Sept. 13.—Two marriages have taken place at the Methodist mission house, Rev. Mr. Turner being the officiating clergyman. Mrs. Jewell had a stroke of paralysis recently and died after six days' suffering. She was the widow of William Best and after five years' widowhood married and moved to Maine. Two years ago she became a widow the second time and then returned to her former home, where she died. A horse attached to a carriage was tied near a stove while the owner was attending to business. The horse became unfastened and then started on the home run, passing close to a post and large pile of rocks, upsetting the carriage, breaking harness, and leaving the wreck in the middle of the road.

HE RAISES FOXES.

Frank Whelpley Home From Alaska on a Visit.

Has a Farm of Five Hundred Foxes—May Start Another Farm Here.

Frank Whelpley of Murray street, North End, has just returned from the Yukon. Mr. Whelpley has had a variety of experiences since he left here six years ago for the Klondike, as gold miner, steamboat and hotel man and finally fox farmer. In 1898 he with two Hampton men named Titus and Smith were sent with the gold fever and the reports from Canada's Eldorado soon lured them to its snowy environs. For two and one-half years he courted fortune with persistent vigor, but after several months he was forced to return to his home in the Yukon. He then decided to go into the steamboat business and he followed this during the summer, and during the next winter in conjunction with a companion opened a hotel and road house on the route to Nome. In July 1900 he came home for a six months' visit to his parents, who were overjoyed at his safe return from the far north and did all they could to persuade him to stay home. The Klondike fever was on him, however, and in February of the next year he again set out. After being engaged for some time in the mail service at Cooke's Inlet Mr. Whelpley decided to try his hand at fox farming and formed a partnership with W. E. White of Seattle.

An island was secured near Cooke's Inlet, about six or eight miles from land, and here a start was made. The blue fox, the most valuable of all foxes in that district, was selected for breeding, and now fully five hundred have their dens upon the island. Mr. Whelpley has a house, built by himself, on one end of the island and with the exception of a man and his wife who live at the other end, he hardly sees a soul from one month to another. Mr. Whelpley has a snapshot of his log cabin as it might more properly be called, and is very proud of the fact that he has a set of lace curtains at one of the windows. A unique method of keeping the interior white and clean has been adopted. Sheets of white cotton are fastened close to the wall and when soiled are taken down and washed and then replaced. Supplies are brought to the island by the natives, who are only partly Indian.

The foxes are quite tame and friendly to those who visit them and will crowd closely about when any food is coming. "The sight of three or four hundred young foxes all jumping and frisking around you is quite a sight," says Mr. Whelpley, "and hard to imagine by one without experience in this business." The foxes have dens all over the island and will rarely come out in the daytime. A house or feed shed has been built off in the woods and here they come each night. It is by taking advantage of this fact that the owners are able to get the furs. The fox is caught and killed by shooting with a rifle. The operation performed in this province when hanging a man. This is easily accomplished if conducted quietly, but let a fox cry out and there will be no mistaking the cause of the sound and will scatter immediately to their dens, and it is only at feeding hours that there is any possibility of catching them. The skins are only cleaned and dried on the island, and in this state are shipped to Seattle and thence to London, where they are dressed and made into the ordinary fur garments. The industry is extensive, profitable, the prices ranging from $15 to $50 per skin.

Mr. Whelpley considers that there is a fine opening for such a farm on this island, but the continent and where he will look into several possible sites. One or two islands have been mentioned to him as possessing the necessary requirements. Mr. Whelpley has secured an option on them. If he decides to start on this side he will have to make one more trip to the north to procure his supply of blue foxes, but will after that be able to spend his time near his home. A fact which his widowed mother will much appreciate.

The elder Mr. Whelpley, who was for some time instructor in the navigation school in this city, died in May last, but the letters Mr. Whelpley wrote her son apprising him of this sad event, were mislaid and never reached him. Frank Whelpley, however, was a subscriber to the semi-weekly Sun and in July when the mail service had been straightened out, he read the account of his father's death. This caused him to think of returning to his old home and at length he saw his way clear to come back to his native city once again.

Gives Valuable Advice to Those Who Use the Railroad Train Frequently.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 16.—(Special)—Mr. J. H. Ireland, one of the oldest and best known commercial travellers on the road, has come out with a statement for the benefit of his fellow travellers. "It is with pleasure," says Mr. Ireland, "that I endorse Dodd's Kidney Pills. While on a trip through the maritime provinces Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from a severe attack of pain in my back that had bothered me for some time. The first dose seemed to go right to the spot and removed the trouble so effectively that it has not and is not likely to return. 'Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as advertised,' Mr. Ireland concludes. 'They cure to stay cured.'"

Travelers, railroad men and others who ride on the railway a great deal are subject to kidney troubles. They will find Mr. Ireland's statement valuable reading.

The denizens of the forest seem to be showing themselves in considerable numbers. Many deer have been seen roundabout, and the other evening a lone porcupine was observed leisurely walking back and forth on the platform of the railway station.

FREE BAPTISTS.

Dr. McLeod Presented His Report for the Year.

Nova Scotian Visitor Spoke in Favor of Union—Greater Effort Urged Along Temperance Lines.

Tracy Station, Sept. 17.—It has been 29 years since Tracy Station has entertained the Free Baptist General Conference. It is, however, a very suitable place, being centrally located as far as the Free Baptist constituency is concerned. There is perhaps the largest gathering of ministers and delegates here than for some time. Besides the ministers, the delegates present are as follows:

1st District—W. G. Perry.
2nd District—A. W. Owens, Wm. McGee, W. L. Marchison, E. C. Morgan.
3rd District—J. S. White, Wm. Seymour, Josiah Hallet.
4th District—J. E. Patterson, T. L. Alexander, J. A. Hayward, Hubert Webb.
5th District—Geo. Flewelling, G. Miles McCready, Lee Fox.
6th District—W. H. Heine, E. L. Perkins, J. H. Branscombe.
7th District—Wm. Peters, J. R. Webb, Thos. Graham.
Rev. Jos. McLeod, D. D., corresponding secretary, on Saturday submitted his report on the state of the denomination. Summarized, it is as follows:

There are within the province 145 churches. Only 124 have reported. Seven pastorate have one church each, five pastorate have two churches each, the others have three to six churches and preaching stations; 100 churches have had more or less pastoral care. The others have had only occasional preaching and no pastoral care. One new church has been organized, at Beausfield, Victoria, Co. Four churches have been extinct during the year. The membership of the reporting churches is 9,056. The additions during the year were 237, the net gain being 47. Revivals have been experienced in 34 churches. There were baptized during the year 198. Four new church buildings were dedicated during the year at Geary, Sunbury Co.; Gaspereaux, Queens Co.; North Lake, York Co.; and Corn Hill, Kings Co. Two new ones are now in course of construction, at Marysville, York Co., and at Rowena, Victoria Co. Two parsonages have been completed, at Fredericton Junction and Blissville, Sunbury Co. Two more have been begun, at Keswick and Victoria Corner. There has been raised during the year a total sum of $30,854.38 for the following purposes: Salaries, $13,439.39; current expenses, $9,756.05; buildings and improvements, $8,323.57; home missions, $370.27; foreign missions, $234.65; conference fund, $670.07; Women's Missionary Society, $1,410.98; other funds, $1,153.83. The financial showing is better than last year, and yet, for many reasons, it is a very incomplete one. One hundred and three churches report nothing contributing to home missions, 85 nothing to foreign missions, 50 nothing to students' fund, and 86 nothing to the Women's Missionary Society. There were at the beginning of the year ordained ministers 11, 11 of whom were made. Two ministers died during the year, Rev. J. T. Parsons, for 20 years pastor of the Waterloo street church, St. John, and Rev. J. S. Jones. Six of the ministers were in the work, 24 of those remaining have been pastors, two home missionaries, one under the W. M. Society, one under the Y. P. Society, six have preached frequently one has been editor of the denominational paper, and two have been unable to preach owing to poor health. Though efforts were made to have the census errors corrected, and though churches were urged to give more attention to the financial statement, the lines of denominational interests.

In concluding his report Dr. McLeod called the attention of the conference to a few things in which he said most of the churches needed careful instruction. He strongly advocated a better support of pastors, larger provision for aged and disabled ministers, more practical interest in missions, the importance of the work of evangelism, and a more regular observation of the Lord's supper. He suggested that much that was defective in these things might be remedied by the churches giving more attention to evangelism. "To spread abroad the message of salvation, and to persuade men to the faith of Jesus, is the business of Christ's church."

On motion of Rev. B. H. Nobles it was resolved the discussion lay over until another year. Rev. J. B. Merrill, the delegate of the N. S. F. B. Conference, was then introduced. He expressed his pleasure at being present. He said the Free Baptists of Nova Scotia were growing, less the churches were shrinking, and the prospects were that they would become extinct on account of absorption and amalgamation by and with other denominations. There are only six F. B. pastors now in Nova Scotia. They were looking with great interest toward the action of this conference in regard to Baptist union, and he thought there is no doubt that if union was accomplished here it would lead to a union of the Free Baptists with the Baptists in Nova Scotia and the United States.

Mr. Merrill was invited to a seat with the conference. Rev. A. W. Currie, the delegate from this conference to Nova Scotia F. B. conference, reported a very pleasant time. Spiritual warfare was present, and Rev. Mr. Wilson and wife offered themselves to the work of foreign missions and were accepted. A motion favoring a broad measure of Baptist union was framed with only two dissenting voices. Rev. E. H. Cochrane was, on motion, appointed to report proceedings for the denominational paper. Dr. McLeod Vince called attention to the fact that this denomination was neither dying nor dead, but compared with thirty years ago, was in a condition for congratulation and thankfulness to God.

Rev. A. J. Prosser for the committee on temperance, reported that this conference was still the uncompromising foe of the liquor traffic. Much has been accomplished by the pulpits and press in aiding temperance reform along social lines. Regret was expressed that there had been no greater advance along political lines. Yet progress had been made in legislation to support temperance legislation if it was the expressed desire of the electorate. Therefore ministers and laity were urged to take an active part in the election of temperance candidates, as well as to co-operate with all officers in the enforcement of the laws relative to the sale of liquor, cigarettes, tobacco and the desecration of the Sabbath.

The tendency to bet and gamble was deplored, as well as the looseness of ideas in regard to the franchise. It was also recommended that temperance sermons be preached at least once a year.

Strong supporting speeches were made by Revs. A. A. Rideout, C. T. Phillips, Dr. McLeod, J. B. Daggett, H. Erb and G. W. Foster.

Conference adjourned to meet at 7.30 p. m. The Women's Missionary Society, under their new act of incorporation, met for organization at 6 p. m. Miss Augusta Slipp of Hampton was chosen chairman, and Mrs. J. B. Boyer of Victoria Corner, Carleton Co., secretary.

The act of incorporation was read and a committee was appointed to nominate officers for the society. The society adjourned to meet Monday at 9 a. m.
