ELECTIONS

THE announcement of the formation of a new Government at Ottawa was received too late for insertion in the BEACON last week, and to-day we can only make brief reference to it. Those who place the interests of the country before those of political parties, who in a crisis like the present are willing to sink all differences and to unite in a common purpose in support of the country seeds, will welcome the coalition government which has been formed under the premiership of Sir Robert Borden. It is greatly to be regretted that the fusion of parties was not made earlier and is not concerning any genuine mineral discoveries; and that the Government should not be recovered complete. For it was certainly some concerning any genuine mineral discoveries; and that the Government should have a properly promptly took out for himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining property for the whole territory, presumably thirteen himself and his family a mining lease of the whole territory, presuma greatly to be regretted that the Iusion of parties was not made earlier and is not now more complete; for it was certainly every ways undesirable that an election should be held while the more in in a concerning any genuine mineral distributions. James McKenzie Weatherby, Little should be held while the war is in progress. Since, however, it has come to pass that an election must be held, it is inconceivable that an administration like the present one can be defeated at the polls; though much will depend on the selection of candidates in the various constituencies. The election seems likely to be held in December, so there is not much time available for the selection of candidates, as nomination must precede imited in number to any individual, and every ways undestrable that an election should be held while the war is in pro-ber.

The political situation created by the formation of the coalition cabinet is almost unique in the political annals of Canada, and some extraordinary developments are certain to ensue. So far as

Charlotte County is concerned it ought based upon proper principles, the Province not to be impossible to obtain a candidate of New Brunswick might hold a much not to be impossible to obtain a candidate whom all parties could support; but such candidate should have other qualifications than the mere possession of commercial ability and a good Bank account,—he should have a record of active interest in and devotion to the public affairs of the Dominion, the Province, the County, and the particular community in which he dwells. To select a candidate whose sole good of its long of the long devotion expected is one of its long devotion extends the province of the pr
