He said that any one who had heard the evidence could come to no other conclusion than that the rum and money given were for the purposes of influencing the electors, and that it was of no consequence where Bayne got the money and rum, if it was used for the purposes charged against him. He further stated that there was considerable evidence that the money was not the property of Bayne alone. By the testimony of the witnesses it came from friends outside this man altogether, and if furnished in this way it must strengther the belief that it was for the purpose of corrupting the electors. There is no other course, he said, in conclusion open but to commit the defendant for trial under the charges made against

DORCHESTER, N. B., Sept. 3.—The marriage of Miss Nellie, daughter of Hiram W. Palmer, to Dr. George Ryan of Paris, France, took place at Trinity church at eleven o'clock this morning. The bride was unattended. The cecmony was performed by Rev. A. E. Hall, rector of the parish. Dr. G. H. Palmer, cousin of the bride, and Chas. Fawcett acted as ushers. The invitations were confined to the immediate friends of the contracting parties, which included friends from Sussex, Monaton and Sackville. Judge Gregory kindly adjourned court while the cere-mony was performed, thus allowing those engaged in court to witness the ceremony in the church, which was crow-led beyond its seating capacity. Automobiles were used to carry the bridal party to and from the church. Mrs. Fred Ryan's large touring car, which was handsomely decorated, conveyed the bride and groom. An elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father. NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 3.-With feet clad in green hide moccasins, with his face showing the tan of rough sea breezes of the bleak and lonely Labrador, J. T. Rowland of Greenleave here on the 15th inst. The form-er goes to China to take up the duties today on his return from an eventful wich, Conn., landed at North Sydney yoyage spent in company with the far famed Grenfell of Labrador. Rowland tells the press a good story of the doings of this modern Livingstone in his work for the upraising of fellow beings whose hard lots have been cast on the rock bound and barren coast of the higher latitudes of Labrador. Mr. Rowland joined Grenfell July 23rd, having sailed from Boston on the doctor's 36 foot launch Pomluk.

The Pomiuk arrived at Battle Harbor July 23rd after a voyage of fog and rough weather, The following having been re-enforced by the crew of the Pomiuk Grenfell left Battle Harbor on a summer trip in the hospital ship Strathcona for the northern limits work the doctor had undertaken prebetween Capes Harrison and Chidleigh Hawkins, at Pennfield, Charlotte Co., region, hitherto practically unknown, Here again the doctor displays his wonderful versatility, undertakinig many different phases of work, each department calling for a master mind, scientist, magistrate, physician and surgeon, missionary and trader. The doctor arises to each occasion with a mind and ability equal to the task. He was assisted in this work of survey by Governor McGregor of Newfoundland on board the H. M. S. Flona. The Fiona had proceeded to Rigoulette, arrival of the doctor. On the morning of the 26th the Strathcona fought her way into Indian Harbor in the teeth of one of the worst gales which has visited those regions in years. The doctor's steam launch Daryl is stationed at this point, where s also the farthest north hospital. Immediately on entering the harbor the doctor discovered the Daryl had ragged her anchor and been carried ishere, and at once set about the work of saving her, which was done with much difficulty. The gale, which caused the loss forty-five fishing vossels on the coast, of the York County Rifle Association kept the doctor bottled up in Indian harbor until the following day, when harbor until the following day, when five competitors. The doctor Kings Ranges with a score of 44. Page first encountered two schooners which. had been driven ashore at Holton harbor, but not rendered unseaworthy. These were hauled into deep water by the Stratheona and turned over to respective crews. At Tinker Harbor over twelve vessels were found horelessly stranded, above high water mark, the crews having escaped shore. Promising to call for the crews on the way south the doctor again put to sea and about Again putting to sea the Strathcona started on her return south and picked up over sixty marconed sailors, carried them to Indian Harbor, they were eventually taken off by the steamer which occasionally touches there. Mrs. Edmund, Manchester correspondent, is at St. Anthony, the doctor's principal mission station, writing an account of the doctor's doings and helping in the work at the hospital and orphanage.

At the head of Hamilton Inlet the doctor reports having received a mesage from Eugene Delano and Washourn, who are heading an expedition to reach Grand Falls. The message was brought by a guide who returned with a broken cance, provisions having been transferred to remaining canoes. July 25 they had penetrated over half way to the Falls and all was well with the party. AMHERST, N. S., Sept. 8 .- John H Read, one of Oxford's most promen citizens, met a very sudden death last evening. Mr. Read went to Oxford driving park yesterday afternoon to feed his fast trotting horse, and was driving home through the main street of the town at a high rate of speed about 7.30 last night. When in front of the Dufferin hotel he came in collision with another team, was hurled violently to the sidewalk, his head striking the pavement. He was rendered unconscious, and was at once conveyed to his home, medical aid was summoned, but he passed away about midnight without recovering consciousness. The deceased is survived by two sons and three daughters. The horse, which was a valuable one, was severely injured and the carriage badly shattered. The death of Mr. Read is greatly regretted in Oxford, where he was most highly respected.

31 YEARS IN PRISON

Stories of Fiendish Torture Recalled by the Anni-

TERRORIZED BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 7 .- Jesse Pomeroy, on of the most notorious life prisoners in upon the thirty-second year of his con finement in Charlestown prison. All of these years have been passed in solitary confinement. When he was 14 years old Pomeroy was sentenced to prison for life for torturing and murdering little children. He is now 48 years old, and looks to be much older. Despite his long incarcer-Ogden v. Etter is on for tomorrow a pardon, though he has never had the ation he apparently still has hopes of slightest encouragement. In the early seventies Jesse Pomeroy

On the day after Christmas, 1871, a child named Paine, living in Chelsea, was found unconscious, tied to a beam body was covered with great welts. When he recovered his irate father and the police learned that he had met an older boy, who had led him away from clothes and struck him again and again with a rope. Many crimes of this character were committed at intervals for months. Then Pomeroy was identified as the perpetrator and sent to a reform school. After two months he was released. Shortly afterwards he repeated his old crimes, and this time killed the victims, and boy and a girl. He was convicted and sentenced to solitary confinement

For thirty-one years he has been confined in a cell as small as a closet, dark and bare. On a dozen occasions he has with superhuman cunning davised plans of escape, and in spite of constant watching has succeeded in carrying them to an advanced stage of execution. He has never attended divine services in the prison chapel and has never been required to work. It is said that he has spent much of his time in reading and has become fairly well informed. But so far as personal experience goes, such things as electric cars, phonographs, telephones and many other things in common use today are absqlutely unknown LABOR DAY SPORTS
