LOOKING FOR SITE

President Murray and Dean Rutherford Visit Saskatoon and Look at Sites—Many Locations Offered—Options Taken.

As announced in yesterday's issue of the Capital, President Murray and Dean Rutherford of the university arrived from the south yesterday, although neither of the local governments were expecting them till today or later. The professors were not long in getting down to the business of their visit, and Governor James Chisholm was out in the afternoon with President Murray and Dean Rutherford, viewing the sites which had been offered on this side of the river, from John Art's place to the G.T.P. There were four definite sites offered along this route, and on which the government have an option. Today Governor Bell goes with the officers to inspect the sites on the other side of the river. Mr. Chisholm stated that the offers all called for very moderate prices, in all cases the figures being actually under the market price. The committee will report to the governors at a meeting which it is intended to call within two weeks, and it is the intention to close the matter of the purchase without any delay so that the parties selling shall not be kept out of their money for any undue period.

Seen at the Flanagan this morning President Murray expressed his great pleasure at the enthusiastic appreciation shown by the citizens of Saskatoon of the decision to locate the university here. He looked upon this appreciation as a good augury, and one that would be of material benefit to the institution and aid very considerably in its development to the position amongst universities which he hoped to see the Saskatchewan university attain. There were four or five sites to be seen today. Dean Rutherford would be able to decide which property would be the most suitable, as the agricultural college was the section of the university to be considered when making the final selection. It was necessary that the site should be large enough for practical agriculture and also of suitable soil. There should be no delay in making a final decision. The errors had power to make a contract for the purchase of the land, but the contract would be subject to the ratification of the government, as the government had to make the payment. "This was only fair," "You know," said Prof. Murray, with a twinkle, "we might make a contract for a million dollar site, which would be altogether too much for the government to pay." The president said he hoped they would have their selection made very shortly and the matter closed.

Speaking of the staff and work to be undertaken by the university, the president said: "We expect to appoint five professors this year in the arts section, and these will be increased to six or eight next year. It is expected that the first professors will be in classics, English, mathematics, history and political economy, and science subjects depend entirely upon the men. I shall take the philosophy myself. "There will be scholarships for high schools and collegiate institutes in the province, and there are about twelve. Each of these will have the right to nominate a scholar. That scholar will receive $25 a year, or $100 in the four years of the university course. In addition there are two scholarships for students in the first year, and two of $75 for students in the second year. Thus each high school may send any boy or girl who is qualified and he or she will get a scholarship of $100, and then to those who are not nominated by the collegiates there are still four scholarships in the university open to all. The idea is to get as many schools as possible to take up the university work in the province. The scholarships to collegiate students will be awarded as a result of the examination held by the department of education in June.

"Students from the collegiates may enter the university, either by passing the junior matriculation examination and entering on the first year university course, or by passing the senior matriculation and entering for second year work in the university. Teachers holding second class certificates will be admitted to the second year course, and will have the opportunity of passing in foreign languages at a later date. Teachers holding first class certificates may enter for second year course. The scholarships of the university will be awarded for standing in all subjects of the whole examination." A. J. McPherson of Regina, speaking of the location of the university, said that he was very glad Regina had not got the institution as she would never appreciate it. "Regina thinks more of being the capital of the province than anything else, and if the university had gone to Regina it would have been lost in the capital, whereas, by placing it at Saskatoon it will be fully appreciated by the people of the province, and they will see to it that the city live up to the university." EX-BOSS SURRENDERS

Los Angeles, Cal., April 17.—The elusive and thrifty Nick Oswald, the smiling debonaire ex-boss of the tendorin, surrendered himself to Detective Blair, of a private detective agency Saturday night and appeared before the grand jury this morning to give much wanted testimony concerning alleged tendorin graft. Prior to the convening of the grand jury, District Attorney Fredericks had a long conference with Oswald, at the conclusion of which Oswald was released on $5,000 bonds. Oswald showed no disposition to be communicative, and refused to make known his place of sojourn during the last few weeks.

Frederickton, N.B., April 16.—In the legislature today, questions were put by Hon. Mr. McKown and answered by Premier Hazen regarding the Landry commission in the Central railway investigation. The most important was the following: "Is the government aware that the evidence taken before the said commission shows that the founder's shares in the company were $43,000 instead of $430,000." "The chairman of the commission informs the government that the figures $430,000 and $500,000 mentioned are typographical errors and should be $43,000 and $50,000 respectively. The government does not think it necessary to return the report to the commission for correction of these errors."

DISCIPLINED ANARCHY

Prevails in Constantinople—Young Turks Committee Try to Save the Constitution Which They Claim Sultan is Destroying.

Berlin, April 17.—A despatch to the Lokal Anzeiger, from Ristowatz says that after a great meeting there the young Turks telegraphed the Sultan: "We are marching on Constantinople in order to save the constitution you are trying to abolish." The Belgrade correspondent of the same paper says the Turkish minister there is reported to have written a dispatch saying that Pera and Galata quarters in Constantinople had been bombarded and that 2,000 persons had been killed. Constantinople, April 17.—It is learned that the troops of the garrison at Saloniki, which remained faithful to the young Turk committee, intend to take action to put an end to the present situation, which they consider a menace to the constitution. A number of battalions will shortly arrive at Thessalonika. The advance guard consists of two battalions, which will be closely followed by another.

The troops of the third army corps at Adrianople are, however, adherents of the young Turk committee and are faithful to the Sultan. They have already taken measures to move at once on Thessalonika to stop the forward march of the troops from Saloniki on Constantinople. It remains to be seen whether they will fraternize or whether there will be an armed conflict.

A state of anarchy still prevails at Constantinople, but it is disciplined anarchy. In spite of the fact that police order is perfect everywhere, the Sultan has ordered a squadron of hussars to return to the Golden Horn.

In negotiations between Turkey and Bulgaria one of the main conditions within four or five days is to break them off and leave for Sofia. Vienna, April 17.—The foreign office has no intention of intervening in Turkey unless Austrian subjects are endangered. A dispatch to the New York Press from Saloniki says that the young Turk committee ordered the third army corps at Adrianople to march against Constantinople, but that the officers answered that it was impossible to obey the order, as the attitude of the troops had become doubtful. The despatch further says that the young Turk committee in Asia Minor, have reported to the Saloniki committee that they were preventing the embarkation of troops ordered to Constantinople by the authorities at the Yildiz Kiosk. The Zet's Ulukob correspondent reports that the Albanians have risen and defeated the Turkish troops at Ockrida and Patch.

Vancouver, April 17.—Deputy lumber will no doubt be the result of the meeting of the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association here. Though no action has been definitely taken, there is no doubt that the prices will raise within a few days. The average price of lumber is about $10 per 1000, while the mill men say it costs 10 cents per 1000.

RATS INVADE MANITOBA

Southern Manitoba Overrun With the Pest—Worse Than Wolves—In Flocks Around Old Buildings—Government May Assist to Exterminate.

The rat invasion which has been reported from points on the Manitoba side of the international boundary line is far more serious than was at first supposed, and it is now apparent that an invasion is threatened that may be appalling in its loss to the Manitoba farmer. The situation is being disclosed by an authority that is being instituted by the Winnipeg board of trade.

Ten days ago the rat question was brought to the notice of the board of trade through the wholesale hardware dealers, who reported that they were receiving orders for rat traps in large numbers from the boundary country, the orders being so heavy that the wholesalers had to import in large numbers in order to meet the demand. The board communicated with Hon. R. P. Roblin, minister of agriculture, drawing attention to the reports and suggesting that an officer of the department be sent out to investigate the situation. The proposition was that the board name specific points to which he should send a man.

To obtain this information the board last Thursday addressed letters to all the postmasters from Ste. Agathe north to the boundary, and also to several in Minnesota and the Dakotas, in which it was stated that the board, designed to obtain all the information possible regarding the extent of this evil, and as to whether the rats were showing themselves in the towns only, or were also invading the farm buildings and grain stacks. Replies have already been received from Letellier, Morris, Embert and Rosenfeldt.

The Morris postmaster says: "The rats are not the same species as those found in Ontario, at least they are not so large. There is no farmer between here and Emerson for eight miles east and west of the Red River, who is not infested with them. There are hundreds of them. A farmer named St. Godard moved a small granary the other day and killed 84, and A. J. Pawcett, while putting in a floor in an old stable, killed dozens of them. He said they were just like a flock of sheep. The stores have suffered more or less with them this winter, and yesterday some little boys caught 17 with a rat trap at the residence of Mr. Packer the butcher. One or two were seen here last fall late in the season, but it was after Christmas before they became noticeable, and now there are thousands of them. They have not been noticed north of Morris yet, but they will surely be in Winnipeg very shortly if something is not done immediately to prevent them."

The Letellier correspondent states: "I beg to say that around here on farms and villages there are so many of them they are worse than wolves of any other animal. They are doing much damage to buildings and their contents. With the help they dig through granaries the farmers are losing their grain. One around here found about 80 bushels of wheat under the floor. They will chew harness and often attack chickens. Some are trying to destroy them catch 15 and 30 every night. One rat introduced himself in our cellar here one night and tore the bottom of 10 bags of potatoes. No bag can be kept around the stables or granaries. A man has to see the damage they do to believe it. At Rosenfeldt this is the situation: "Rats have made their appearance here in large numbers, both in towns and about farm buildings, principally in the stables and hog pens. As they were first noticed here last fall, it is a possibility of whether they are around grain stacks, but as nearly all grain is threshed from the stack here, I do not think they will do any damage to grain in stack."

The information already received, C. N. Bell, secretary of the board of trade, said this morning: "The board is endeavoring to secure information and submit it to Premier Roblin, but no suggestion has been made to him as to what should be done. It might be possible to send out men with expert knowledge of the animals, and how to exterminate them. As the rats are not stopped, the loss to this province will be something enormous. If they ever get in to Winnipeg they will overrun the province and on to the west. They will be here for all time. Northwest, standing the cold climate, they will become acclimatized, and remain as a permanent nuisance. They are not only destructive, but they are the carriers of disease. This is not the small black variety, which, as is well known, has been gradually driven out of its original territory by the grey rat. From time to time it migrates in large numbers. I have no doubt the present invasion of the province from the southern Manitoba is due to a migration from the larger cities and towns of Minnesota.

SCENE AT FUNERAL

London, April 17.—The funeral of Algernon Charles Swinburne, the poet, at Bonchurch, Isle of Wight, was carried out in contradiction to his wishes and the deviation led to a painful scene at the grave. In his will the poet expressly forbade the holding of any religious services. T. Watts-Dunton, Swinburne's executor, telegraphed to the rector of the parish of Bonchurch, who replied that he would follow Mr. Watts-Dunton's instructions. "When, therefore," the courtage started for the graveyard, and the voice of the rector was heard in the opening sentences of the Episcopal funeral services, amazement and anger were shown in the faces of the mourners.

Mrs. Watts-Dunton, attempted to make a protest but was restrained by one of the other mourners. When the grave was reached the rector announced that the non-religious service which had been planned, could not take place. He added, however, a few words of appreciation of the noble poet and the mourners were appeased for a time, but when the passage was re-awakened when the rector assumed the burial service, at the passage beginning "Man who was born of woman."

Never before, perhaps, has that sentence been received at a graveside with muttered exclamations of "shame" and "scandalous," as it was on this occasion by the chief mourners. The clergyman proceeded relentlessly, stopping at "earth to earth," and omitting "in the hope of a glorious resurrection." The mourners although deeply indignant at the disregard of the poet's last wishes, refrained from open protest after the first exclamations.

JUDGE NOT GUILTY

Spokane, Wash., April 15.—What is declared to be the first instance in the history of the Northwest where a judge of court of record has been cited for contempt, and probably the only case where one has been hailed before a brother jurist to show cause why he should not be punished, has come to an abrupt close in the Spokane county superior court. Judge William E. Henke decided in a very lengthy opinion that Judge E. H. Sullivan, his brother P. C. Sullivan, of Seattle, and E. H. Nodum, of Spokane, were not guilty of contempt when they discussed among themselves the testimony given before a grand jury in the M. J. Gordon case, in which the two last named appeared as counsel for Gordon. Judge Henke said that neither the state nor counsel for the defence had cited a single instance involving the question presented, nor had the court been able to find a case bearing upon the matter. The court held also that the secrecy of the grand jury proceedings should be maintained at the expense of free speech, the fact that a witness did not testify, and that a witness would not of itself place him in contempt of court.

PROPOSALS FOR DEFENCE

London, April 16.—The commonwealth government has made the following proposals for naval defence to the imperial government: To continue the present armament until 1913; to employ the destroyers for Australian defence and borrow officers from England and send Australians here for training. Outside of Australian waters to put the force in charge of British officer of the station visited in war-time to land fleet unreserved to the admiralty, to maintain naval base for British ships and not to maintain submarines. Victoria, April 16.—Treasurer Watt suggests inviting "Lord Berosford" to before a brother jurist to show cause why he should not be punished, has
