FOR 25 YEARS Hunyadi János

HAS BEEN RECOMMENDED BY

EMINENT PHYSICIANS

As the Best Natural Aperient Water. UNEOUALLED AS A REMEDY FOR Constipation and Stomach Disorders. Get the Genuine!

THE TRIUMPH

THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O CHAPTER XXII.

Some men working in a field near the scene of the accident were the first the terrible plunging of the ponies.
"We shall be too late to do any good," said one to the other, as they drew

The first thing was to liberate the time her lips were mute when he calleroom, who lay underneath the heels ed her name. wounded. They were strong men, but they turned sick and faint at the sight of the mangled face. They laid him gently on the green bank, while they raised the wreck of the carriage. They saw her then, lying quite calm and still. Whether she had been suffocated or hurt they did not know. There was no sign of life in her. They raised the mass of costly silk and velvet. They tore off the black lace that shaded her white face.

"Why," cried one of them, Peter Green, by name, "this is Lady Selwyn of Selwyn Castle. I know her. I have seen her a hundred times and more.' "It is her, sure enough," said another. I know the groom."

Then they looked at each other in

"If I were my lord," joined in a third, "I should feel queer. This is the sec-ond Lady Selwyn killed by accident. The first was a beautiful, golden-haired woman. She died in a railway accident somewhere abroad." There is no time for talking," said Peter. "One of you remain here, one run to Selwyn Castle. I will go to Shilton and get a doctor. It seems to me that the lady is not dead."

His orders were punctually obeyed.
The village of Shilton lay at the foot of the hill, and in a short space of the injured lady was laid, and the driver told to go carefully to the castle. There was soon quite a crowd col-

"Is the lady dead?" asked one of the bystanders of the doctor.
"No," he replied; "she is fatally infured but not dead.' One of the ponies was found to be so severely injured that in pity it was immediately shot. The other was taback to the castle. The dead body of the unfortunate groom was also taken there. It was a mournful procession on this bright, sunny morning, when the whole world looked so gay and bright, when singing birds and blooming flowers, golden sunshine and rippling leaves were at their fairest.

"Papa." whispered a faint voice, "I am much better, I shall feel life at my heart again; do you think I shall get well now?"

"Yes, my darling," said his father; "heaven has been very merciful, and has spared you to me this time." There was a smile on Rupert's face as he listened—a smile that had not been seen there for many long, sad

Lord Selwyn turned to the gentle, patient woman who knelt by his son's

"Rupert," he said, "you must always remember that, after God, you owe your life to the careful nursing of Mrs. Riv-

"I know that," said the boy grateful-"I shall never forget it. I shall love her as long as I live.

She bowed her head as he spoke. If they knew—if they only knew, that the hour was drawing near! Before sunset Lord Selwyn would know that she was living. Rupert would know that the mother whose memory he had worsniped had deceived the whole world, and had nursed him. Before sunset—and it was now near noon.

Then his lordship told her that Lady Beatrice had been suffering all night, and was resting in her own room. While the words were still on his lips there came a gentle tap at the ante-room Fearing Rupert might be disturbed, Lord Selwyn went himself to answer it. There stood the butler with a white, terrified face.

"Will you please come out, my lord?" he said. "I want to speak to you." He went, with a heavy foreboding as of some coming sorrow at his heart. He closed the door gently and followed the man down the corridar. 'What is it, Hewson?" he asked. "Is whose fault it was, but she took the chestnut ponies—and—"

."Oh, Heaven!" cried the unhappy me the worst

There has been an accident, and my lady has been brought home in Doctor Margent's carriage from Shilton."

"Is sheet is sheet" then Lord Selwyn May.

stopped short, his white lips could not form the word. "No," was the reply; "the groom was killed on the spot; my lady still lives."

Where have they laid her?" he asked, in low, hoarse tones. "In her own room. Let me tell you the worst, my lord; she will never leave it again."

With a cry that resembled no human sound, Lord Selwyn hastened away. He met strange men and weeping servants in the corridor and on the broad staircase: they made way in silence for him. He entered the room where she layproud, beautiful, imperial Beatrice, proud no longer—the color and flush to run to give help. They had watched the mad, furious gallop down the hill, but they were poweriess to render any assistance. They saw the terrible catastrophe—the carriage overturned, and They made way for him as he entered. He knew by the expression on both grave faces that for the hapless lady lying there hope had vanished.

He went up to her, but for the first

"It is useless, Lord Selwyn," said Dr. Danvers. "Lady Beatrice will never seee you or hear you again."

"Is there no hope?" he asked.
"None," was the grave reply. "Her ladyship has sustained two injuries, either of which would be fatal. Her spine is terribiy injured, and there is concussion of the brain. It is merely a matter of a few minutes; but she will never know you again. she may continue in this state one hour or twono longer; nor can we render any assistance by remaining."

His distress was terrible to witness.

He knelt down by her side, and took the white, helpless hand in his. It was not that he loved her so dearly; but the manner, the suddenness of her death bewildered him. He had been so happy a few minutes since, because Rupert was better, and now he stood by his wife's death-bed.

The shock seemed too much for him. One by one the servants came, all anxious to render some assistance, but he waved them away. Nothing could be done for the doomed lady whose be done for the doomed rady while life was so nearly over,

"Will she know me? Will she never be able to speak to me again?" he cried; and the reply was, "Never in this world—never again!"

Someone—he never knew who it was Someone-he never knew who it was of the hill, and in a short space of time men came to the rescue. Dr. Argent brought his own carriage, in which at the sight of his mother, then cried again, because he was frightened at stillness of her white, death-like face. But neither joy, nor sorrow—not even the voice of the child she loved so dear-ly, and for whom she sinned so ter-> never again would a mother's kiss soothe it, and Lord Selwyn, unable to bear the sight, motioned the child away.

A few minutes more, and the solemn silence of that death chamber was broken by the entrance of Mrs. Rivers. She made no apology, but went up to Lord Selwyn.

"Is there anything I can do?" she asked gently; and when he shook his head—for all words failed him—instead or leaving the room, she went round to the other side of the bed, and looked earnestly at the changed face.

There was no mistake. The gray shades of death were creeping over the beautiful features. No one noticed Mrs. Rivers. Dr. Danvers was looking over a book, evidently in search of someg. Lord Selwyn was kneeling, his buried in his hands. No one nothing. face buried in his hands. No one no-ticed her or looked to see what she was Down low over the silent figure she bent, warm tears streaming from her

'Beatrice! Beatrice!" she whispered; but there was no movement in the white face. "Beatrice," she whispered again, "I speak to your soul! Can you hear me? For heaven's sake, I forgive you, and as you spared my memory to my child, I will spare yours. No one shall ever know of the wrong you tried to do my son. Take my words with you to another world. I forgive you!

I pray God to save you!"

No motion of the lips, no quiver of the white eyelids. Long and earnestly Mrs. Rivers looked into the face of the woman who had been so bitter an en-emy, so cruel a foe. Then she laid her face upon the white brow, she kissed the cold lips, and bade farewell forever to Beatrice Leigh.

(To be Continued.)

THE SHORTER WORKING DAY. There are, of course, many things to be most carefully considered and ad-justed before any change in the number of working hours can go into effect. Unfilled contracts, or established prices for product, are the most obvious; the longer hours of idleness for expensive plant can by no means be ignored. "What is R, Hewson: he asked. Is anything the wrong?"

"My lord." said the man, turning blant can by no means be ignored. But with proper compensation in the manner of working, there is little you. I cannot find words."

"I do not like suspense," said Lord Selwyn, and in one brief moment his mind went through various phases. No-mind went through mind went through various phases. Nothing could be wrong with Rubert, with little Lance, or Lady Beatrice—they were all there, safe and well at home. "My lady went out this morning, my lord," said the man; "I can not say whose fault it was, but she took the to his hours of working, is almost as fallacious as the trade-union proposi-"What has happened?-tell tion that the amount of wage-winning work in the world is a definite quantity, and will be exhausted sooner by more diligent working.—Charles Buxton Going, in the Engineering Magazine for able when he finds fault with everybody and expects none to find fault with him.

MY MOTHER. She gave the best years of her life With joy for me, And robbed herself, with loving heart, Unstintingly.

For me with willing hands she toiled From day to day. For me she prayed when headstrong youth Would have its way.

Her gentle arms, my cradle once, Are weary now; And Time has set the seal of care Upon her brow.

And, though no other eyes than mine Their meaning trace, I read my history in the lines Of her dear face.

And 'mid His gems, who showers gifts As shining sands, count her days as pearls that fall From His kind hands. -Christian Register.

OATMEAL GEMS.

Soak over night two cups of oatmeal in a pint of sweet milk. In the morning add two beaten eggs, a tablespoonful of sugar, a little salt and a heaping teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in a hot oven in hot gem pan.

SILK WAISTS.

There is to be a great fad for wearing Chinese and Japanese silks. Many new designs in Japanese silk have been brought out this season, and these exquisite silks have been made up into fea gowns, tea jackets, house gowns and even pretty shirt waists and the most chic of Ascot ties.

CONFIDE IN YOUR WIFE. I have not been married very long, know whether to confide my business troubles to my wife or not. pretty well worn out at the end of the day, and I am afraid of worrying her with my cares. What is the general rule in such cases? L. R. H., Paterson, May 7.

There is no general rule you may follow. It all depends upon the per-sonality of the wife. If she is irritable and nervous and fretful, no matter how much she may think of you, your troubles will be an added burden to her.

If, however, she is light-hearted and optimistic, and disposed to take a cheerful view of things, by all means tell her everything that happens during the day. You will find that she will take a peculiarly feminine view of your affairs, and that she is disposed to travel by instinct rather than judg-ment in business matters. Nevertheless, her position as confidante will halve your cares. You will understand that she is trying her best to help you, even if she does not succeed. On the other hand, you should be equally ready to listen when she brings ribly—had power to move her.

They laid the child by her side. Its little warm hands touched her; but woman's soul as Wall street or driving a street car is to a man's.

If baby has a tooth, you should throw aside everything and look at it.

If Johnny has been naughty, refrain a moment from brooding over your business worries to fan him with a slipper.

By all means tell your business troubles to your wife, if she be a normal woman, lest a wall of business and gradual separation of cares should come between you. From this stage to the divorce court is a short step.— New York Journal.

TO CLEAN CHAMOIS GLOVES. Make a strong suds with white castile soap, or any other kind of good white soap, and to two quarts of suds add one teaspoonful of borax dissolved in half a pint of hot water. When the suds are cold put the gloves on the hands and wash them slowly and gently, as if washing the hands. Rinse in the same manner in clear water; then draw off gently and hang in a shady place to dry, drawing them into shape when they are almost dry. When perfectly dry, rub them between the hands to soften them.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS. If you heat your knife slightly you can cut hot bread or cake as smooth as if it were cold. Soda is an excellent article for clean ing tinware. Apply with a damp cloth and rub dry.

Neuralgia may very often be speed-ily relieved by applying a cloth sat-urated with essence of peppermint to the seat of the pain.

Pails and tubs may be kept from warping by painting them with gly-

To clean linoleum without washing, remove all the dust, then take a bit of flannel sprinkled with paraffine and rub the linoleum. It will not only make it appear like new, but will preserve it. A too rapid boiling ruins the flavor of any sauce. It must boil up once, but should never do more than simmer afterward.

Don't think that water should be added to spinach to cook it. It is a mistake.

Don't fail to add a drop or two of vanilla flavoring to a pot of chocolate. It is a great improvement.

THE 1900 SAILOR HAT. Each season brings with it a new pattern of sailor hat, a style so distinct from that of the season previous that women who aim to be at all up to date find it impossible to renew their allegiance to the sailor hat of the past season without the world being well aware of the fact. Sailor hats for 1900 have rather broad crowns of moderate height, with brims neither particularly broad or narrow. They are trimmed with bands laid in folds more often than with flat ribbons and are constructed of plain straw, with white the most desirable color.

HIS WAGES. A firm in Liverpool, delighted that one of its employes was called upon to join the reserves, volunteered to pay half his wages to his wife in his absence. At the end of the month the woman appeared, and, and the money was given her. "What?" she cried; "four pound?" "Yes," replied the senior partner, "that is exactly half; sorry you are not satisfied." "It isn't that I'm not satisfied. Why, for years he has told me he only got 16 shillings altogether, and—and—if the Boers don't kill him, I will."

JUST THE OTHER WAY. "The other day," said Jones, "an old woman bounced into our office, dis-playing a notice that we had written on some property of hers was due. She swore she had paid it. I had the books to prove that she had not, and suggested that she had made a mis-

Don't you ever make mistakes?'
"I assured her that I did not, and jokingly added:
"The only mistake I ever made was when I was married.' She looked at me a second, and then said: No, your wife made that mis-take."—Detroit Free Press.

MA'MMA'S DARLING. Mamma's darling girlie,

Blessings on her head, Busy every minute Busy every minute Except when she's in bed.
Dusting in the parlor,
Sweeping down the stair,
Dainty feet a-flying,
Here, there, everywhere.
Playing in the garden,
Reading in her book,
Dressing all her dollies,
Helping mamma cook

Helping mamma cook. Never still a minute Till she's snug in bed. She is mamma's darling, Blessings on her head.

CHIFFON EMBROIDERIES. Embroidery in chiffon and other thin materials is a great feature of the new trimmings. Open embroidery, lace beads, gold and silver thread and silk are all employed and variously combined in these pretty novelties. Something decidedly unique is a combination of lace and linen spangles over-laping one another in varying sizes and forming different designs.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS. An effective cement for mending cracks in a stove or oven is made by using wood ashes and salt in equal quantities mixed with water to a paste. This soon hardens with the heat, making a surface almost as firm as the original.

The best treatment for a cambric or gingham shirt waist that has been faded with the strong alkali soap used in laundries is to slip it carefully in a weak bath of vinegar and water, rinse well and iron it smooth at once.

lavender and hung near the bed, or a handkerchief moistened and laid near an invalid's couch will be found an efficient aid in driving away intrusive flies. The application of a bit of soap on the point of a lead pencil to a creaky hinge will cure its stiffness and silence its complaints.

A cup of milk added to the water with which an oilcloth or oiled floor is to be washed gives them a luster like new. To prevent the fringe of towels and doilies from breaking and wearing off snap the article when the fringe is Eating freely of watercress for several consecutive days will remove tarter of long standing from the teeth. All green vegetables keep their col-or better if boiled rapidly and left un-

Light and Shade.

The other day my little boy, My precious little Sam, Climbed on my lap and sweetly asked. "Is I God's little lamb?

I said, "Yes, child, and I do pray His watch He'll o'er you keep."
"Then, ma, if I'se God's little lamb, Is g'an'pa His old sheep?' -Mrs. J. X. Conley.

papa as strong as Samson, "Why, no, Willie; of course not."

"Well, mama said he had you on his hands for two months." Joe-Aren't you rejoiced that outdoor sports have begun again?
"Outdoor sports? Oh, say—you don't mean it's time to beat carpets again, do you?"

"Doesn't she sing with a great deal of sympathy?" "Yes; you would actually think she had heart enough to be sorry for those who were listening to her."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

He (describing his journeyings)— Then, leaving Gibraltar, I made my way to Australia, and from there I went to the diamond mines in South Africa, where I made my fortune. Then—do you follow me, Miss Crynkle? She (with a vivid blush)—To the world's end, Mr. Rocksworthy.

REAMERS.

"There's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream." The old song is right. Lovers are dreamers. They create a special world in which they live immune from the hurts and ills which vex common humanity. In their estimate of household expenses there's no place for a doctor. And very often when the dream dissolves they find that the doctor's bill, the one thing they didn't count on, is now the one thing that's as regular as rent and taxes. And many times it is money wasted. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do for a woman and her womanly ills, practically every-thing that can be done by any doctor or medicine. It regulates the periods, dries de-bilitating drains and cures inflam-L mation, ulceration and female weakness It makes childbirth easy, and thousands of nursing mothers have testified to its tonic and strength giving properties. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

cocaine or other narcotic.

Mrs. Annie Blacker, of 620 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor. I had four misoarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery' I have much better health, and now I have a fine, healthy haby."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense
Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps, to pay cost of customs and mailing only. to pay cost of customs and mailing only.

Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. V.

ROBINSON & CLEAVER

BELFAST, IRELAND.

Supply Palaces, Mansions, Villas, Cottages, Hotels, Railways, Steamships, Institutions Regiments and the general public direct with every description of OUSEHOLD LINENS From the Least Expensive to the Finest in the World.

Which being woven by hand, wear longer and retain the rich satin appearance to the less.

By obtaining direct, all intermediate profits are saved, and the cost is no more than that usually charged for common-power loom goods. Real Irish Linen Sheeting, fully bleached, two yards wide, 46c per yard 2½ yards wide, 57c per yard. Roller Towelling, 18 inches wide, 6c per yard. Surplice Linen, 14c per yard. Dusters from 78c per dozen. Linen Special Soft Finished Long Cloth from 6c per yard.

Fish Napkins, 70c per doz. Dinner Napkins, 81.32 per doz. Table Cloths, 2 yards square, 60c; 2½ yards by 3 yards, $1.32 each. Kitchen Table Cloths, 23c each. Strong Huckaback Towels, $1.08 per doz. Monograms, Crests, Coats of Arms, Initials, &c., woven or embroidered. Special attention to Club, Hotel or Mainties Shiffs Fine quality Longcloth Bo ies, with 4-fold pure linen fronts and ouffs, $8.52 the half-doz. (to measure 43c extra.) New designs in cur special Indiana Gauze Oxford and Unebrickable Flannels for the season. Old shirts made good as new, with best materials in neckbands, outly and fronts, for $8.36 the half-doz.

The Cambrics of Robinson and Cleaver have a world-wide fame."—The Queen. "Cheapest Handkerchiefs I have ever seen."—Sylvia's Home Journal. Children's, 50c per doz.; Ladies', 54c per doz.; Gentlemen's, 78c per doz. HEMSTITCHED—Ladies', 66c per doz.; Gentlemen's, 94c per doz.

ITISD LINED COULARS AND CUITS COLLARS—Ladies', from 84c per doz.; Gent lomen's, 4-fold, all newest shapes, $1.18 per doz. CUFFS—for Ladies or Gentlemen, from $1.42 per doz. "Surplice makers to Westminster Abbey" and the Cathedrals and Churches in the Kingdom. "Their Irish Linen Collars, Cuits, Shirts, &c.. have the merits of excellence and cheapness."—Court Circular.

ITSA UNGERCOUNTY A fuxury now within the reach of all ladies. Chemises, trimmed embroidery, 47c; Nightdresses, 84c; Combinations, 94c. India or Colonial Outfits, $40.32; Bridal Trousseaux, $25.80; Infants' Layettes, $12.00. (See list.)

ROBINSON & CLEAVER, Belfast, Ireland. Please mention this paper.

Are made in the largest Bicycle Factory in the world.

BEVEL GEAR

Crescent Chainless have proved such a success that factory has orders for twenty thousand this spring.

CRESCENT TANDEMS. CRESCENT GIRLS' AND BOYS' WHEELS.

Being made in such immense numbers we can give you better value by $10.00 than any other first-class wheel.

Not in any CANADIAN COMBINE. Call and examine at Reid's Hardware, No. 118 North Side Dundas Street.

 WE WANT A GOOD MAN

IN YOUR COUNTY to work for us, either whole or part time, or as a side line in connection with his regular business. No experience neces ary, no capital required. We are the largest nurserymen in Canada, and ship over twenty thousand orders annually,

We offer steady work and good pay. Work in your own county all the time. Will you be that man? Write us about it. We will be pleased to give you further particulars.

CHASE BROS. CO., Ltd., Colborne, Ont. Largest Nurserymen in Canada. Established 1857.

The Greatest Labor-Saving Device of the 19th Century. "PERFECTION"

"I always dread the ironing days," A tired woman said:
"And if I don't soon get relief I'm sure that I'll be dead."

and guarantee satisfaction.

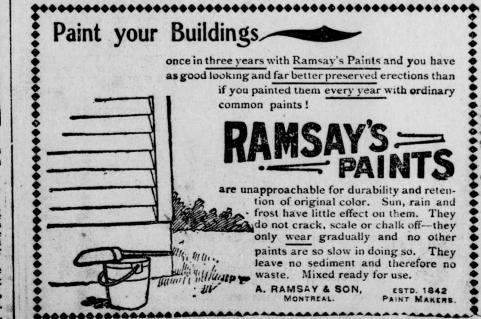

III. Mamma, however, surprised them; She'd been the day before ▲nd bought a "Perfection" Gas Iron

The little "Tots" were delighted;
"It's just the thing," said they;
It's not a bit of trouble

V. No more sweltering over stoves;
The old way's a thing of the past.
So simple a child can use it—
Relief has come at last.

Manufactured and sold throughout the world by THE EDWARDS SAD IRON CO., Sole Owners Confederation Life Building. Toronto, Ontario. Agents Wanted in London. t Agents Wanted Everywhere

There is a reason for everything, and the reason for the popularity of Beecham's Pills s, that they fill all the requirements of a general antidote for ALL BILIOUS AND VERVOUS DISORDERS in a more satisfactory manner than any proprietary medicine ever placed before the public. Beecham's Pills are brought before your notice, and, whether you require them or not—if not today, you may tomorrow—when the necessity trises you should, in your own interest, take them. The reason for their need is often set known to yourself, but be that as it may, you will show good judgment by taking hem in reasonable does, and doing so is as simple as A B C. The enormous sale of Beecham's Pills has been achieved without the publication of testimonials, the fact being that Beecham's Pills recommend themselves. Sold everywhere, in boxes, . at all Druggista.

OVER 6.000,000 BOXES SOLD YEARLY.