GOLD AND JEWELS.

VARIOUS FEMININE FASHIONS AND A FEW ITEMS FOR MEN.

The Slight Necklet and the Broad Collar—Amethysts and Emeralds. Extensive Use of Jewels in Full Dress—A New Watch Chain.

Of all recent jewelry fashions none has been so veritable a craze as the necklace. Graceful and often fragile in its innumerable aspects, from a single slight strand, with pendant, to a light arrangement of festoons, its fascinations have been irresistible. But jewelry fashions are now almost as fickle as those in other lines of dress. So it should be no surprise that the broad collar promises to live again as the new favorite in throat ornamentation. If of a less charming grace than the necklet, its handsome presence adds greater dignity to the costume. Whether er in many strands or in meshes or in elaborate scrolled panels of diamonds or pearls, held with diamond bars and having an attached pendant, it claims renewed attention. Of this and the many other pieces of jewelry that may enter into the elegant evening toilet of the present the accompanying cut gives an instance. The dress is of fine cream lace embroidered in pompadour fashion with pink and yellow, while the jewelry include a dog collar and a long chain, both of very lovely pearls; a magnificent tiara of diamonds, a bracelet on either wrist and many rings.

Amethysts show themselves decidedly in the ascendant just now among colored stones. Indeed the feeling for these stones is quite remarkable. In most cases they are square cut and set with diamonds, pearls and even peridot. For years amethysts have had the go-by pretty effectually, but once more it seems to be realized how beautiful and effective they are, and the woman in the vanguard of fashion again considers them necessary to the completeness of her jewel case. Three to five strands of amethysts compose broad collars that are among the latest things affected by those who follow Paris fashions closely.

Emeralds have for some time enjoyed great favor and are considered particularly desirable at present. Jewelry expresses a passing fashion or an individual fancy, or it is beautiful for all time by reason of the rarity and perfection of stones and setting. In the former class are apt to come such smaller pieces as those of the second cut—an amethyst and pearl heart and scroll brooch, a pearl and turquoise fancy ring, a fine pearl and diamond marquise ring, a diamond and amethyst pendant and a pendant of diamonds and rubies.

The fashion, familiar in scarfpins, of typifying in decorative designs the various sports or pastimes, such as hunting, golf, yachting, fishing, driving or riding, has been more widely adopted in men's sleeve links.

One of the new little wrinkles with good dressers among men is a quite narrow watch chain formed of small and very closely set links.

The heavy gold or silver safety pin a half dozen inches in length is the latest fancy for securing the toque, turban or other close headgear of the present with great firmness to the head. The pin is a very decorative affair, usually jeweled with one large central stone, a turquoise or of the semiprecious variety.

Flower designs are prominent in the new brooches for the coming season, and a flower pin is an attractive feminine device for fastening blossoms to the dress.

AMY VARNUM.

Natty little sets, including muff and cravat of baby calf are considered quite the smartest and very newest acquisition to the modern woman's toilet.

LILIES OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

In a recent interview with Mrs. Lily Langtry, she very wisely said: "The fact that I believe in the superior force of mind over matter does not blind me to the truth that the foundation of every successful life is good health; that the key-stone to physical beauty is perfect physical health."

"A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but what we English call a poor-spirited woman."

"To a great extent a woman's beauty is measured by her vitality—by her health."

"Work, Sunshine, Exercise, Water and Soap, Plain, Nourishing Food, Lots of Fresh Air, and a Happy, Contented Spirit—these, as you say, 'honest and true,' is my working rule for youth, youthful spirits and youthful looks."

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make-up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or fifty cents for cloth-bound copy, and addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails," writes Mrs. Dr. Nielsen, of 4303 Langley Avenue, Chicago, Ill. "It is a certain cure for female troubles, diseases in their worst form. I suffered for years with ulceration, intense pains and a dreadful backache, which unfitted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill I had to keep to my bed. In this extremity I used 'Favorite Prescription' for three months and then I was well. Only those who have passed through such a stage of sickness as I have will understand how much I value Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapse, or Falling of Womb, which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure. No substitute for "Favorite Prescription" offers so much.

An Apology.

An excited military man entered the editorial sanctum of the Ottawa (Mc.) Democrat, exclaiming: "That notice of my death is false, sir! I will horse-whip you within an inch of your life, sir, if you don't apologize in your next issue." The editor inserted the following the next day: "We regret extremely to announce that the paragraph which stated that Major Blaser was dead is without foundation."

A Petite Necessity.

"Your daughter is highly accomplished."

"Well," answered Mrs. Gumrox, "she knows a great deal about English literature and can speak several languages, but I wish I could hire somebody to teach her just what slang it is proper to use in fashionable society."—Washington Star.

Freaks of Fate.

"There goes Tuffnut, the pugilist. Under other circumstances he might have made a success of a very different kind."

"No doubt. With a fair tenor voice and his peculiar system of fighting he would have made a tremendous success on the opera stage."—New York Press.

The Trust in Doctors.

Fawcett—When you come to think of it it's really remarkable how many people trust a doctor. Crosby—Yes. But don't you think it's even more wonderful how many people a doctor trusts?

Not Guilty.

"One of you boys has been stealing raisins again. I have found the seeds on the floor. Which one of you was it?" Tommy—"It wasn't me. I swallowed the seeds in mine."

It would be a much more progressive world if we economized the time we give to other people's business.—Puck.

"THE WAYWARD SON."

The Wayward Son Company plays at London to-night, where one of the largest houses of the season is expected. The seats are selling very fast for their engagement at the Grand to-morrow night.

With the unqualified endorsement of the New York press and the public, "The Wayward Son," a stirring domestic comedy drama, comes to the Grand to-morrow night. While many organizations are provided with a full scenic equipment, few companies, even in these days of managerial extravagance, carry such an elaborate scenic outfit as does "The Wayward Son."

The most striking feature of this production is the realistic electrical snow storm, during which the hero of the drama is rescued from his enemies by the heroine, a young secret service detective, with the aid of a full sized locomotive. Besides its dramatic value this scene is acknowledged to be one of the most beautiful and lifelike ever presented on the stage.

Another important factor in the great success which has attended the engagement of "The Wayward Son"

REASON No 18 WHY YOU SHOULD USE

Red Rose Tea

Because it is tested by skilled tea tasters.

Tea tasting can well be called one of the fine arts. A man who can taste several hundred cups of tea a day, and, by his keen senses, detect the slightest difference between them, and who, blindfolded, can tell where each and every tea was grown, not only the country, but the particular district, and often the very plantation—such a man is the professional tea taster.

The head man in my tea room, Mr. W. R. Miles, is a master in his profession. He learned the business in London, Eng., and is a tea taster by right of birth, as both his Father and Grandfather were tea tasters. It came natural to him and he is recognized as one of the best judges of tea in America.

He and his assistants do nothing but taste the teas, and superintend the blending.

RED ROSE TEA is the result.

On Tuesday last, Feb. 28, our citizens were shocked to hear of the death of T. C. Ford, who recently had a paralytic stroke, from which he had recovered enough to be driven up town on Monday. Tuesday morning he got up and ate his breakfast. Not long afterward he had an attack of heart failure, from which he expired in a few minutes. The deceased leaves a widow, two sons, Frank and Bert, and three daughters, Mrs. John Pardo, Charing Cross; Mrs. Carna-
