

AID REQUESTED FOR HAMILTON HIGHWAY

Government Will Be Asked for Grant—No Change in Commission.

Representatives of the municipalities contributing to the Toronto-Hamilton highway met at the parliament buildings yesterday to consider the proposal for a redistribution of the cost of maintaining the road. At the outset the idea of transferring it to the department of highways to be incorporated into the provincial road system was effectively killed.

Toronto's representatives—Mayor Church, Controllers Maguire, Gibbons, and Ramsden and Works Commissioner Harris—took the ground that the present commission had done good work and should continue in charge.

A resolution was submitted by Mr. Richardson, of Port Credit, that the province be requested to share the cost on the basis of providing for provincial highways under the highways act.

This gave rise to the question of whether Toronto and Hamilton would thereby have to pay more than they do at present.

Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of highways, explained that under the proposed change each city would have to pay 20 per cent. of the cost for that part of the road over which it has jurisdiction. He stated that the cost of the road would be fully half the highway's length. Mr. Biggs indicated that Toronto's share would therefore be approximately 20 per cent. of one-half the road. The area of market influence of both cities would have to be definitely decided by the minister.

After searching for other means of distributing the cost, so that the province would share the expense, it appeared that the most equitable method was to simply request the government for an annual grant, which would relieve municipalities of part of what they are paying now.

Mayor Cleaver moved a resolution that the Toronto-Hamilton highway be included in the provincial system. On a vote nine municipalities registered against it to five in favor.

Controller Maguire moved that the provincial government be memorialized to grant 80 per cent. of the cost of the highway, and that the distribution of the money be made on the same basis as in the original agreement governing the cost of the route. This motion was carried, and six municipalities voting for, and six against.

HAMILTON TIMES CEASES PUBLICATION

(Continued From Page 1). Into between the Hamilton publishers and the Typographical Union, was unable to meet the demands which the union officials thought were fair under the circumstances, with the result as stated.

"This is very much regretted by the Ontario Newspaper Corporation, Limited, but as the only alternative to all the facts are considered, the proposal to establish a morning newspaper in Hamilton is not a profitable one. It is a business which has not developed so quickly and unexpectedly as to produce a successful operation of the enterprise which this company has undertaken."

Conditions Not Normal. "The management has, however, reason to be grateful for the encouragement received from the city. Considering the appeal that was made, the response that was made from the advertising standpoint and subscriptions received, gave assurance that under normal conditions the publication of a morning paper in Hamilton would be a profitable business. All obligations will be promptly met and money received for unexpired subscriptions and advertising refunded immediately."

"Newspaper Service" Unaffected. W. Nelson Wilkinson, managing editor of The Hamilton Morning Times, who is also president and general manager of the Canadian Newspaper Service, Inc., announced the following statement to the public:

"Canadian Newspaper Service, Limited, was separate and distinct from The Hamilton Times. The company purchased from the Ontario Newspaper Corporation Limited, the plant and assets of the Canada Ready Print, and amalgamated it with the Canadian Newspaper Service, Limited. The business of The Canadian Newspaper Service, Limited, is not affected by the suspension of The Hamilton Morning Times."

Another amendment accepted makes it the duty of the central council of Ireland to frame a plan for the constitution of the second chambers.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS

That the activities of the Women's Institute, covers a wide survey of interests, was shown by the number of resolutions brought in yesterday at the annual meeting now in session at the Technical School. One from North Lanark asked that a more rigid censorship be maintained over moving pictures, advertisements and a more general use of educational films encouraged. Disapproval was expressed by the Western Ontario Institute in connection with the rescinding of liquor into the province. Other resolutions dealt with the tendency of "modest dress," the blame being attached to laxity in the homes; that in the development of the Hydro-Electric system of the province every consideration be given to the needs of the farm and farm home.

SHOULD OPEN YARDS, LABOR MEN BELIEVE

Say Employment Would Be Aided by Completion of Dominion Vessels.

Considerable criticism of the Dominion government for its failure to re-open the yards of the Dominion Shipbuilding Company has been current during the past few days in labor circles. Trades union officials point out that on the two government vessels which have been left uncompleted last September, the Dominion Shipbuilding Company has been current during the past few days in labor circles. Trades union officials point out that on the two government vessels which have been left uncompleted last September, the Dominion Shipbuilding Company has been current during the past few days in labor circles.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine, visited the city during the last part of October, and following a conference with Herb Wright, business agent of the shipbuilders' union, stated that the yard would be re-opened during the early part of this month. No further developments have since occurred, however, although Mr. Ballantyne, at the time of his visit, inspected the yard and the ships in course of construction and expressed his satisfaction that their completion would be both to the interests of the government and to the benefit of the present industrial situation.

MUSIC AT CONSERVATORY SPLENDIDLY RENDERED

Toronto Conservatory of Music, recently added to the faculties of the University of Toronto thru the able ministrations of Dr. Torrington and other friends of music in this city, is to be congratulated upon both the recital given at the Conservatory Hall last night and upon Mr. Carlos Buhler of its faculty, who rendered a number of very classical as well as representative musical studies with an eye both to technique and interpretation. It was notable that his technique was perfect in the pianissimo passages and in the studies which called rather for expression than mere technique. In the triple fugue study, in E flat tonic, he was perhaps not expressed at its best, whereas in such studies as Chopin's "Ballade in F Minor" and Scriabine's "Etude," or again in Debussy's "La Cathédrale Engloutie," technique was perfectly rendered and expression given full play. The hall was filled with an appreciative audience.

BRIGHTER HOMES MADE BY FLOWERS

Declares Governor-General at Opening of Horticultural Exhibition.

The language of flowers and plants is in very silent evidence at Oddfellows' Temple, 229 College street, where the Ontario Horticultural Association opened their twelfth annual exhibition yesterday.

Every lover of flowers should see the display put up by the society. It is smaller this year for reasons of space, but the specimens have been so carefully chosen and blended that the old Oddfellows' Hall is really a place of beauty.

The exhibition of fruit and vegetables is also worthy of great praise. The apple display is excellent, and it would be difficult to find a better Doherty good to see that not all the good apples of Ontario are sent to England, as is often declared, and that the Ontario Vegetable-Growers' Association, the Fruit-Growers' Association, the Bee-Keepers' Association, the Gardeners' and Florists' Association and the Toronto Retail Florists' Club, was opened by the governor-general, who was accompanied by the Hon. Lionel Clarke, Lieutenant-governor of Ontario, and Col. Fraser.

The duke, in declining the exhibition open congratulations, the associations on the display, said that he had very pleasant recollections of last year's exhibition. He declared such displays of flowers were instructive, as everyone today was realizing the importance of trying to make homes brighter, and that could be done by flowers. There was no better occupation for a man's leisure—not that he knew of any other flowers, he said; they all worked too hard—but when they had the spare time, the cultivation of flowers was to be desired, and that could be a step forward in progress.

In conclusion, the duke said the people of Ontario were to be congratulated on their horticultural work and results.

Lieutenant-governor Clarke said, also, he knew of no other flowers, he loved them more than he did, and that the glass house at Government House was the one spot he loved in Toronto, he said, was a city of homes, and if every householder would grow flowers, it would be the one spot he loved in Toronto, he said, was a city of homes, and if every householder would grow flowers, it would be the one spot he loved in Toronto.

The president of the Horticultural Association, George S. Strickland, Attorney-General Roney and L. A. Hamilton, representing the Fruit-Growers' Association of Ontario, also spoke.

TALK OF REPRISALS IN UNITED STATES

Note to British Embassy From Amalgamated Irish Societies of America.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The British embassy announced today it had taken steps to call the attention of the United States state department to a message recently received by the British Chief Secretary for Ireland, dated New York, and threatening reprisals against Englishmen resident in the United States "if there are any men of Irish descent in America and here after the fourteenth day of November."

The New York message was sent in the name of the Amalgamated Irish Societies of America and bore the signature "J. V. O'Connor, president."

At the state department it was said nothing had been received tonight from the embassy in relation to the message. No comment as to the breach of the peace of America, or might pursue was available.

The New York message as made public by the embassy read: "I am going to clear up this mess before I leave here," he declared emphatically.

Witness also gave sworn testimony at the fire marshal's inquest, but had not witnessed the fire in the building.

"You didn't see him, do anything?" asked the crown. "No, I can't swear to it now, I can't remember if he threw stones."

Regarding his statement at the inquest that he did see Cowell throw stones, witness replied that he might have known him and if he said it then he believed it to be true.

He could not say now who set fire to the building or who shouted, "Kill them," meaning the firemen, who were putting out the fire or who threw stones at them. He contended that his memory had become a blank as to what happened that night.

Prods Witness. "Was your evidence correct?" asked Crown Counsel Jeffrey. "I can't say," replied Price. "Did you hear 'I can't say'?" "Was it true or false?" "I suppose true. I would remember better that time." Other questions were asked with the same non-committal answer "I can't say."

In dismissing witness Mr. Jeffrey told him that the chief thing in the work, is to tell the truth, no matter who it may hurt.

Says Star Chamber Ordeal. In examination Griffiths characterized the fire marshal's inquest as a star chamber ordeal. He said that the questions and answers were apparently put into a form which was calculated to lead to a conviction of those testifying.

William Farrer claimed he noticed Fred Cowell with stones in his hands, and also saw him throw some, but his memory was engaged by the inquest.

John Battie, a boy of about twelve, declared he did not see any stone thrown or anyone setting fire to the building. This was so contradictory to his previous evidence that the crown appealed to the court to adjourn in order to give Battie one more chance to refresh his memory.

Even trench lights were thrown into the building. He considered that the demeanor of the crowd showed that it would be unsafe to have attempted to remove the lights.

Chief Leung of Welland, on whom Mr. Neal gave his life, was put on the stand. He told of being called to render assistance, and of arriving at Thorold with Constables Wilmore and Angle about 7:30, when there would be a crowd of 1500 surging around the town hall, where the stone-throwing episode, the hearing of revolver shots, and the attempt to rush the stairs after fire had forced the officials downstairs.

Three Trench Lights. Even trench lights were thrown into the building. He considered that the demeanor of the crowd showed that it would be unsafe to have attempted to remove the lights.

Chief Leung declared the crowd to be a hostile one, whose conduct tended to a breach of the peace of America, and after the fourteenth day of November. The New York message was sent in the name of the Amalgamated Irish Societies of America and bore the signature "J. V. O'Connor, president."

RAVAGES OF COMMON COLDS ARE APPALLING

Is Most Prevalent of All Diseases and Causes More Death, Suffering and Decreased Efficiency Than All Wars and Epidemics.

often does, proceed to these, thus producing Pneumonia. Vital statistics show that Pneumonia kills more people than any other disease, excepting Tuberculosis and Heart Disease. Many cases of Pneumonia begin as common colds, which have been neglected.

Persons of hereditary tubercular tendency should guard against colds and should take proper measures to stop their progress with the first symptoms. It is evident, therefore, that instead of being a trivial affection, the "common cold" must be classed as a serious menace to public health.

Asprolox, the new scientific cold remedy which has been accomplishing such remarkable results, probably provides the safest, surest and quickest, as well as the most practical, treatment for colds yet discovered.

This new remedy, according to the statements of the thousands who have used it, is almost magical in its effect. The first dose usually stops the tendency to sneezing and coughing and relieves the feeling of discomfort, and the second and third dose usually suffice to stop the progress of a fresh cold altogether. Only one bottle is generally sufficient to break up the most obstinate cold, no matter of how long standing.

The great superiority of Asprolox over the ordinary treatment heretofore prescribed is due to the fact that it is a combination treatment and acts as an antipyretic, expectorant, laxative and antiseptic, thereby removing the cause, while many other remedies relieve the symptoms only momentarily.
