

most commence operations without us. This explanation also accounts for the visit of Lord Elgin, first to China, and then to India, and his return again to China. The communication of which Lord Elgin was the unconscious bearer, seems to have been a very ingenious one. The notion, Yeh, it seems, when Lord Elgin departed for Calcutta, issued a proclamation in the usual bombastic style of the Chinese, to the effect that the barbarians had been frightened away by the imperial army, which was then as "numerous as the countless leaves of the forest."

Nothing has come of the Royal interviews as far as the public are concerned, and the official note which was said to be the result of the Emperor's visit to the King, and his agents at foreign Courts has not been issued. It is certain that the Emperor of Russia and Austria met at Weimar, and that they were closeted together several hours,—and that the latter was a Russian uniform on the occasion. These appear to be nearly all the facts which have transpired on the subject. The visit of the Emperor Napoleon to Berlin has been indefinitely postponed, but Prince Metaxa, the bearer of an autograph from the Emperor to the King, has returned to Paris with an autograph note from the King to the Emperor.

SIR COLIN CAMPBELL AT CALCUTTA.
We (North British Mail) are happy to state that, from instructions received by the Commander-in-Chief, Calcutta, August 29, Sir Colin Campbell, who arrived on the 14th August, was in perfect health at Calcutta at that time, and had taken the command of the army. On the 17th of that month he issued the following proclamation to the troops in India:—

"BY THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.
"Her Majesty having been graciously pleased to appoint me Commander-in-Chief of the forces in India, in the room of the late Lieutenant-General the Duke of Wellington, Her Majesty has also been graciously pleased to confer upon me the rank of General in the East Indies, I now assume the command of the army in India.

"In doing so it affords me the highest satisfaction to find under my orders troops who have so fully proved themselves, in the recent arduous operations in the field, to be what I have ever known British soldiers in every quarter of the globe: courageous, obedient, and obediently obedient.

"In former years I have commanded native troops of India, and by their side, I have been in many battles and victories in which they have nobly borne their part, and I have seen them distinguished by their gallantry and valor, of whom I had been accustomed to think so favorably should be arrayed in open and defiant mutiny against a government provided for the liberty and national consideration with which it has ever treated its servants of every denomination.

"When I join the force now in the field restoring order in the districts disturbed by the insurrection in the provinces of Bengal, I shall, at the head of the British troops, and of those native soldiers who, though few in number, have not feared to sacrifice themselves for their faithful comrades and to adhere to their duty, feel my old confidence that they will march to certain victory.

"I shall not fail to notice, and the powerful Government which I have the honor to serve will not fail to reward, every instance of fidelity and valor shown by the troops under my command.

"I call upon the officers and men of both European and native troops to assist me in the task before me, and, by the blessing of God, we shall soon again see India tranquil and prosperous.

"C. CAMPBELL, General,
"Calcutta, Aug. 17."
"Commander-in-Chief.

THE LEAVE BEYOND THE BARRIERS.—This unfortunate gentleman, whose atrocious murder by some unknown assassin is confirmed by the last mail from Calcutta, was the eldest son of the Right Honourable Lawrence Sullivan and the Honourable Elizabeth Sullivan, youngest sister of Viscount Palmerston. He was educated at John's College, Cambridge, and from there proceeded to a college in the foreign office, where he was successively press and private secretary to Viscount Palmerston. After a short period he was appointed to the post of Legation, Liabon, Turin, and Munich, and successful settlement of the sulphur question at Naples, in conjunction with Sir Woodbine Parish, he was appointed chargé d'affaires, and consular general at Calcutta, where he was appointed by the British Government in 1852 for a similar post at Peru. During the five years that he continued at Lima, he performed the duties of his station with energy and success, and the sudden and mysterious death of the Emperor at the early age of 44, has called forth the deepest expressions of sympathy and regret among all classes of the inhabitants. He was in the British consulate at Lima on the 15th August, with every hope that the Peruvian authorities could bestow, and no pains or expense were spared to detect the authors of the atrocious deed. Besides the numerous letters of sympathy and reward has been offered by the British Government, and we still trust that so execrable a crime will not long go undetected and unpunished.

THE Czar's VISIT TO THE FRONTIER.—The Czar returned to Germany with the profound object of accompanying the Emperor, his consort, back to St. Petersburg. Her Imperial Majesty was staying with her relations at Darmstadt. There it would have been natural to have expected the Emperor to have accompanied the Czar, however, selected on the express plea that the Emperor's health did not permit of his participation in the gaieties and fatigues of such a meeting. This capital having been chosen as the scene of the interview, the Emperor and the Empress Eugenie accompanied Louis Napoleon. No sooner, however, was the absence of that illustrious lady certain, than the miserable Russian subterfuge became apparent. The Emperor of Russia, who is the plausible may be the diplomatic excuse invented to the guise it; and the Emperor of the French will, indeed, be unworthy of the grace and beauty which he has placed in the throne, if he be not a more dignified and honorable monarch and ruler. When on the banks of the Rhine, it was the place of the Czar to have sought an interview at Paris. Instead, he sent his brother Constantine, who disengaged all France by his conduct, and the Emperor at Stuttgart had the bad taste to allow his wife to insult the Emperor of the French. Well, under such circumstances, might the intercourse between the two monarchs be of the formal and reserved character which is ascribed to it.—Daily News.

ENGLISH RULE IN INDIA.—The Spectator contains an article on Indian affairs, from which we extract the following passages:—"A century ago the inevitable ruin of England was the consequence of the American rebellion. The ancient transatlantic colonies of England now form a grand independent nation; they have freed themselves completely from the monopoly, from the tyranny if you wish, of England, and neither the strength nor the wealth of the British empire has diminished. There exists, in fact, something more in the power of England than her more dominion in America or Asia. There exists the genius of liberty, the spirit of free discussion, and the sentiment of progress in all matters. It has been sought to compare the efforts of Nema Sahib with the noble exertions made by Poland or Italy to reconquer their nationality. We protest against this comparison. There exists a very great difference between a nation striving to regain its independence, and the Mussulman horde which destroy all that European civilization has sought to found in India, and whose first act would be to rive the chains of the Hindoos. The question at issue does not lie between English domination and Indian independence. India could not govern itself for any length of time, and we see only the Russians who could profit by the defeat of the English on the banks of the Ganges. Between Russia and England we cannot hesitate, for one represents modern and civilized ideas, while the other is more Asiatic than European, and can propagate only ignorance and servitude."

THE JENNERA PROPERTY.—The right heir to the enormous wealth of the Jenner family has at last been found in the person of Mr. Joseph Jenner; and an eminent lawyer of Liverpool has recently obtained administration for the heir-at-law from Doctors Commons, to Elizabeth Jenner, otherwise Jenner, the daughter and heiress of John Jenner, of Colechester, who was the last male heir of the family and her general of the Jenner. The personal property to which this administration will extend is supposed to amount to over £15,000,000. The real estate are equally large, the rental being estimated at £150,000 per annum. The principal landed properties are situated in Birmingham, Edgworth, and in the counties of Warwick, Shropshire, Worcester, Gloucester, Derby, Nottingham, Leicestershire, Flint, Chester, Suffolk, and Essex. The appearance of a direct personal representative to the Jenner's will, it is thought, creates considerable uneasiness in a large circle of high and influential persons, and will, in all probability, lead to the discomfiture of a host of active claimants and anxious expectants who have been for years seeking to obtain a share of this almost fabulous accumulation of wealth.

THE LOSS OF A RUSSIAN VESSEL OF THE LINE WITH 826 LIVES.

The Journal of St. Petersburg of the 1st contains the following account, communicated by the Minister of Marine, of the recent loss of a vessel of the line, the Lefort:—"It has pleased Providence I should participate in one of the greatest disasters that can happen at sea, and to make me a witness of the instantaneous and inexplicable loss of one of the vessels in my fleet. A few minutes have sufficed for a beautiful ship of the line, thoroughly seaworthy, and engaged by the waves during a tempestuous night, to cry a cry of distress reached us from the scene of the disaster, although we were but four cables' length distant to windward. No one survives to explain to us the cause of this unparalleled catastrophe.

"On the 28th Aug. (Sept. 9), four ships of the line, the Imperatrice Alexandra, the Vladimir, the Lefort of 84 guns, and the Pamiat Avraa, of 74 guns, which were in the port of Revel, received orders to arm and return to Cronstadt. Ten days afterwards the Pamiat Avraa quitted the roads, towed by a steam-boat. The three other vessels were ready to set sail two days later; they had water and provisions for a month, and their stowage was the same as at the end of their cruise in the preceding year; the Lefort was thoroughly repaired at Cronstadt in 1852. I had received instructions to proceed by the favourable weather to set sail, without waiting for the steam-tugs. On the 9th of September (21st) I got under sail with beautiful weather and a favourable breeze from S. S. W. the barometer marking 29.70 English. A little later we were obliged to tack in two reefs in the topsails. At half-past 8, p.m., after passing the island of Hoopland, the fleet was making more than eleven knots. The wind increased to a moderate third, and at a fourth reef, to be taken in. The barometer being at 29.15, and the weather foggy, we sailed as close as possible to the shore, endeavouring to keep our course by short tacks, until morning; each time I gave the signal for the manoeuvre. At half-past 11, the wind shifted to the west, at midnight to the N. W., and at four o'clock to the north, with squalls and rain. At daylight we were near the island of Grotto. The fleet was on the starboard tack, the Imperatrice Alexandra a little to windward, and the Vladimir in the wake of the Lefort, with four reefs in her topsails.

"At a distance of five miles from Grotto, and during our manoeuvre the Lefort appeared to us as if drifting to leeward; suddenly a violent squall laid her on her side. Though her sails were let go, she heeled over so much to leeward that we expected her to be smashed, but she continued gradually to lean over till she foundered in the short time that the Vladimir took to tack about. The keel of the Lefort appeared once, and then she swallowed up in the waves.

"Exclusive of the commander and twelve officers, the vessel had on board 748 seamen, 53 women, and 17 children. This disaster took place on September 10 (22), at 23 minutes past seven a.m., at 6 miles to the N.N.E. of the island of Grand-Tuor, at a depth of 30 fathoms. After this unparalleled catastrophe, the military intelligence we were braced up the fore-top-sail and top-gallant sails, and afterwards the main-top-sails, and decided to anchor at a depth of 31 fathoms, letting out all the cable of two anchors. Fifty-one hours later, on the 17th, the remains of the Lefort were seen in the distance, towed to Cronstadt.

"Signed by the Rear-Admiral NORDMAN."

LIVERPOOL, Friday Evening.—The Directors of the Bank of England found themselves compelled to advance £1,000,000 to the Government, and the amount advanced at present is 6 per cent. The heavy demand for accommodations at the Bank and the large withdrawals of Gold for the Continent, have called forth this step.

The suddenness of the renewed drain of Gold which has led to this step has taken the public by surprise, because they were not prepared for the extraordinary services by the two last months. Allowing that the intelligence that intelligence there is nothing in the movement to create alarm, although there is a high probability it may soon be repeated. The suddenness of the renewed drain of Gold which has led to this step has taken the public by surprise, because they were not prepared for the extraordinary services by the two last months. Allowing that the intelligence that intelligence there is nothing in the movement to create alarm, although there is a high probability it may soon be repeated. The suddenness of the renewed drain of Gold which has led to this step has taken the public by surprise, because they were not prepared for the extraordinary services by the two last months. Allowing that the intelligence that intelligence there is nothing in the movement to create alarm, although there is a high probability it may soon be repeated.

THE COURT IN THE HIGHLANDS.—The Court has enjoyed a month of the most beautiful and bracing weather this year which has ever been experienced in the Highlands of Scotland. The Queen has made to the tops of the principal mountains, and has been accompanied by the most distinguished sketches of the surrounding scenery. The Prince Consort has been most engaged in the Deer-forest, and has killed a number of fine stags, but he has not been so good as that of last season. Preaching before the Queen has become quite a feat, the more popular clergyman having had their sermons noticed by the Court. In one case, that of Mr. Caird, of Errol, whose sermon preached before the Court two years ago was published, the Rev. gentleman has received an autograph letter from the Queen commanding him to publish his sermon also. Another clergyman, the Rev. Mr. Stewart, has had her Majesty's thanks sent to him by Colonel Philipps, while a third, the Rev. Dr. Robertson, of Edinburgh, preached before the Court by command on Sunday.

PORTUGAL.—The Vacancies in the Portuguese Chamber of Deputies have been filled favourably to the Government. It is announced that Sir M. Peto has succeeded in organizing a company for undertaking the construction of railways in Portugal. The epidemic at Liabon is still regarded with much anxiety. The mortality has amounted to 100 in fifteen days, out of 300 attacked by it.

PERMIA.—A letter from Tabris states that the disturbances which recently broke out in Persia have been suppressed and the rebels severely punished. The outbreak was produced by a fanatical tribe hostile to the reigning dynasty.

FRANCE.
PARIS, Oct. 8.—It is reported that the Bank of France is about to raise the rate of discount. A meeting of the Emperor Napoleon and Francis Joseph is considered as not at all improbable. The King of Prussia is very anxious that such an interview should take place. A French Wheat fell 1/2 per cent to 100 francs on Wednesday.

ALARMING ILLNESS OF THE KING OF PRUSSIA.
The health of the King of Prussia has been rapidly getting worse during the last twenty-four hours. Great fears are entertained for his life. All the members of the royal family are assembled at Potsdam.

ENGLAND.
THE ARMY.—Major-General Taylor is married to the Colonel of the 50th Foot.
The Duchess of Cambridge and the Princess Mary, with the Commander-in-Chief, are about to pay a visit to Clumber, the seat of the Duke of Newcastle.
The Morning Advertiser says the Government of India has absolutely exhibited a most unworthy preference, and miserably subservience to a Priesthood that exercises an unchecked tyranny over it, and a daring defiance of those who seek concession after concession. All British India is parcelled out into Popish Hierarchies, and very largely occupied by a ferocious, ignorant, and very bigoted ecclesiastical staff. Convents and monasteries are multiplying, their inmates being drawn from the sons and daughters of our soldiers. In every Presidency these institutions have their newspapers, and periodicals, filled with rabid attacks upon the Government. By means of these publications, the most seditious addresses are unceasingly made to the soldiers, incalculating distrust of their officers and discontent with the service.

UNEXPECTED AID.—If the English in India can conquer the lightning on this side, they may conquer the lightning on the other. The recent news states that the king's magazine at Delhi was blown up by a providential stroke of lightning, killing nine hundred persons with one bolt, and destroying property to the amount of a million pounds sterling. A pretty effective shot!

The Protector & Christian Witness

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1857.

THE BERLIN CONFERENCE.

The last mail has brought us full details of the Great Meeting of the Evangelical Alliance at Berlin. The Conference was opened on Thursday the 10th September. On the preceding evening, a general prayer meeting was held, in which devotional exercises were conducted in German, by Pastor Kunzel, in French, by M. Fisch, of Paris, and by Baptist Noel in English. The entire number of members was 1251. Prussia had sent 576,—Germany, 103,—Spain, 12,—France, 12,—Switzerland, 11,—Italy, 3,—Holland, 11,—Belgium, 4,—Denmark, 11,—Sweden, 2,—Britain, 166,—Russia, 12,—Austria, 7,—Turkey, 2,—Greece, 2,—Asia, 3,—Africa, 3,—America, 23,—and Australia, 3. The opening address was delivered by the Court-Chaplain, Dr. Kuntze, of Potsdam, in which he used the following glowing words:—"Welcome, reverend sirs, and dear brethren, from east and west, from north and south, under the protecting wings of the Prussian Eagle, in the hospitable bosom of the state to which, for centuries, the name of Refuge of the Church of Christ has belonged, and which has held to her side, in the most trying and trying times of olden days to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before the eyes of old men to this hour, the union of true believers.—Welcome in the light of the favor and the friendship of Him whom the royal singer thus praises: 'How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust in the shadow of thy wings.' See to-day a beautiful image of our future union before