

And there from all the world aloof
White pillowed I shall lie,
With no unrest beneath my roof
While silent hours slip by.