Norris Bros. Show. The world's greatest living animal trainers, the Norris Bros., will exhibit their big trained animal show in this city Thursday afternoon and night, Aug. 31, under their large waterproof tents, which will be located at the corner of York and Rectory streets. The Messrs. Norris will give a grand free spectacular street carnival and new big parade Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, at which time the entire company of over 300 animal tapers will be seen. This season the show is three times larger than ever before, and many new and novel features have been added. The Norris Bros. are the first animal trainers to successfully "break" the zebra. Heretofore this animal was considered unmanageable, and it remained for the Norris Bros. to prove this to be erroneous. Prof. Norris will drive the zebra in the street parade, and he has never been accomplished before. This one act alone stamps the Norris Bros. as the greatest animal trainers of the age.

I tried several of the best physicians and was burnt and tortured in various ways by their treatments to no avail, besides spending a mint of money to no purpose. Since coming to Toronto I learned of Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used but one box and have not been troubled with piles in any shape or form since."

St. Thomas Times: This morning Chas. McBeth, of London, who is superintending the construction of the brick pavement, left his wheel standing in front of Dr. Fitzgerald's office. RETURNED AN OPEN VERDICT

Miss Booker Came to Her Death by Taking a Dose of Paris Green—Jury Unable to Say Whether With Suicidal Intent or Not.

The adjourned inquest to investigate the death of the late Miss Mary E. Booker, of 679 Princess avenue, was held at the police station last night. The coroner's jury, after hearing the evidence of the parents of deceased, a number of neighbors and Dr. English, returned a verdict that Miss Booker came to her death by taking a poisonous dose of Paris green. They were unable to say whether she did not the young lady took the poison with suicidal intent. The jurors also considered it very unfortunate that medical aid was not summoned until ten hours after the fatal dose had been taken. Mrs. and Miss Booker and several intimate friends and neighbors testified that Miss Booker was never despondent, but was naturally reserved. Their evidence gave no clue to the cause that led the unfortunate young lady to take her life. Miss Booker took the poison at 7:30 in the morning, and confessed to having done so about noon, but would give no reason for her act. At 9 o'clock in the evening she became violently ill, and Dr. English was summoned, but his efforts were of no avail and she died about half an hour after. Dr. English, who attended the deceased and conducted the post-mortem, testified that he found no condition or circumstance which would induce Miss Booker to take her own life, and the coroner stated that she kept company with no person who could have disappointed her. Dr. English questioned her in her last illness, but found no evidence of any cause for mental distress or destruction. The fact that the only cause given by her family for the deed was her reluctance to leave home on a visit to Buffalo with her mother, and her worry over the condition of the home, which is undergoing alterations, did not satisfy the jury as a motive for her action. Dissatisfaction was also expressed by the jury at the failure to call in medical aid until 9 o'clock at night, although the girl confessed to taking the Paris green at 7:30 and was ill all day. The parents explained that they urged her to have them call a doctor, but they had yielded to her pleading not to do so, as the girl said she would get better and she did not wish the matter to get public. FATAL END OF A QUARREL

Andrew Gowanlock Killed by a Single Blow.

He Quarreled With George Harding in the O'Neil House Stable Yard.

Harding Struck Gowanlock With His Clenched Fist and the Latter Fell Dead—Harding Is Charged With Manslaughter and Has Been Remanded for a Week—Both Men Had Been Drinking.

Trivial matters led to an altercation between Andrew Gowanlock, of Thorndale, and George Harding, of this city, about 8 o'clock last evening in the yard of the O'Neil House, corner of Talbot and York streets. Gowanlock was struck once or twice by Harding and fell to the ground and in less than five minutes Dr. Teasdale arrived and found life extinct. Whether death was due to heart failure, injury to the base of the brain received in falling or the blow dealt by Harding, has not yet been determined. Gowanlock's body now lies at the undertaking rooms of Clark & Smith awaiting the coroner's inquest, and Harding is behind the bars awaiting trial for manslaughter. Both men were under the influence of liquor at the time. Harding offered no resistance when P. C. Roland Johnston arrived and placed him under arrest. He was completely sobered by the terrible termination of the quarrel. Another arrest in connection with the affair was that of Wm. Dyer, who was with Harding when Gowanlock met his death. Dyer is the only charge of assault, committed in the vicinity of Port Burwell, of which he was convicted and served a term in the county jail. About 7:30 Gowanlock, who boarded at the O'Neil House, went out to the yard and accosted Harding. Dyer and a number of others who were near the hotel stables, in a joke Harding told Dyer that if he did not keep quiet they would put him in the "tub," and pointed to the trough from which the horses drink. Gowanlock was angered and approached Harding threateningly. Benjamin Beach, the hostler at the hotel, stepped between the men and Gowanlock went into the house. After getting a promise from Harding that he would have no more words with Gowanlock, Beach went back to the hotel for supper. Gowanlock did not remain inside long but returned to the yard with his coat and great coat. Gowanlock and Harding again passed some offensive remarks. Harding returned, and there were more words exchanged, when Gowanlock charged at other man several feet back. Harding, on recovering his balance, dealt Gowanlock a blow on the side and followed with an upper cut which landed on the point of the chin. Gowanlock fell without uttering a word. Dr. Teasdale, whose office is close by, was called, and expressed the opinion that death had been instantaneous. Gowanlock's body was removed to the stable to await the arrival of the coroner, Dr. J. M. Piper, and the police were notified by Mr. Wm. Collins, the proprietor of the O'Neil House. P. C.'s Roland Johnston and Walter Smith were sent to the hotel and found Harding in the center of a group, discussing Gowanlock's death. "Here I am," said Harding, as the officers approached and extended his arms for the handcuffs. He had nothing to fear, he said. Dyer was arrested an hour later on Ridout street near Dundas by Detectives Nickle and Rider. Gowanlock was a laborer, 44 years of age, married and leaves a widow and two children, aged 3 and 10 years. He had been employed as a teamster for some months past by Contractor A. Graham, who is laying artificial stone walks in the city. On Saturday he quit work early in the afternoon to go to Thorndale and spend Sunday with his wife and children. He returned yesterday morning to the O'Neil House, where he had been boarding for the past four weeks, and was apparently under the influence of liquor. He did not go to work. At 11 a.m. he saw Mr. Graham and said he wanted to stay away for the rest of the day. Dr. O'Neil noticed him in his stables during the day, and reprimanded him for his profanity. The unfortunate man was very much intoxicated when he quarreled with Harding. He was a good workman and of unusually fine physique, much taller and heavier than the man at whose hands he met death. Harding is about 35 years of age, and is also married. He had attained a local reputation as a pugilist, but his vocation is looking after horses. He had been working as a hostler at various times for almost every horseman in the city. Last night he was to have gone to Toronto with a number of Llewellyn Meredith's horses, entered by the fair. Harding and Dyer came up before Magistrate Parke this morning, and were both remanded for a week.

CLIPPINGS FROM A DAWSON PAPER

Containing Some Surprising Information of the Yukon Territory. J. W. Cockburn, of the Yukon Field Force, stationed at Fort Selkirk, Y. T., has sent to The Advertiser a copy of the Dawson Daily News of Aug. 2. The News in the only daily published in the Yukon Territory, and was the first paper of any kind published there. Typographically, it is a good enough production for any city on the continent. It is well printed on good paper, and up-to-date in every respect. Its articles are well written, and give the news of the district in crisp, clear, terse style. But the News ought to be a good paper. Single copies sell for 25 cents, and the price of a year's subscription is $50. Many of the local items are interesting, even at this distance. It is with something of a shock that one reads that two young men swam the Yukon River from Klondike City to West Dawson, and that the chill of the water gave them no inconvenience. A cafe that is evidently cutting rates, advertises 21 meal tickets for $25. One learns that "Dawson market is being supplied with many kinds of home-grown vegetables, potatoes alone excepted, but experiments already tried and supplied with many kinds of home-grown vegetables, potatoes alone excepted." A published interview with Governor Brady of Alaska, contains the following: "Men have told me," he continued, speaking of the future of this country, "that they are more hopeful of agricultural possibilities in the Yukon than they are of Duluth, and with the winters here not near so disagreeable

SPRAINED BACK! Sprains, Strains and Injuries of the Back Often Cause Kidney Trouble. DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS. THE CURE. Here is the Proof: Mrs. S. Horning, Glasgow street, Guelph, Ont., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are grand. I have not been ill since taking them, which was over a year ago last winter, and can give you my warmest praise; for they restored me to health after 25 years of suffering. Twenty-five years ago I sprained my back severely, and ever since my kidneys have been in a very bad state. The doctors told me that my left kidney especially was in a very bad condition. A terrible burning pain was always present, and I suffered terribly from lumbago and pain in the small of my back, together with other painful and distressing symptoms, common to kidney complaints. I could not sleep, and suffered much from rheumatism. "When I first commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had little or no faith in them, but I thought I would try them; and it proved the best experiment I ever made. I had only taken two boxes when the pain left my back entirely. Three boxes more, or five in all, made a complete cure. "After 25 years' of suffering from kidney disease, I am now healthy and strong again, and will be pleased to substantiate what I have said, should anyone wish to inquire."
