The management of the Toronto Zoological and Acclimatization society presented a report of the last season's business to the directors of the society on Monday afternoon last. The meeting was held in Ald. Scarth's office, the president in the chair, and was very gratifying to those present. A very successful conversazione was given in St Peter's church on Monday night by the young men's society. The president, Mr Caldecot, delivered an address on lukewarmness, after which came a literary and musical program, including a solo by Mrs Bradley.

The Kindergarten.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Miss Blow and Mrs Hubbard continued their exposition of the kindergarten system before a large audience, composed of teachers, normal school students, parents [and children. The system was explained at greater detail than in the previous lecture, but in a manner even more inseresting to those who attended, and especially the little ones. Miss Blow left for St Louis last evening, but Mrs Hubbard will remain in Toronto for some time aud continue her in Toronto for some time and continue her instructions upon the system. Meanwhile the school board have decided to send one district?" of the city teachers to St Louis to acquire a thorough knowledge of the kindergarten, with a view to its introduction into the Draft on the Imagination.

"My father," said Gilhooly solemnly, disagreeable." "Indeed it was. He never could sit near a draft for a minute without catching a cold. I remember on one occa-sion he was sitting in the office of a friend, when all at once my father began to sneeze. He insisted that there was a draft in the room. Every effort was made to discover where the draft was, but in vain. The doors and windows were closed and there was no fireplace; but my father kept on sneezing and insisting there must be a draft in the room, and so there was." "Where was it?" "In an envelope on the table, and it was only a little draft for $3 50."

A Business Controversy. From the Judge.

Mr. Isaacs and Mr. Blumental kept rival clothing stores on the Bowery, within a few doors of each other. Mr. Isaacs was always to be found with his head out of the door, soliciting custom from the verdant passerby. Mr. Blumental objected to this shoddy manner of doing business, having found that the watchful Isaacs had captured several of his customers, and one day he went up

Mr. Fred White, private secretary to Sir John Macdonald, and comptroller of the mounted police force, has just returned of the dominion. Last night they left for Ottawa. When going out Mr. White left the line of railway about thirty miles from Moose Jaw and made the rest of the distauce by waggon. He visited in turn Forts Walsh, McLeod, and Calgarry, returning by the same route. This time he was able to take the railroad some fifty miles west of the point at which he left it on the way out. The discipline of the police is de-scribed to be very satisfactory, and the men are well satisfied. "What preparations are being made at Regina for the headquarters of the mounted police?" asked a Sun representative of Mr.

White.

"The new portable buildings are being put up at the rate of one per diem. There are twenty-two buildings for living in and five large stables. Eighteen out of the twenty-two are 16x48 and four 16x24. The contractors are Mr. Riley of Sherbrooke, and Messrs. Logan & O'Doherty of Ottawa. The buildings are in sections of four feet each."

"Are any members of the mounted police force on the ground yet?"

"A number of them are already there, and in the course of a month the number will be increased to about 150 or 200. Col. Irvine, the commandant, will be located there, as also several of the other officers."

"What will be the effect of changing the beackmarkers?"

headquarters?"

"One result will be that supplies will now be brought in by the C. P. R. instead of by the Miscouri river route, and the distribution will take place from Regina. Canadians will in the future have a better chance to successfully tender than before, and Winnipeg will in all probability become the basis of supplies. cloak of some kind. If possible this cloak should be of fur or fur-lined. Of course should be of fur or fur-lined. Of course there is nothing more beautiful or conducive to health than sealskin. The new shapes are especially attractive. Young ladies prefer the jackets having the close cut and appearance of the Jersey. For matrons there are long, loose fitting dolmans, very handsome, but rather burdensome on account of their great length. The last named are only to be looked at by the majority, their high price putting them beyond the reach of all but the favored few. However, silk garments, fur-lined, are warm and comfortable and sold at reasonable prices.

popular shape. The prettiest ones are made of black fox and of otter, lined with quilted satin to match the color of the fur.

They are shaped to the form and are fitted to the neck by a narrow band. But, unfortunately, they are only becoming to tall, slender figures.

Fur hats and bonnets are as popular as ever, but are only made in modified shapes. In bonnets we have a poke with a flaring brim trimmed with ostrich plume and tips all to match, and a small, close-fitting cottage bonnet, with feather trimming, also to match, and wide strings of moire. In hats tage bonnet, with feather trimming, also to match, and wide strings of moire. In hats we have a pretty little Derby, low-crowned and trimmed with red birds and brilliant cock's plumes. Also a Gainsborough, with brim turned up on one side and trimmed with long ostrich plume, beautiful tips and aigrette, with green lights in the brown.

" No, sir-ee," remarked the old resident, my wife didn't bring me a cent. But it was all my fault. I wouldn't have it. The morning of the day we were married I says to her, says I: 'Maria, how much money have you got?' Says she: 'John, I've got just 25 cents.' 'Then,' says I, 'come with me!' And I took her down to the canal and had her throw that quarter into the brink. I wasn't going to have no woman twitting me about spreadin' around on her money." Li Qour tea is always

" Wasn't It, George ?"

There is quite a good joke now going the ounds down at Vallejo. A young lady visiting there is quite sweet on a certain young journalist. One morning the pair started out for a long :amble over in the Contra Costa hills. Being gone all day, they returned in the evening completely worn out and fatigued. The young lady and gentleman were met by a party of their friends soon after their return, and were asked as to what kind of a time they had. Now, the young lady has a very unhandy habit of proving any assertion she may make by appealing to any friend that she happens to have with her at the time. So, happens to have with her at the time. So, as usual, away she went, and answered the inquiry as follows: "Oh, we had a fine time. But climbing over rocks and bushes has made me black and blue all over, hasn't it, George?" (appealing to the young man who had gone out with her). George said emphatically that he'd be hanged if he knew anything about it, and now that young couple get no rest from the chaffing of their friends.
