New President of Board of Trade

We congratulate Mr. G. C. Fearn on his election to the Presidency of the Board of Trade. It is a well deserved compliment to him for his untiring labours since the movement was started to establish this Association. He spent much time and labour in bringing the institution through the trials of its birth, and has been constant and unwavering in his attempt to conserve the interests of its members. Notably has he done much in the way of attempting to stop the practice of firms cutting one another out in supplying fish for the foreign market. We understand that the new President intends to take a trip to the Mediterranean markets, in the near future, in a steamer which will leave here with fish for those markets, and the visit of the President of the Board of Trade should do much to place our staple in a better position in those markets. Some think that the Board of Trade has spread its activities over too wide a field, and that such matters as Municipal affairs might well be cut out of their sphere of influence.

The Board of Trade would also stand better with the community if less attention was paid to projects of the Government which are not matters of trade. The policy of the Government in regard to Agriculture is hardly a subject which should find a place within the confines of its annual report. We have no doubt as time goes on the Board will concentrate its efforts on its proper and legitimate sphere, and these are sufficiently engrossing to take up all the energies of its busy members can spare from their own private and business affairs.

We extend our congratulations to Mr. Gosling on his election as Vice-President. Time has brought some tardy recognition of Mr. Gosling's services in the promotion, formation, and working of the Board of Trade. It may be remembered that Mr. Gosling was a pioneer in the promotion of this association. Towards the end of the year 1908, Mr. Gosling wrote a series of letters which were published in the Evening Telegram, on "The Fishery and The Fish Markets."

In a letter dated December 1st, 1908, Mr. Gosling strongly advocated the formation of a Board of Trade. In this letter he wrote as follows:—"I think, however, that it is obvious that our fish business is not being conducted in a manner to ensure the best results, and that a great deal may be done to improve the situation. The disadvantages under which the trade is labouring may be classified as lack of harmonious co-operation amongst ourselves, lack of information, and lack of proper representation in our principal markets. I put "LACK OF CO-OPERATION" first because all the rest results from it. We are like the bundle of sticks in the fable,—combined we would be strong enough to resist attack, but separated, we are broken in turn.

"The moral therefore is COMBINE. But it will be said that it has been tried before and failed. With all due deference, however, I think that there were excellent reasons why the two previous attempts at combination broke down. The first, which included an attempt to regulate the buying price of fish, was, in my opinion, very detrimental to the trade of the country. It was clearly an agreement in restraint of trade, tended to depress prices, and deserved to fail. It would now be illegal. The second combination included four to five merchants only but worked fairly well for a time but as it did not include all the exporters, the full value of combination was lost, and it was foredoomed to failure.

"To be successful, any combination in trade must be fundamental and comprehensive. A half and half affair will not be strong enough to gain the desired end, will tempt opposition and enmity from those who are not included, and will certainly fail again. "In my opinion, the first thing to be done is to form a comprehensive Board of Trade, including every class of industry and every business man in the city. It should be duly incorporated and be a dignified body able to compel the respect and adherence of its members. Let us form such an Association as will be strong enough to influence Governments and secure such legislation as may be needed; that will be rich enough to pay for the collection and tabulation of all sorts of information which may be required by trade."

Mr. Gosling was one of the principals at the meeting which inaugurated the Board of Trade. Since its incorporation he has been one of the chief workers, and like Mr. Fearn has not spared himself in his efforts to make the Board a success.

Three Vagrants Arrested.

At 2.30 this morning, Officers Lee and Dunphy found 3 men vagrants who have no home sleeping in a stable in Hayward Avenue. The night was very stormy and while the men were in the stable there was danger of their setting fire to it. The trio who are never do wells, were arrested and in Court to-day were sent down for 10 days on a charge of vagrancy.

THE BAHIA MARKET.—The Fisheries Department had the following wire to-day from Bahia: "Forty two mltres, fair."

A Reservist Dismissed.

Mr. Samuel Spurrell, of Pool's Island, who was here to put in two months' drill on the Calypso, was court-martialled and dismissed yesterday, and though he had earned about $38 for the four weeks' time that he put in, he says that he will not get a cent. According to his own story his case is a hard one. Another Reservist man missed his collar Sunday morning. He complained to the officer and on a search being made it was found that Spurrell had it on. He says that he did not know till that moment that it was not his own collar. He had taken it out of his own box where he had an ample supply of his own, which circumstance, he says, should be in itself proof that he need not steal the collars of other men. He believes that some one put this particular collar in his box either by mistake or for a malicious purpose. There are now 180 men on the Calypso. He was given only a ticket to take him home.

Beat His Wife.

Mr. John Diamond called at our office to-day and stated that as his wife was driving home with him on his slide Saturday evening she was assaulted and beaten by another man. He says that he did not know until that moment that it was not his own collar. He had taken it out of his own box where he had an ample supply of his own, which circumstance, he says, should be in itself proof that he need not steal the collars of other men. He believes that some one put this particular collar in his box either by mistake or for a malicious purpose. There are now 180 men on the Calypso. He was given only a ticket to take him home.

Reids' Ships.

There was no report of the Gloucester try. It was clearly an agreement in restraint of trade, tended to depress prices, and deserved to fail. It would now be illegal. The second combination included four to five merchants only but worked fairly well for a time but as it did not include all the exporters, the full value of combination was lost, and it was foredoomed to failure.

The Home is at Port aux Basques and cannot get out on account of ice. The S. S. Invermore will leave Port aux Basques this afternoon after the arrival of the Gloucester there. The Solway is at Port aux Basques loading freight brought over from North Sydney.

Rev. Father Curran's Will.

Our contemporary was all astray yesterday in saying that the late Fr. Curran's estate was worth $60,000. The fact is that it is worth only about $10,000 and very little of it dry money. The will was made in 1910 and amongst the legacies is one of $1,000 to Rev. Fr. Healey, his old teacher at Holy Cross College, Dublin. Another bequest of $1,000 goes to the Catholic Extension Society of Canada. The greater part of the balance of the estate, chiefly property, goes to the Diocese of St. George's, including the house on Water Street and two houses on Cochrane Street. Out of this, however, an annuity is to be paid to an old housekeeper of his father, Miss Foley, of Hayward Avenue. Most of his books that are not theological works are willed to the Knights of Columbus this city. The theological works go to his Alma Mater, Holy Cross College, Dublin. The household furniture is left to Belvidere. There is a substantial amount also set out for Masses for his soul and those of his parents. Mr. J. J. McGrath is his executor.

ENTERTAINED THE OFFICIALS.—In celebrating his 80th birthday yesterday, Mr. M. T. Knight entertained the officials of the Board of Works office at his residence. They were his co-workers for many years and he related many interesting incidents in his career. Mr. Jas. Harris Secretary of the Board, in a neat speech, congratulated Mr. Knight and thanked him for his hospitality to himself and friends.

McManigle Told All.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 9.—Whatever Ortle E. McManigle, the confessed dynamite, knows about the complexity of others besides the McNamara brothers in the blowing up of more than one hundred "open shop" structures in various sections of the country in the last five or six years is believed to have been related by him in his preliminary story before the Federal Grand Jury yesterday. Taken from his cell in the Federal Building, where he had been lodged before daylight after his secret trip, in the custody of Government officials from Los Angeles, Cal., McManigle, the confessed accomplice of John J. and James B. McNamara, went before the jurors after his written confession had been presented in detail. That the prisoner will be kept in attendance on the Grand Jury for ten days or two weeks was indicated by the intention of United States Attorney Chas. W. Miller to have him repeat his confession orally and to describe with minute circumstance his relations with others in his dynamiting, from the time he first blew up a structure in Detroit in June, 1907, down to his activities in the same business on the Pacific Coast.

McManigle confesses to personal knowledge of at least thirty of the explosions which destroyed bridges and other structures erected by firms employing non-union men.

The Grand Jury devoted much attention yesterday to witnesses from Tiffin, Ohio, where last April 540 lbs. of dynamite were found by detectives in a barn in the rear of the home of James L. McManigle, father of Ortle. This was one of the stores from which Ortle McManigle and James McNamara replenished their supply of explosives when they started out to do "jobs" in Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indianapolis or Illinois.

Fur Sealing.

Fur experts say the 25,000 seal skins recently sold in London at an average price of $27 per skin means that only about 6,000 new sealskin coats will be available this year for the women of the whole world. The same authority says that in March next there will be offered for sale in London 300 more seal skins from Copper Island by the Russian Government. The fact that Russia has only 300 pelts to offer from the Commanderofski rookeries, which less than ten years ago had 40,000 skins, shows the inroads made by Japanese raiders. These raids have badly cut up the Russian herds during the past few years. In 1904 the raiders began while the guard was withdrawn during the war. Five schooners took 12,000 skins. In 1906 a fleet of schooners from Japan made a concerted raid, landing a field gun. The guard was driven back and the raiders in the guard house while the raiders clubbed and killed on the hauling ground. No details of this raid were ever made public.—Fishing Gazette.
