The question of summer fuel is sol :ed in so many houses by the use of gas in cooking; that it becomes a necessity for the housekeeper with limited income to calculate the possi, lities of her quarterly gas bill beforenand. The waste of gas is not only extravagant, but very uncomfortably productive of heat in these dog days. It is well to remember that an oven heats in readiness for a roast in from 5 to 15 minutes. According to English taste the roast should be put in as hot an oven as possible, till the outside is browned, and then cooked for hours so slowly as just barely to simmer. No fork or krife must be thrust into the meat, as this lets the juices run out and spoils

A teaspoonful of strong coffee added to chocolate at the last minute gives a particularly delicious flavor.

A very good cherry pudding is made in this way: Sweetened cherries are placed in a layer on the bottom of the pudding tin and are then covered with breadcrumbs and dabs of butter. Another layer of cherries and breadadded, and so on to the top layer, which must be of crumbs. The dish is covered and placed in the oven to cook for 50 minutes. The cover is then removed and the pudding browned for ten minutes.
