NEW NOVELS BY WELL-KNOWN WRITERS

H. G. WELLS—THE WIFE OF SIR ISAAC HARMAN $1.25

In the present book Mr. Wells surpasses even his previous efforts, "Marriage," "The Passionate Friends," etc. He is writing of modern society life, particularly of one very charming young woman, who finds herself so bound in by convention, so hampered by restrictions, largely those of a well intentioned but short-sighted husband, that ultimately she is moved to revolt. The effect of this revolt on the lives of herself and her associates is narrated by one who goes beneath the surface in his analysis of human motives. This will probably be the most discussed novel of the season.

JAMES STEPHENS—THE DEMI-GODS $1.25

Those who so thoroughly enjoyed "The Crock of Gold" and "Here Are Ladies" will find in this new book the same great humour, wit, humanity and power of poetical expression. To Patsy MacCann, a travelling tinker, his daughter Mary, and some of their friends, whose lives are spent on the country roads in Ireland, suddenly appear three angels who divest themselves of their robes, crowns and wings, and join the party under Patsy's leadership. Those who know Mr. Stephens will have a great treat in store.

JACK LONDON—THE MUTINY OF THE ELSINORE $1.25

Everyone who remembers "The Sea Wolf" will enjoy this vigorous narrative of a voyage around Cape Horn in a large sailing vessel. It is the same kind of a tale as its famous predecessor, and is pronounced even more stirring. The play of incident, on the one hand the ship's amazing crew and on the other the lovers, gives a story in which the interest never lags and shows Mr. London at his best.

KATHLEEN NORRIS—SATURDAY'S CHILD $1.25

"Saturday's child must work for her living." This old quotation at once indicates the theme of this new novel. It is the life story of a girl who has her own way to make in the world. The various experiences through which she passes, the various viewpoints which she holds until she comes eventually to realize that service for others, is the only thing that counts, are told with that same intimate knowledge of character, that healthy optimism and the belief in the ultimate goodness of mankind that have distinguished "Mother" and all this author's books.

NEIGHBORS: Life Stories of the Other Half. By Jacob Riis. With illustrations. $1.25

One of the most remarkable books ever written is Jacob Riis' "How the Other Half Lives." The present volume, completed just prior to Mr. Riis' death, is a continuation or an elaboration of that work. He says: "I could not have invented these tales had I tried; I should not have tried if I could."
