JOHN CATTO & SON
TORONTOPLOT IN IRELAND
A REAL DANGER

Edward Shortt Tells House of Commons of German Propaganda.

CARSON GIVES OPINION

Says Government is Crawling on Knees to a Particular Church.

London, June 25.—Edward Shortt, secretary for Irish speaking in the house of commons today on the Irish question, said he hoped to satisfy the house that the German plot in Ireland was a real and imminent danger to this country. He said he was satisfied that both the clergy and the Nationalists had used influence respectively to assist in keeping the peace.

Secretary Shortt said the government had found that the German plot in Ireland, and that not only were messages going to Ireland from a German source but they were going from Ireland to Germany. He said the German plot in Ireland was a collapsible boat in which the man, who is now a prisoner, landed in Ireland from a submarine. He said that was the case, and that the man who landed in Ireland was like to that made at Hanover before the war.

Mr. Shortt said the government knew that in a certain part in Germany a large amount of ammunition was loaded into a German submarine, and that German submarines had been seen in localities where the destruction of shipping could not have been their object.

Mr. Shortt said that since the premier had announced the government's policy with regard to Ireland, circumstances had been changed, there being two main causes for the change. The first and most important, he said, was the fact that Germany was now a real and imminent danger to the country. He

THIRD CANADIAN
HOSPITAL BOMBED

Site Has Been Occupied by the Red Cross for Eighteen Months.

WING CUT IN HALF

Helpless Patients, Cut Off by Flames, Were Brought Down Ladders to Safety.

Ottawa, Ont., June 25.—The following article by Roland Hill, the correspondent at Canadian army headquarters in France, has been received by the militia department.

Following the bombing of two Canadian hospitals near the coast, the Huns have taken toll from another Canadian hospital whose walls during the March fighting sheltered thousands of wounded. Canadian nurses, doctors and officer patients were among the number of those who were killed or seriously wounded. The Canadians have occupied the site for over 18 months, the roofs were painted with great red crosses, and the buildings have never been used for military purposes since the war began. German squadrons which have often flown over it in daylight raids have hitherto dropped no bombs near the buildings.

Last night one three-story wing, which was about 200 yards long, was cut clean in half by a huge bomb, and then caught fire. Bravely the staff of the hospital started to rescue helpless patients in the tower and had an adjacent wing. Doctors and nurseries brought them thru shattered windows, down ladders to safety.

The first bomb was dropped on two floors, and into the operating room, where the night staff were working on some urgent cases that had just been brought in. The operating room was a flaming tomb, and the burning tubes of ether and hydrogen added to the ghastliness of the sight. Fortunately two other surgical teams had just started their work, and the operating room was not completely destr-

CIVICIZED ORDER
AND'S FINED $500

Farmer Has to Pay Heavily for His Utterances in Brantford Court.

Brantford, June 25.—"We had just as soon be under Prussian rule as under the present rule in Canada." For the utterance of these words, or words approximating these, J. A. Cross, a farmer residing on Tuttle Heights, was shortly afternoon today fined $500 and costs by Magistrate Livingston, who, together with Crown attorney Wilkes, gave Cross a strong raking over the coals for the general tenor of his language.

"I have already remarked that a lot of these farmers should have been put in jail," was one of the comments of his worship after the presentation of evidence.

The charge laid against Cross was that of a breach of the order-in-council of April 16, whereby adverse statements against the United Kingdom or any of the allies, are prohibited under heavy penalties.

Cross partially admitted the use of the expression, saying that he might have been provoked. He said he had been provoked by the government's policy of breaking the promise that farmers' sons would be exempt after they had received absolute exemption. It was the order-in-council affecting farmers' sons—the same which brought about the meeting of the farmers of this section here and the deputation to Ottawa—which brought out Cross' remarks.

Cross, when called upon to give evidence, stated that he referred to the government's policy as a scrap of paper, and he did not think that in saying this he was guilty of anything but the bounds of rightful criticism.

Cross told of having two farms, one ten miles from the other, with a total area of 120 acres. He said he had adopted son yet at home, while his other son had recently been drafted. His parents, he said, were English and he had been born in England.

M. W. McEwen, for the defence, contended that Cross had merely exercised the rights of free speech, the same as other citizens all over the country.

The magistrate, "I have already remarked that a lot of these farmers should have been put in jail," the attitude of the farmers was generally satisfied with the government's policy.
Mr. Cross should be singled out for treatment when no others were mentioned.

"All I have to say is that some people have been lax in this connection," the magistrate replied.

Mr. McEwen contended that if any group of citizens in this country was to pass a law prohibiting criticism of it as a government, then it was Prussianism indeed. The defendant had merely exercised his right of common Canadian citizenship.

Had Gave Too Far.

Crown prosecutor Wilkes thought that Cross had gone too far in his statement. Liberty of speech was not license. There was a war on, and people had to hold their tongues.
The language used had certainly been detrimental to the cause of the country in the war. It could be considered as a flat insult to the government, and as to prevent young men from enlistment or giving their best efforts in the service. When sons and daughters were giving their lives blood against Prussianism, it was an insult to have any man say that he would "just as soon be under Prussian rule as under the present rule."

The magistrate took the view that as the government had seen fit to cancel all exemptions, no one had the right to criticize the government, certainly not after the order-in-council of April 16. The people to whom he had addressed his remarks thought that he was a traitor.

The remark recorded was directly and squarely within the meaning of the order-in-council, and was something which it was hoped would be stopped.
It was a serious thing to create dissatisfaction when there was a war on.
Cross was for many years a resident of Townsend Township, Norfolk County. He was a member of the deputation of Brant farmers who went to Ottawa, and he also participated in the farmers' meeting of protest here.
