

AFTER THE CHARGE—THE BALLOT BOOTH

A group of men of the Fort Garry Horse who went through the famous charge on the Cambrai Front. The story of this wonderful feat is graphically told by Mr. Willison, the Canadian Correspondent at the Front.

A Lieutenant who was wounded in the charge. Narrowly escaping death, his knowledge of German got him back through the Boche lines.

No sooner had the men of the Fort Garry Horse returned from their charge than they went to the poll to vote for reinforcements.

There were only forty-three men in this wonderful charge, and these are the survivors who fought their way back.
