He did his duty day by day.
He wronged no one, but toiled away.
With love for all mankind.
He saved a little now and then,
He worshipped Gold and trusted men,
And sighed not nor repined.

He struck it rich by chance one day,
And threw the tools he used away,
And friends flocked round him
then!
But one thing that! he had before—
That gave him joy—is his no more,
He's lost his faith in men.

He looks upon all men to-day As wolves who'd steal his v

Who'd cheat him if they could!
What say you? Are his heaps of gold.
Worth what he gave—the faith of old
