The Open Vote.

Col. Tisdale's suggested remedy for corrupt practices is the old style of open voting. There can be no switching of votes or sleight of hand where a man steps up and boldly plumps out the name of the candidate he is supporting. The objection to open voting was possible intimidation by employers. But that was at a time when there was more mice than cats, industrially. Nowadays who more independent politically than the man who works for his living? The times are changed.

Great Distress in Her Throat.

Not an uncommon experience was that of Mrs. H. S. Wilnot, of Shuter, N. S. Doctors failed, still a quick cure was found in "Catarrhozone." Notice this statement: "I have been a most dreadful sufferer from bronchial troubles and catarrh. On damp days I would hawk and suffer great distress in my throat. I used all kinds of medicines but didn't get permanent relief till I used Catarrhozone. It has strengthened my throat, cured my cough and made me entirely well." Refuse substitutes for the one reliable bronchial and throat cure. All dealers sell "Catarrhozone" in 25c and $1.00 sizes.

A meeting of rate payers of S. S. No. 2, Plympton and Enniskillen townline, was called by trustees to consider the advisability of repairing or building a new school. A forty-barrel oil well was struck recently on lot 2, south of the London road, in Plympton township, north of Mandanamin. It is controlled by Pittsburg people.

It Quiets the Cough

This is one reason why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so valuable in consumption. It stops the wear and tear of useless coughing. But it does more—it controls the inflammation, quiets the fever, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about this.

CURED PAINFUL IRREGULARITIES.

Strong Testimony From a Lady Resident of Clarksburg, Proving that Ferrozone Surpasses all Other Remedies.

The health of many women is constantly imperiled through failure of certain organs to work according to nature's requirements. Where this condition occurs there is no safer remedy to employ than Ferrozone, which has a specific action in female troubles.

Not only does it act directly on the organs, ensuring regularity and freedom from pain, but by forming rich red blood fortifies the system against weakening drains. Ferrozone possesses a volume of merit totally absent in the ordinary medicine, and its superiority is proclaimed by thousands of women in whose restored to vigorous health. From Mrs. F. G. Caldwell comes the following endorsement, written from her home in Clarksburg: "I went through a most trying experience with what is commonly known as 'female trouble.' It isn't necessary to state my symptoms, but I suffered a great deal. My health was well nigh ruined, and I got into such a condition that I couldn't even sleep. I was dreadfully nervous, weak and pale. Different prescriptions were recommended and I tried them. But Ferrozone was the first to help me. I improved steadily under Ferrozone, and normal conditions were finally established. I gained weight, my color and spirits improved, and my former health was restored. Ferrozone cured me, and with a full heart I recommend this good medicine to all other women."

Beware of imitations—don't allow a druggist to palm off anything else for Ferrozone which costs 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

A Year of Destruction.

A notable characteristic of the present year is the destruction of life and property which has been caused by the forces of nature. These forces have not been so active or disastrous in their results for many years past. The record, as compiled by the Chicago Tribune, is a formidable one. In January an earthquake killed 14 persons at Gonzano, Italy, and a tidal wave on the Columbian coast swept away 2,500. In February a hurricane visited the Society Island, a favor resort for hurricanes, and 1,000 perished. In March, a cyclone swept through Mississippi, and 21 were killed, and earthquake in Formosa destroyed 2,000. In April, the Vesuvius eruption killed 2,000 a second earthquake at Formosa, 109, the San Francisco earthquake 448, and a cyclone in Texas 26. In July there were two smaller disasters, a cloudburst at Ocampo, Mexico, which killed 10 persons, and a waterspout at Lyons, France, which killed 31.

The furies broke loose in August and 2,000 were victims of an earthquake at Valparaiso and 12,000 of floods at Hunan, China. In September there was a long series of disasters. A landslide and storm in the Caucasus cost 225 lives, typhoon at Hong Kong 10,000, a flood at Tepic, Mexico, 10, a hurricane at New Orleans and Mobile 140, and a cyclone in Southern Spain 60. In October a hurricane off the coast of Florida, which started from Venezuela, skirting Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador and Cuba, left 986 dead in its path. During the present month nature has taken a little rest the lake storm of the last few days, in which 32 sailors perished being the principal disaster.

Including the losses of life by lesser disasters of this kind, the record shows already that more than 50,000 persons have perished this year by earthquake, hurricane, and other manifestations of nature's fury. It may be that December will swell the list, but even if it should not, it is not strange that prophets are already at work figuring the time when the world shall pass away as the result of some great natural cataclysm.—Advertiser.

The Small Town.

The town of moderate size is an ideal place to live in. On the one hand, the inhabitants are not subject to the isolation and monotony of a farmer's life and on the other hand, while enjoying the advantages of life in a community, they escape the evils which arise from overcrowding. In the small town every man has his own little plot of earth. He can dig and plant and beautify and watch the green growing things. He is his own master to a degree unknown to the city dweller. He can combine the advantages of both country and town. In business matters he and his employer talk as man to man and the power of organized labor is unknown. As echoes of the strife caused by strike after strike reach him, the man who is unaffected by such conditions cannot fail to consider himself fortunate. The man in the small town is not in the merciless grasp of a moneyed corporation, is not looked upon as something mechanical to be used and thrown aside, but is regarded as a man, by the man who gives him employment. When we read of men, even in so young and free a country as Canada, who are denied their rightful rest at night, in order that the profits may accrue more rapidly, the advantages of the small town are realized. Here the individual has rights and counts large, but in the larger centres the individual seems to be lost sight of and men are dealt with in quantities. They are denied the exercise of that instinct which urges them to do work however trifling, with the soil, they are denied the privileges of breathing air unladen with soot and deadly gasses, they are denied the right almost, to be healthy human beings. The large city has its advantages, many of them. It has its lights and its shadows but the shadows are so deep that the lights are dimmed. The contrast between the life of a laboring man in the large city and the life of the laboring man in the small town is strongly in favor of the latter. The small town is not Eutopia, but it is a fair substitute with which men do well to be content.—Gazette.

Weighing Royal Visitors.

At the English royal castle of Sandringham it is customary to weigh every guest on his arrival, as well as on his departure. The weight is carefully entered in a book, and the person weighed must sign his name. As the custom has been observed there for more than forty years, the book of signatures has obtained considerable dimensions. Among the many signatures the book contains there are many of celebrated names. The signatures that most frequently recur are those of Hartington and Devonshire, the former and present names of the Duke of Devonshire, who, as is well known, has been the King's most intimate friend. Lord Salisbury, according to the testimony of his own signature, once weighed 253 pounds. Emperor William's signature dates from 1902.

A burglar was chased out of Armstrong's warehouse in Brigden one night last week. Conductor Hollinger, who was recently dismissed from the G. T. R. has been reinstated.

COD LIVER OIL and IRON
 Add PHOSPHORUS and you have FERROL

For many years it has been recognized by physicians everywhere that Cod Liver Oil and Iron should be given in combination if possible, as where one is required the other is in all probability needed, too, each enhancing the value of the other.

Strange to say, although many attempts have been made, no one ever succeeded in combining the oil and iron until, quite recently, a Canadian physician, after some years of study and experiment, managed to solve the problem. He then added just a little phosphorus; the result is which contains in an elegant, palatable and easily digested emulsion Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus, the exact constituents necessary to Increase the Weight, Enrich the Blood and Build up the System.

No argument is needed to prove the value of such a preparation in the treatment of Bronchitis and Pulmonary Diseases, Scrofula, Rickets, Anæmia and wasting diseases of any kind.

For Croup, Whooping Cough and Chronic Coughs and Colds Ferrol is an absolute specific.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in prominent Hospitals, Sanitariums, etc.
