"My Donald," the Grand Old Man of the Empire.

We are in receipt of an excellent little booklet called Canada's Coeur de Lion and British Hearts of Oak. It contains the birthday greetings to Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada and President of the British and Foreign Sailors Society. The Secretary of this Society, Rev. Edward W. Matthews, is the author. He has spent a lifetime in the service of Sailors and has been called "Archbishop of the Sea." The fore-part of the book is taken up with appreciations of Lord Strathcona and contains a speech of congratulations from societies and persons of eminence. These include Premiers, heads of Universities and Colleges. A long appreciative message of Lord Strathcona from Premier Morris appears under the caption "What the Premiers Say." Then follows a series of chapters in a patriotic and inspiring strain to the boys and girls of the Empire. The first is on Strathcona the Silent—the Grand Old Man of the Empire who does things with a big heart and a silent tongue. The next is on "My Donald," and opens with the saying of the mother proud of her boy, who prophesies: "They'll be proud of my Donald yet." The spirit of the book may be sampled by this extract: "But to-day the schoolmaster is abroad. Yes, that is true, but in spite of schools there are thousands of lads, through stress and storm of human life, affliction and death, it may be poverty, trials to which flesh is heir, many boys start the race of life with tremendous odds against them. But there are merciful Providences, marvellous compensations to true-hearted, loyal-hearted, brave-hearted, God-fearing youths of our land here and beyond the Seas. It is a favourite doctrine of mine that every boy (or girl) is destined in

A Big Fire!

Old Alexander Street Church and Three Dwellings Totally Destroyed.

At 12.25 p.m. to-day an alarm of fire was sent in from box 334 at the foot of Alexander Street. The firemen of the West End and Central stations quickly turned out with their fire fighting apparatus and found that Alexander Street School, formerly used as a church by the Methodist people of the West End, was on fire. The wind was blowing from the westward a good stiff breeze, and as everything was as dry as powder the crowd that gathered saw a risk of all the houses on Alexander Street, including Parker & Monroe's new factory, being burned. The firemen soon got busy and started four streams of water from the nearest hydrants. The West End men found that they did not have enough of hose and drove back to the fire hall and procured an additional supply. Messrs. Parker & Monroe's men got on the roof of the factory and with buckets and their own hose guarded the building from the effect of sparks that fell now and then on the factory. The fire had got too much headway on the school to leave any hope of saving it. The wood was as dry as powder and the streams of water had very little appreciable effect. The firemen soon had their attention directed to the houses immediately across the way on the east side of Alexander Street. The sparks from the roof of the school fell in the roofs of the houses there and in quick time the tenements occupied by the families of Fitzgerald, Galway and Noseworthy were ablaze. It looked now as if the whole range would go. The firemen abandoned the school, which was long ago doomed to destruction, and concentrated their forces on the houses on the opposite side of the street. By hard work they managed to get the fire under control at 1.30, but not till the three houses had been almost completely gutted. The tenants managed to save the most of their furniture, bedding, etc. The houses destroyed are insured and belong to Messrs. Wells, Rodgers and Sheehan. Alexander Street School is insured for $2,500, we are informed.

Western Notes.

(Western Star.)
 A newspaper is soon to be started at Grand Falls. It will be controlled by the company and will be published for the benefit of the workmen and residents of the paper city.
 W. F. Saltonstall, of Boston, is at the Rivers after salmon. Mr. Saltonstall has fished in every stream of importance in the United States and Canada, but thinks Newfoundland far superior as a sporting country.
 Channel and Port aux Basques are growing very rapidly. Real estate there has increased 300 per cent in value in the past five years. With a daily mail steamer from the continent the progress of those settlements would be greatly increased.

After an exciting chase, J. Pennell, the game warden, rounded up a sportsman of Lincoln, Mass., and compelled him to pay his license fee which he had tried to evade.
 According to the Western Catholic, Archbishop McNeil has been kept busy of late visiting interior settlements. Some of the Indian communities turned out in force to meet His Grace, serenading him with their quaint music.

Several camping parties are enjoying the delightful aroma of the Newfoundland woods in the vicinity of the Big Rapids. If the outside world could only be made to realize the varied charms of our forests and streams, Newfoundland would have more visitors than Maine or New Hampshire, whose attractions are not to be classed with those of our own beautiful island.

A man named Parsons at Coe Head discovered an old whale boat embedded in the sand of a cove near that place last week. The craft was in an almost perfect state of preservation, although it had probably lain where it was found for sixty years or more. No clue to its history was found in the boat, and none of the oldest settlers of the place can account for its presence there.

DEATHS IN WEST END.—Mr. Peter Johnstone and Mrs. Bennett, of Rosier's Lane, died last night. The houses are next door to each other.

His Excellency the Governor left Harbor Grace in the s.s. Fiona at 1 p.m. to-day for St. John's, accompanied by Lady Williams and his Secretary. Passengers who came in from Harbor Grace to-day say that His Excellency is well pleased with the result of his visit to the Bay.

The s.s. Fife, Capt. Delaney, taking Mr. W. D. Reid, sailed last night to Trinity and arrived there this morning at 6.30. The advance party working on the railway is now within a mile of Trinity. Mr. Reid will walk back over the road to Seal Cove, B.B., on an inspection tour.

The old "Ram" sign over W. D. Morrison's store was taken down this morning by Mr. B. Friedman, who now occupies the premises and is fitting and pointing it in modern style. Several old residents who passed along while it was being taken down said that the sign had been there for over 60 years, as long as they could remember. This, we believe, is the last of the old Water Street signs.

A trap skiff with four men in it coming into Shoal Bay, near Petty Harbor, this morning with a load of fish was swamped when nearly into the shore by the backwash coming on board. A boat's crew quickly put out and rescued Mr. Mullaney and his crew. This was the first big haul of fish that he had there for the season. The boat was overloaded and the least loup would swamp her.

Mr. Joseph Miller, carpenter at Smith Co. Ltd., premises for several years past has resigned his position and will go to Winnipeg to seek his fortune. Joe is a worthy and popular young man and a member of the Newfoundland Highlanders. No doubt he will succeed. Mr. Geo. Benson, also a member of the N. F. H., is going west with him. The Highlanders will treat them to a supper to-night at Woods Restaurant. The Telegram wishes them both success in the west.

The Elixir of Life.
 The "Medrash" (a Hebrew book of Philosophy) tells us that a certain peddler of drugs travelled from one village to another in the vicinity of the city called "Zippore," and wherever he went he used to cry out: Who wants to buy the Elixir of Life? And when a great crowd gathered around, eager to buy, he opened up his satchel and took out the book of Psalms, then turned to the 24 chapter and read the 13th and 14th paragraph, as follows:—
 "Who is the man that desired life, loved many days that he may see happiness?" "Guard thy tongue from evil and thy lips from speaking deceit." This is what we are doing. We are shouting these paragraphs: "Who is the man that desires Clothing, Dry Goods and Furniture for Cash or Credit? See Water St.
