FREDERICTON, JULY 3, 1886.

THE CRISIS IN ENGLAND.

The defeat of the Liberal government of Great Britain and the accession to power of a Tory administration, attracts the attention of at least the whole English speaking world. Lord Salisbury, who leads the new government, has only been out of office since 1880, and many members of his old cabinet are with him in the new.

Next to the premier in importance is the Duke of Devonshire, better known by his courtesy title during the late duke's lifetime, Marquis of Hartington; was born July 23, 1831. He was made a peer of the admiralty in 1863, and secretary of state for war in 1866. He was postmaster general from 1868 to 1871, chief secretary for Ireland from 1871 to 1874, secretary of state for India from 1874 to 1882, and again secretary of state for war from 1882 to 1885. The duke was formerly a supporter of Mr. Gladstone, but upon the introduction of the Home Rule question, he abandoned his leader and assumed the position of leader of the Liberal-Unionist party in the house of commons.

The Right Honorable A. J. Balfour, the new first lord of the treasury, is a nephew of the Marquis of Salisbury. He was born in 1848, was appointed president of the local government board in 1885, and was secretary for Scotland, with a seat in the cabinet from 1886 to 1887. He became chief secretary for Ireland in 1887, and retained that position until 1891, when he became first lord of the treasury and leader of the house of commons, retaining that position until 1892, when the Salisbury government resigned.

Right Hon. George J. Goschen, first lord of the admiralty, was born in 1818, was first lord of the admiralty from 1868 to 1874, and was chancellor of the exchequer in Lord Salisbury's second administration, holding office until 1892.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Michael Edward Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, was born in 1837, was chief secretary for Ireland from 1874 to 1878, and secretary of state for the colonies from the last date until 1880. He was appointed chancellor of the exchequer in 1885, and again secretary for Ireland in 1886. He resigned the latter office March, 1887, but remained a member of the cabinet without office till January, 1888. He re-entered the cabinet in February, 1888, as president of the board of trade.

Rt. Hon. Lord George Francis Hamilton, secretary of state for India, is the third son of the Duke of Abercorn, and brother of Lady Lansdowne; born 1845, and was first lord of the admiralty 1885-86, and again August 1886-92.

Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies was formerly a Liberal, but left Gladstone on the Home Rule question.

Right Hon. Henry Chaplin, the new president of the local government board, was chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, 1885-6, and president of the board of agriculture with a seat in the cabinet, 1888-92.

Lord Lansdowne, the new secretary of state for war, is well known in Canada, as the predecessor of Lord Stanley of Preston, as Governor-General, and until succeeded by Lord Elgin, was vicerey of India. He is the fifth marquis, and was born in 1845, and is married to a daughter of the Duke of Devonshire. He has been a lord of the treasury, also parliamentary under secretary for war and under secretary of state for India. He served in Canada from 1883 to 1888.

Hardinge Stanley Giffard, lord high chancellor, (Lord Halsbury) was born in 1825, was solicitor general, 1875-80; M. P. for Lancashire, 1881-5, when he was raised to the Woolsack; again lord chancellor, 1887-92.

Viscount Cross, who has been made lord privy seal, was born in 1823; was secretary of state for the Home Office 1874-80, again in 1885; secretary of state for India, 1886-92; was formerly M. P. for Preston and Lancaster. His full name is Richard Ashleyton Cross.

Rt. Hon. Sir Henry James, M. P. for Bury, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, was solicitor general, 1873; attorney general, November, 1875 to February 1874; re-appointed 1880, and continued till 1885, is a Liberal, opposed Mr. Gladstone's home rule scheme.

The Earl of Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, was born in 1840. He has been parliamentary under secretary for war, and under secretary of state for the colonies; was lord privy seal from 1886 to 1892 under Lord Salisbury. He joined the Salisbury cabinet in 1887.

The most noticeable feature of the new appointments, says a London correspondent, is the inclusion in the cabinet of two more Liberal-Unionists, namely, Lord Lansdowne and Sir Henry James, making a representation of four for the following of the Duke of Devonshire and Mr. Chamberlain. The names of the cabinet generally are what might have been predicted with one or two exceptions. Lord Lansdowne has never previously held cabinet rank. When Lord Randolph Churchill left the Salisbury government in 1887, Lord Lansdowne, who had thrown in his lot with the Liberal-Unionists, was invited by Lord Salisbury to join his cabinet, but declined, and not long afterwards was sent a vicerey to India.

This Montreal Herald thinks the militia department has made a bad blunder in rescinding the order prohibiting military bands in uniform taking part in other than military functions. Military bands may now appear in any party or political demonstration in regulation uniform on receiving permission from the commanding officer of the battalion.

This session of parliament at Ottawa has been barren of useful legislation, but prolific in scandals. After an experience of seventeen years of Tory government, the people of Canada have made up their minds for a change, and if the present Tory ministers get back to parliament it will be to sit on the opposition benches.

The revival of trade in the United States observes an exchange is a hard nut for high-tariff advocates. They ascribed the recent depression to the reduction of the McKinley duties, and predicted that times would never be better till McKinleyism was re-established. But times are getting better so rapidly that some Republicans think it would be wise to take the tariff issue out of politics. Wages are being increased not through strikes but by voluntary action of employers, and manufacturers who protested that they would be ruined, find that the reduced duties on their products suit them quite as well as the old ones and the lighter duties on their raw material a good deal better.

The English post office department has completed the erection of the trunk wires intended to afford telephonic communication between London, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Dublin and other important towns, and the Postmaster-General felt that the first occasion on which the capitals of the three countries comprising the United Kingdom have been enabled to converse with each other was one of such exceptional interest that he invited the Lord Mayor of London to send the first telephonic message to his municipal colleagues, the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, the Lord Mayor of Dublin, and the Lord Provost of Glasgow.

This Chatham World has been hearing some political rumors which may or may not have some foundation. It says that private advice from Ottawa state Mr. Adams, M. P. for Northumberland, is to be appointed to the Senate as successor to Hon. K. F. Barnes, deceased. Should Mr. Adams be called to the Senate, it is expected that Hon. L. J. Tweedie will act as the government candidate in Northumberland county, and that Hon. John P. Burchill will succeed him as Surveyor General.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

The Manitoba Question a Very Disturbing Factor.
All is yet uncertainty regarding the course the government will pursue on the Manitoba school question.

Dr. Weldon, M. P. for Albert, dean of the Halifax law school and a constitutional scholar has views on the Manitoba school question rather adverse to the commonly accepted opinions of administrative responsibility.

"So far as I have been able to ascertain," he says, "the overwhelming weight of professional opinion favors the view that the promulgation of the remedial order in no way pledged the Government, or any member of the same, to support a remedial law in Parliament."

"In your judgment, though the government are not bound by having issued a remedial order, to introduce a remedial law, should they not take control of such a question in parliament?"

"Distinctly no; and for these reasons. The members of the government are well known to be divided on the merits of separate schools. Those members of the government who are in a minority on the question will most unjustly be put wrong before their constituencies and the country. If the government stakes its life on the passage of such a law, it will attract to its support the bulk of the Catholic vote. It will repeal the bulk of the Protestant."

"The country then will see this deplorable condition—two great parties divided, by a religious line. Furthermore, the government have no special competence, to deal with the matter of school law. They have no minister of education, and no departmental staff to favor them with detailed and expert knowledge. The further result of making this a party question will be to deprive of nomination, or to defeat at polls, a number of the most worthy members of parliament."

The Manitoba remedial bill is now being drafted by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, minister of justice. Three of his colleagues assure me that they will oppose it with all their might.

The bill now being drafted will be more sweeping than generally expected. It proposes, briefly, to establish a Bureau of education, possessing all the powers necessary for the organization of schools. This will carry with it the right to control, establish, carry on and maintain these schools, as well as the choice of text books.

W. F. MacLean, M. P., Conservative, writes to his paper, the Toronto World, as follows:

"Every day members ask one another as to the session is likely to end, and all seem to be in an equal state of doubt. Influential members on both sides of the house today expressed the opinion that prorogation would hardly take place before August. It is realized that remedial legislation is to be brought down but as to what its scope will be it is questionable whether even the government can yet say. The interesting announcement is made that Mr. Dalton McCarthy, M. P., has cancelled his passage for England, for which country he was to leave next week, and he will remain here to watch the course of the proposed remedial bill and presumably to fight it tooth and nail."

In the House of Commons yesterday, Hon. G. E. Foster referring to remedial legislation said: "The papers from the Manitoba legislature only came into our hands this morning. They will be taken into consideration at once, and the government will be able, I think, in a very short time to intimate to the house what course it proposes to pursue."

BRITISH ELECTION CAMPAIGN.
It is expected that all the Contests will be over before the last of July.

The dissolution of the Imperial parliament will most likely take place on July 10th.

On all sides the agents of both parties are actively preparing for the fray. The rust is being rubbed off the time-worn suits of political armor and all the old weapons of a British electoral campaign are being polished up to the highest point of brightness.

Quiet canvassing is already going on in some quarters and the Primrose League is preparing to rally to the standard of the Marquis of Salisbury, the army of Tories eager for the battle, the result of which is looked upon as certain to be a victory for Conservatism.

The campaign will begin in deadly earnest this week, when Lord Rosebery, the ex-Premier, will fire the first battery of his big guns for the Liberals in his speech at the Royal Albert Hall, South Kensington, and the same day Sir William Vernon Harcourt, ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer, will pour shot into the Tory ranks, in an address which he is to deliver at Derby, the seat which he has represented in parliament since 1880.

Following the booming of these heavy pieces of political artillery will be a fierce reply from the batteries of some of the leaders of the Conservative and Unionist parties, including the Marquis of Salisbury, the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour and the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, and then the firing will be taken up along the lines of both the Liberal and Conservative forces and the engagement will become general.

Every man on each side, who can be expected to win a vote by a speech, will be called upon to do so.

Official calculations fix the time of the dissolution of parliament at July 10. In pursuance of this election will be received in most of the boroughs on July 11, and the pollings will commence on the 15th, thus by July 20 most of the borough elections will be over.

The political character of the new parliament as determined by an impartial forecast gives the Unionists a slight majority.

The most sanguine Liberal estimate, as published by the Westminster Gazette, admits that the Unionists will gain 32 seats, which means a 64 vote on a division and entails a steady majority in parliament of 24. A thoroughly non-partisan view assigns to the Unionists a majority of 30.

The cabinet crisis has seemed to improve the Queen's health and renew her vigor and energy. She is surprisingly active in seeing the ministry and in discussing the new appointments.

Springfield.
June 24—Cropping is finished in this locality and road-making is in progress.

A gloom was cast over the settlement Friday last by the sudden death from heart trouble of Mrs. Chas. Love. Mrs. Love had been in poor health for some time past, but hopes were entertained for her recovery. Friday morning she arose and prepared the morning meal as usual after partaking of which she complained of severe pain. Dr. Owens, of Millville, was summoned, but she expired a few minutes after his arrival at noon. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Love in his sad bereavement.

Mrs. Jessie Clark, ex, is again very ill. Mrs. Harry Prescott is fast sinking under that dread disease, consumption. Our boys and girls are marketing large quantities of wild strawberries.

Jesse Clark spent last week in Fredericton attending court.

Miss Nellie Knox is giving much satisfaction in her music class in this place.

Mrs. S. Howland has purchased a new organ this past week.

Mrs. A. Price and daughter, of Hainesville, paid a flying visit here this week.
