FOUND IN WAREHOUSE; CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

About 10.30 o'clock Saturday night Patrolman Hamm of the North End division captured a man giving his name as Frederick Rose, aged thirty-five years, a native of the United States. He is held on suspicion of breaking and entering the warehouse of Lilley and Sons, 110 Elm street. The policeman heard that a man was in the warehouse and going to the place found the door open and on making a search he found Rose crouched behind two barrels. Near him, nicely wrapped up in paper, were two hams. It was also reported to the police that not long before the arrest was made a man was seen leaving the warehouse with a parcel. The prisoner had nothing to say about himself.

TWO CHURCH PICNICS SPOILED BY DOWNPOUR

The annual picnic of the Main St. Baptist Sunday school was held on Saturday at Rousesay. A large crowd went out on a train at nine o'clock, but about an hour later there was a rain storm and the picnicers had to get under shelter. They returned to the city at three o'clock and adjourned to the church school room where supper was served and an enjoyable time spent by all.
 The Mission church Sunday school picnic was held to Westfield on Saturday. ## JUDGE FORBES TO REPRESENT THE COMPANY

Arbitration of Street Railway dispute to commence this morning—Will select chairman.

Judge Forbes has been appointed to represent the St. John Street Railway on the board which will investigate the circumstances attending the dismissal of Conductor Ramsay. On Saturday evening the Department of Labor sent a wire to Sidney Mosher, representative of the Street Railway Men's Union, in the Maritime Provinces, stating that Judge Forbes had been appointed to represent the company on recommendation of the officers of the company, J. L. Sugrue, president of the St. John Trades and Labor Council, is the men's representative.

Judge Forbes and Mr. Sugrue will have a conference this morning with a view to selecting a third man to act as chairman. If they agree on the selection of a chairman, the enquiry will probably begin tomorrow. Under the Industrial Dispute Act the board has authority to summon witnesses and take evidence under oath. Its findings are not binding on either party to the dispute, but pending the conclusion of the investigation, the declaration of a lockout or strike entails severe penalties.

TELEGRAPH IS ANXIOUS

Sending many copies of that paper to non-subscribers—Some receive two.

Copies of the Telegraph contain reports of the investigation into the Dugal charges were sent broadcast about the province last week. Mail carriers in many districts had to handle large numbers of Telegraphs, which were mailed to non-subscribers of the paper. Apparently a great effort was made to place copies of the paper containing reports of the investigation into the hands of Conservative voters, for some Conservatives living in the rural districts were sent two copies each day of the investigation.

FORTUNE FROM BLACK FOXES

F. F. Tuplin here in seven passenger touring car—Tells about industry on the Island.

F. F. Tuplin, one of the black fox kings of Prince Edward Island, arrived in the city yesterday in his seven passenger touring car, accompanied by Hon. J. E. Wyott, W. Bowness, W. Scanlon, H. W. Downing, F. A. Lefursey and H. E. Givan.

Mr. Tuplin's career attracted an interesting illustration of the romance of the black fox industry. Starting some years ago breeding black foxes in a small way, he has made a comfortable fortune out of the business. Speaking to a reporter Mr. Tuplin said he believed the black fox industry of the Island would continue to pay handsome dividends.

"Some companies are being formed to start ranches with foxes imported from the west," he added. "I don't think they will turn out as well as the Island foxes, and this development may have some effect on the future of the industry."

Mr. Tuplin said the black fox business had brought a great deal of money to the Island, and that the presence of the money had had a good effect on business generally. Mr. Tuplin's party made the trip from Moncton to St. John in less than four hours, stopping at Sussex for dinner. They found the roads in good condition, especially between Sussex and St. John. They said, however, that while the road bed was good the road was much narrower than the highways of the Island.

One of the members of the party, Mr. Downing, is the engineer in charge of the construction of the terminals for the car ferry to the Island. The work on the car ferry terminals is proceeding favorably, and it is hoped that when the ferry is in operation it will prove a great boon. The department of railways plans on converting the narrow gauge railway on the Island into a road of standard gauge as soon as the car ferry is in operation.

Mr. Tuplin and his party will leave for the Island this morning.

THE MASONS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE IN TRINITY CHURCH

Members of Order line walks as Grand Officers parade into sacred edifice—Eloquent and impressive address by Rev. R. A. Armstrong.

A communication of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of New Brunswick, called by the grand master to attend divine service at Trinity church, was held yesterday afternoon. Officers and members of the city and Carleton lodges attended and also members of the grand lodge from Fredericton, St. Stephen and Sussex.

The Masons gathered in the Masonic Temple while the band of the 62nd Regiment, stationed in German street, played a number of selections. Shortly before three o'clock they marched out of the temple wearing regalia and various insignia of office the members of the different lodges forming up on either side of the walk leading to the church and the officers of the grand lodge marched between the files into the edifice. They were followed into the church by the 62nd Band and a considerable number of spectators.

Among the officers present were F. J. G. Knowlton, grand master; Hedley Bridges, L. L. D., deputy grand master; Thomas Walker, M. D., P. G. M.; Julius Whitlock, P. G. M.; Judge Forbes, P. G. M.; Henry S. Bridges, P. G. M.; Andrew McNeil, senior grand warden; Geo. W. Baillie, grand treasurer; H. Russell Sturdee, senior grand deacon; W. S. Clawson, junior grand deacon. J. Herbert Corbett officiated as grand director of ceremonies with Fred H. Hartt as assistant grand director of ceremonies and W. S. Morrison, M. D., as grand sword bearer.

Impressive Service

The service in the church which was of an impressive character was opened by the processional hymn, "All people that on earth do dwell, sing to the Lord with cheerful voice." This was followed by the general confession, then by the absolution and a hymn, "Lord's prayer." Then was read respectively Psalms CXXI and CXXXIII, followed by the scripture lessons, the creed, the Lord's prayer and a hymn beginning, "Unto the hills around do I lift up my longing eyes."

Rev. P. Coulthart conducted the service and Rev. R. A. Armstrong preached the sermon.

Mr. Armstrong took his text from Kings 7:22, "And at the top of the columns was lily work." His address was a powerful and eloquent exposition of the need of blending strength and beauty in the building of the temple of the soul.

The great temple of Solomon was the precursor of the Christian church and the symbolical of the temple of the soul. Around the pillars were lily work; the pillars represented strength, the lily work beauty.

Strength and beauty are the ideals of the Christian church today. God has everywhere in nature blended strength and beauty. The sea has had charm and beauty, but it had also might and majesty, and against its strength the proudest achievements of men were of no avail.

CHESTER COLE CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Well known commercial traveller did not have to go on stand—Popular decision.

Chester A. Cole, of Salisbury, and well known in St. John as a commercial traveller, has been honorably acquitted in the supreme court. After a serious charge preferred against him.

A woman, who had rented a house from him and on whom he distrained for the rent, preferred the charge against him, claiming assault. In the court on Friday two witnesses for the prosecution were examined and then the prosecuting attorney, J. A. Hanway, openly stated that he believed then, as he did at first, that there was nothing in the charge as laid against the accused, and he thought that the case should never have gone beyond the grand jury. The judge agreed with this and instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty which it did without retiring.

An Amherst correspondent of the Moncton Times in reporting the case said:

"After the complainant, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Albert Gayton, two witnesses for the prosecution, had been examined, the crown prosecutor openly stated that from the unsatisfactory nature of their evidence he felt now as he did from the first, that there was nothing in the charge as laid against the accused, and in fact thought it would never have got past the grand jury. Under these circumstances he did not feel like proceeding any further with the case."

With this position his ordsheip at once agreed, stating that while the grand jury had a perfect right to pass on the case, from the unsatisfactory and inconsistent evidence of the main witnesses for the crown he could not advise a conviction. He therefore directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty, which they did without leaving their seats, whereupon Mr. Cole was honorably acquitted and discharged.

Mr. Cole has many friends in the two provinces, who while sympathizing with him in his apparently unwarranted trouble, will be pleased to learn of his discharge, his acquittal not only being concurred in by the judge and jury but also by the crown prosecutor, Mr. Hanway, as well as which took place before he was called

Temple of the Soul

In building the temple of the soul we must blend strength and beauty. The beautiful face with no strength of character will not charm us long. Strength without grace of manner does not appeal to us.

The ideal Christian is he in whom the two elements are blended, and they were most perfectly blended in Jesus Christ. Jesus was the very personification of divine strength. But the strong Son of God always showed a beautiful spirit when He came in contact with human weakness.

Some of us could describe the pillars in Solomon's temple, but have we those qualities they symbolized, the combination of strength and beauty? Strength is needed to fight against temptation and evil, to overcome the wrongs entangled amongst us. The glory of character is its strength. In its hour of need a nation turns to the strong man. In the day of trouble a man looks to the woman who can be true and faithful. Truth is the other side of courage. On truth and faithfulness you can build a stately superstructure.

Strength from Experience.

Continuing the preacher said we could only get strength from experience—in the last analysis from the experience of God. Simon Peter was once a weak man, but he was tried in the fires of affliction and came through as strong and unyielding as rock. Transformed in every fibre of his being Peter startled the world with his boldness. And the secret of this transformation was that God filled his soul with the Holy Ghost. Men needed strength of soul in office and shop today, and if they opened their hearts to God they could put on majesty and strength. But with strength of character men also need the beauty of goodness and holiness. Christ was clothed in beauty as a garment. His love and goodness was not confined to words; in all circumstances men felt the beauty of His soul, the holiness of His character. With words of grace Christ began His ministry, and with words of grace He ended it. To the last Christ was without bitterness; nothing could be more impressive than the persistence of the moral beauty of Christ.

A Privilege.

In conclusion the preacher said that the chief privilege of free born men was the possession of the liberty and power to make the most of life, to add strength and beauty to the temple of the soul.

At the close of the service the Masons marched out of the church on to Charlotte street, and accompanied by the 62nd band, paraded by way of the Carleton and German streets back to the Masonic Temple.

FREDERICK ROSS ARRESTED BY SPECIAL OFFICER O'LEARY, EARLY SATURDAY NIGHT—CROWDS FOLLOW WAGON.

Special Officer Frank O'Leary made, what is thought to be, a most important capture Saturday night when he arrested Frederick Ross, aged twenty-six years on suspicion of having sent a bomb alarm from fire box 7 on the North Market Wharf.

About a quarter to ten Saturday evening the fire alarm bell rang forth the number from fire box 7, the fire apparatus rushed to the North wharf and a very large crowd of people also hastened to the scene. When the Salvage Corps wagon reached the box the firemen found Special Officer O'Leary in a tussle with Frederick Ross. Ross was placed on the Salvage Corps wagon and held down by the officer and driven to the central station, while nearly a thousand people followed the apparatus with its load up King street to the cells.

Officer O'Leary happened to be near box 7 when the alarm was sent in and he saw Ross running away from the box. There was no other person near at the time and the officer quickly placed the man under arrest.

There has been a great amount of annoyance caused in the city by persons sending in false alarms and the police have been keeping a sharp watch for the offenders. Ross will be taken before the police magistrate this morning to answer the charge.

Police investigation
 W. B. Chandler, K. C. of Moncton, who has been appointed a commissioner to investigate charges made against W. W. Clark, chief of the St. John police force, by the city council, received his warrant on Saturday and immediately wrote to City Clerk Wardrop in connection with the matter. It is likely that the letter will be dealt with at a meeting of the city commissioners this afternoon.

upon to give any evidence on his own behalf at all, which makes the acquittal all the stronger. Needless to say, Cole has protested his innocence all through and the result upholds the position taken by him.

J. A. Hanway appeared for the prosecutor, Mr. Hanway, as well as which took place before he was called
