

COPY.

September 27, 1924.

Dear Miss Cartwright,

I am anxious to protect this building-for purposes of quiet and of control- as far as possible after 6 p.m.

I should, therefore, prefer not to have the Massage course given here. As Prof. Tait has his own lecture room at McGill he would no doubt quite willing to give the lectures there.

Members of McGill Staff
associated
with R.V.C.

I should be glad to give an occasional use a room for the Massage Association when, e.g. they have lectures by Dr. Harvey, Dr. W.F. Hamilton, who have no available lecture rooms at McGill.

If we give facilities for private associations in which members of the Staff are interested, it opens the way to giving similar facilities to R.V.C. Staff; and also other societies in which women are interested.

We have always tried not to let any outside society feel that it had a right or special privilege for all its meetings in the College building.

We have inevitably many activities which must be provided for in the evenings, essentially part of student life, and I am sure you will appreciate the desirability of limiting other activities.

If there is trouble about the first lecture
let it be given here but I should hope that the whole course could easily be arranged for by the kindness of Prof. Tait.

Yours

Ethel Hurlbatt.

Added 1925
( 1924

One lecture held R.V.C. Thursday Oct. 2nd, p.m.

Warden and one resident member of Staff each had the experience of finding a stranger wandering on upper floor (not shown into Lecture Room).

N.B. The College has no Hall Porter on door at night.
The maid is fully occupied answering 2 telephones and door bell.)