This is an oddity and a sample of London authority. We have an inspector of our own, and if the people of this district will wait till he orders them to stop it will be in plenty of time as the Government no doubt will give him any orders necessary to protect this fishing territory. The London police force may come down soon."

The remaining family are two sons and two daughters whose parents are remembered among the most honored of the earlier settlers in the country.

STRIKES THE SOURCE.

A Pile Cure That Goes to the Root of the Disease.

There are lots of lotions, oils and salves that will, through their influence, relieve temporarily the pain incident to piles. But is that all the sufferer requires? Isn't it a horrible thought to realize that the cause is only temporary and the disease goes on under the surface without a moment's interruption? Wouldn't it be wiser to select a remedy that seeks the source and eradicates the disease? Pyramidal Pile Cure not only relieves the pain at once, but effects a permanent cure of the worst form of piles.

You don't have to go through a tedious course of dieting while using it. It strikes through those delicate membranes and tissues—and sets the blood in healthful circulation, resting at once the painful inflammation. This remedy is not a haphazard combination of drugs, but is a remedy invented by specialists who have treated piles and blood disorders successfully for years. Manufactured by the Pyramidal Drug Co., at Marshall, Mich. Almost any first-class druggist has it on sale.

Don't treat this disease with every lotion and oil that comes along. Remember the parts affected are among the most delicate in the human body. This remedy is absolutely safe and no one need fear to apply it freely on the most inflamed parts. The sufferer with which it allays the pain is an agreeable surprise to the sufferer.

THAMESVILLE

May 11.—Mrs. T. Smith, of Milwaukee, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Frank, 120 Congress street.

The Wednesday session of the village council, though brief, was not lacking in importance. The meeting was a special one, and the first thing on the program was the receipt of the resignation of Reeve Howat, which the council accepted. It is understood that Mr. Howat resigned his office owing to his not being in accord with the views of the rest of the council regarding the installation of a public weighing outfit in the rear of the fire hall. The notices for the nomination of Reeve will be published at once.

Rev. Mr. Munro, of Ridgeway, will occupy the pulpit in St. James' Presbyterian church on Sunday next.

KEEP THE BALANCE UP

It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite, or to get tired easily, the least imprudence brings on sickness, weakness or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What this medicine has done in keeping people healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive. The joys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine. Take Hood's for appetite, strength, and endurance.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

All in the April evening
April airs were abroad,
The sheep with their little lambs
Passed me on the road.

The sheep with their little lambs
Passed me on the road;
All in the April evening
I thought on the Lamb of God.

The lambs were weary and crying
With a weak, human cry,
I thought on the Lamb of God
Going meekly to die.

Up in the blue, blue mountains,
Dewy pastures are sweet,
Rest for the little bodies,
Rest for the little feet.

But for the Lamb of God,
Up on the hill-top green,
O'er a cross of shame,
Two stark crosses between.

All in the April evening,
April airs were abroad,
I saw the sheep with their little lambs,
And thought of the Lamb of God.

—Katharine Tynan Kinkson.

VANDERBILT'S BOOKKEEPING.

When Samuel Barton, the well known Wall street broker, and now of the firm of Messrs. J. W. Davis & Co., was a poor boy, he studied law in S. L. M. Barlow's office. One day he received a curt summons from his uncle, Commodore Vanderbilt, and, dutifully obeying, he found that brusque but potential old gentleman wanted of him. He found the Commodore in a high state of indignation over the faithlessness of a trusted cashier.

"Sam, I've sent for you because I want you to be my cashier," exclaimed the founder of the Vanderbilt riches, vehemently.

"But, uncle, I don't know anything about bookkeeping," protested young Barton.

"Bookkeeping be blowed!" shouted the old Commodore. "You know enough to be honest, don't you?"

"Yes, sir," promptly responded the astounded boy.

"Well, you know how to take money when it is paid to you don't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you know how to pay bills when I tell you to pay 'em, don't you?"

"Certainly."

"Then you would know enough to give me the balance of the money, wouldn't you?"

"Of course," said Barton.

"Well, that's bookkeeping!"

And Sam Barton filled the bill to his uncle's satisfaction for several years.—New York Times.

A GIRL'S JOY.

I'm glad I am a little girl,
And have the afternoons for play;
For if I was a busy bee,
I s'pose I'd have to work all day.

And if I was an owl, I'd be
Afraid to keep awake all night;
And if I was a elephant,
How could I learn to be polite?

And if I was a Jersey calf,
I might forget my name and age;
And if I was a little dog,
I couldn't read the children's page.

My sakes! When I begin to count,
It makes my head go all awirl;
There are so many reasons why
I'm glad I am a little girl.

—Youth's Companion.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

Honor the dear old mother. Time has scattered snowy flakes on her cheeks, and plowed deep furrows on her forehead, but she is not sweet and beautiful now? The lips are thin and shrunken, but those are the lips that have kissed many a hot tear from childish cheeks and that are the sweetest lips in the world; the eye is dim, yet it glows with the soft radiance that never can fade. Ah, yes, she is a dear old mother. The sands of life are nearly run out, but, feeble as she is, she will go further and reach down lower for you than any other person on earth. You cannot enter a prison whose bars keep her out. You cannot mount a scaffold too high for her to reach, that she may kiss and bless you in evidence of her deathless love. When the world shall despise and forsake you, when it leaves you by the wayside to perish unnoticed; the dear old mother will gather you in her arms and carry you to her home, and tell you of all your virtues until you almost forget that your soul is disfigured by vices. Love her tenderly and cheer her declining years with holy devotion.—T. J. Ryan.
