place. --A new and weighty argument has been advanced by a prominent upper province banker in favor of the proposed reduction in the rate of interest paid on government in the rate of interest paid on government savings bank deposits. He argues that savings deposits with the government rob commerce, and while the commercial com-munity pays the depositor his interest, it has munity pays the depositor his interest, it has munity pays the depositor his interest, it has also to pay higher rates for loans in other quarters. Were the millions now on de-posit with the government placed, instead, in the chartered banks, which would loan them out in the routine of trade, it is safe that these banks will make any considerable reduction in their discount rates. The public generally credit the banks with a disposition to turn every advantage into dividends.

-The unreliability of the vast bulk of the war news that has been furnished to the -A DII passed the recertai parliament, a public by the great news agencies is proven by the official announcement from Washing-ton that no move had been made to land American soldiers in Cuba till this week. There is now no doubt that an actual in-more is in version and a mathematical solution of its privileges in respect to drawback on customs import duties.

vasion is in progress, and a landing should be effected by Friday or Saturday. The transports will be conveyed by a large fleat of battleships. All hitherto reported land-ings have been on paper only. Now, after eight weeks of war, with little or no fight-ing, the campaign will be opened in earnest, as the place the state of the state of the state of the state of battleships. All hitherto reported land-ing, the campaign will be opened in earnest, as the place the state of the st as the plan of the invading army will surely be to strike a quick and decisive blow and not expose an army of northern men need-lessly to the daugers of an unhealthy climate. War news of the near future will be monstronsly exaggerated, but will likely have a foundation -as, when actual hand to hand fichting begins, the terrible groteral business has not been so marked, and yet we know there has been an im-provement. New industries are being es-tablished; capital, long idle, is being pressed into service; and the result of this will be to increase the circulation of cur-rency and quicken the pulse of trade till every vestige of the commercial stagnation of the past six years has disappeared, Apparently Canada is just on the threshold Apparently Canada is just on the threshold

Apparently Canada is just on the threshold of an era of prosperity such as has never obtained in the history of the federation. The question of establishing national gran-aries for wheat in Europe is receiving consid-erable attention just now. It is felt in all the leading centres that such a scheme would prove a great boon in case of war or any time of dearth. Before the Agricultural Committee in England evidence was given by millers and others in regard to this scheme. I: was suggested that half a score posit with the government placed, instead, in the chartered banks, which would loan them out in the routine of trade, it is safe to say that discount rates could be materi-ally reduced—it being, of course, taken for granted that the banks, under the cir-cumstances would be able to reduce the rate of interest they pay upon deposits. There is a strong probability that if the government abides by its decision in the

There is a strong probability that if the government abides by its decision in the matter, the greater part of the money now on deposit in government savings banks will be actually withdrawn and passed to the char-tered banks, but it is hardly safe to predict The chub swinging, trials of strength, box-ing and fencing contests were all attractive exercises, and kept the audience in high good humor. The "torchlight club" exer-cise by Messrs. Weisner and Fletcher, in a darkened room, was a pleasing spectacular feature of the program. The judges, Dr. J. P. Grant and Messrs. F. R. Fay and J. R.
