national ideals impossible. In serving involuntarily the German political group, we are exposed to the danger of aiding Bulgarian aspirations and the growth of Turkish power. Why not take part in a war which, to-morrow, will be inevitable?

He terminated his address by urging the Government not to let pass the occasion which is presented to the people, only once in a thousand years. His speech was frequently applauded.

Turkish Attack Easily Repulsed

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Turkish forces at the Dardanelles took the offensive on Nov. 4th and made four attacks on the positions of the Entente Allies. All the attacks were repulsed. An official statement says:—"Between 8.30 and 9.30 p.m. on the night of the 4th inst. the Turks attacked four times against our extreme right, in the Anzac sector. The enemy advanced with filled sand bags and built small barricades. On each occasion they were repulsed with bomb and rifle fire. By 11 p.m. all was quiet, although during the attack there was considerable firing demonstrations by the enemy against different portions of our line, no other attack was attempted. Our casualties were very light."

Morning Post Refuses to Cease Its Attacks

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Political circles were exercised today by the Morning Post's rejoinder to the Lord Chancellor, who thinks the Press should be prevented from criticising individuals. The Post refuses to cease its attacks and declares if it said all it could say some Ministers might be swept from office. GREECE'S ATTITUDE STILL CAUSES MUCH ALARM AMONGST ALLIES

The Last 24 Hours Has Rather Complicated Than Clarified the Greek Situation and is Causing Entente Powers Much Concern

KING URGES ZAIMIS TO RETAIN PREMIERSHIP

While Greece Hesitates Serbs Northern Army is Being Slowly but Surely Ground Down Before Combined Pressure of Austria-German-Bulgar Forces

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Another 24 hours has complicated rather than clarified the situation in Greece and the attitude of the King of that country is causing the Entente Powers much concern, as he is apparently determined that Zaimis shall remain in office as Prime Minister. King Constantine today urged him to the retain the Premiership, but according to Athens' despatches, however, Zaimis declined to acquiesce to the King's desire, whereupon the King called a council of Ministers to a deliberation, which may or may not determine whether Greece is to align herself against Bulgaria or persist in her attitude of benevolent neutrality, which means, that though Allied troops may cross her soil, her armies shall not aid them in driving the Bulgarians from Serbia. While Greece hesitates, the Serbian Northern army is being slowly but surely ground down before the combined pressure of Austro-German and Bulgarian forces. The fate of Nish hangs by a hair, and it is only at the Southern battle front that the Bulgarians are meeting with any reverses. There, according to reports, the British are co-operating with the French, but as, heretofore, these reports are unofficial and fragmentary, and it cannot be said on authority whether the British are in touch with their new enemy. If the Bulgar-Teuton tide is to be turned, the best opinion here thinks that it will be some weeks hence, involving a period of uncertainty such as preceded the stand before Paris and on the Yser, but giving the Entente Powers a month's time, it is argued they can throw three hundred thousand, perhaps five hundred thousand men into Serbia, not including the Russians. With such a force, not only to dispute the Central Powers, but to contest Bulgaria's occupation of Serbian Macedonia. The Germans remain on the defensive, both East and West, neither theatre developing any large battle, as modern battles are reckoned. The Turks continue to be sporadic as recorded in to-night's British official communication from the Gallipoli Peninsula. This says the Turks launched attacks against the British but they did not dent the British line.

Public Have Faith In Kitchener

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The prompt official denial of the report that Kitchener had resigned was welcomed by the public, which has pinned its faith in the man who has succeeded within one year of turning a purely industrial community into a great war camp. The official announcement of the Field Marshal's temporary absence from the War Office is in accordance with public expectation. Asquith, who takes charge of the departmental work during Earl Kitchener's absence, had experience in the War Office shortly before the outbreak of the war.

GRAIN COMPETITION

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Roumanian Government has decided to abolish the prohibition of the export of grain in carloads. The measure is interpreted here as an effect in opening of navigation on the Danube, which enables Bulgarian grain to compete with Roumanian in Austria and Germany.

MISS CAVELL

Poor martyred maid, They gentle hands shall tend No more with loving care they foe or friend, So lowly laid.

O, calm, brave eyes, Fearless before the Huns, What Vision savest thou beyond the guns That blinded thee?

Heardst thou a voice Above the musketry—"Thou didst bless the stranger in his wretchedness; Rejoice, rejoice."

And near thy heart, That knew not fear or sin, Thy helpless hands thy country's flag didst pin! Our hot tears start.

We are thy kin, Thy weeping sister tears Shall petrify our hearts until a million warriors' blood-stained spears shall match Thy blood-stained pin.

"I die for England's sake." Beyond caress, Thou shalt not see thy murderers' stress. She doeth better, who didst bless "The stranger in his wretchedness."

—Arthur H. W. Rice, Camberwell Batt., National Reserve. Toronto, Oct. 27.

"Mort Pour La Patrie"

M. Edward Huysmans, the son of the late Belgian Minister of State, has just communicated to the French Press the contents of his father's will, in which the following moving lines are to be found:

"Despite the generous efforts bestowed by France, despite the solemn oaths of the Allied peoples to be avenged and to render Belgium back her independence and her liberty after freeing her from the hands of the barbarians, despite the hope which I still retain of seeing the realization of this most magnificent dream, the fulfilment of this solemn pledge of honor—which I am absolutely confident that I shall no longer be in this world when that hour comes. Grief at this thought consumes me—may, it is killing me—and it is in French soil that my mortal remains will be interred.

"I ask that there be placed on my tomb a simple cross with an inscription bearing the words, 'Mort pour la patrie,' because it is for her that I am dying before my time. Adieu, oh Belgium! cherished one; adieu, my King; adieu, my wife and children; adieu friends and fellow citizens."

DEATH DUEL SIXTY FEET IN THE AIR

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 30.—A horrified crowd last week saw a death duel 60 feet in the air on an arch of the new high level bridge over the Cuyahoga River, in which Frank Wright, storekeeper for Bridge contractors, was killed by a fellow workman with an iron bar.

The killing was witnessed by Wright's wife, who was making her way up to him with his lunch. Police have arrested Jack Browning in connection with the crime. The killing was preceded with a grim struggle in which the two men wrestled back and forth on the arch and both came near falling into the river several times. After Wright had been slain, the assailant jumped from platform to platform until he reached the ground. He fled.
