MR. GLADSTONE'S DEFEAT SURPRISED THE CROWD.
Who Will Form a Government—The G. O. B. still showing fight—Mr. Dilton on the Victory of Ireland—Mr. Beecher's estimate of our present position.

London, July 5.—Midnight.—Up to this hour 319 Conservatives and Unionists, 143 Gladstonians and 87 Parrellites have been elected. The standing of the parties now is: Total number of seats..... 670
Number of seats held..... 423
To be held..... 247
Conservatives elected..... 267
Unionists..... 160
Gladstonians..... 143
Parrellites..... 87
Conservative and Unionist majority..... 109
Conservative and Unionist majority over all other sections combined..... 6
The total Unionist poll up to 6 p.m. was 1,016,281, and the total Gladstonian poll 948,562.

The Tory Reaction.
London, July 5.—The following results of the analysis of election returns at midnight yesterday enable an estimate of the Tory reaction to be made. The borough returns are now complete:

Borough vote for Mr. Gladstone	188,188
Do. for Mr. Dilton	188,188
Do. for Mr. Beecher	97,000
Do. for Mr. Mackenzie	11,000
Do. for Mr. Gladstone's majority	11,000
Do. for Mr. Dilton's minority	78,000

Mr. Gladstone's total in 1885 does not include the Parrellites, who were not supposed to be against him; in 1886 it does, the Parrellites being with him. Included in the 187 in 1885 were 13 Parrellites. Included in the 97 in 1886 are 14 Parrellites. The anti-Home Rule 175 this year comprises 148 Tories and 27 Liberal Unionists. Mr. Gladstone lost 14 seats in London alone. His county vote shows even a greater reaction than in the Tory stronghold having yet to be heard from.

Victories that Haven't Been Counted.
London, July 5.—Mr. Sexton's victory in Belfast is considered by the Nationalists to completely wipe out the Tory reaction. After the result was known Mr. Sexton issued a manifesto, urging the Nationalists to remain indoors and disregard provocation to violence. He left Belfast and went to Dublin, where he was discovered after the Imperial Hotel and compelled by an enthusiastic crowd to address an impromptu mass meeting. Mr. Sexton's defeat in London is considered a victory, as it is alleged that the returns show even a greater reaction than in the Tory stronghold having yet to be heard from.

Her Majesty Surprises London by Reminding the Colonies.

New York, July 5.—A Tribune London special says: "The Queen's visit to the Dominion of Wales to the Colonial is reckoned in London society as the most surprising event for some time past. No precedent exists for such an occasion. The Queen's visit to the Dominion of Wales to the Colonial is reckoned in London society as the most surprising event for some time past. VERDICT OF FOUND DEAD.
An Explosion from the Globe—No Casualties—The Cause of the Explosion—The Graphic Account of the Adjudgment of an Executive Committee meeting, called to consider applications for the position of Commissioner of Works.

The Globe came out yesterday evening with the graphic account of the adjournment of an Executive Committee meeting, called to consider applications for the position of Commissioner of Works. The reason assigned for the adjournment was the presence of a Globe reporter. The meeting was held in the Council Chamber instead of in the Executive Committee room. The press was not notified of the adjournment. The Globe reporter called for applications for the position specified that the names of the unsuccessful applicants would not be made public and whether or not the Globe reporter was present at the meeting was not stated. The Globe reporter was not present at the meeting. The Globe reporter was not present at the meeting.
