

SUCCESSSES IN GERMAN EAST AFRICA

A War Office communique gives good news from German East Africa. Daka has been occupied and in the coastal area columns are moving on Dar es Salaam, the capital, in co-operation with several ships of the royal navy. A seaplane is shown entering its hangar. The villagers are giving their assistance.

With the Canadian Troops

They've Captured More Than 2,000 of Enemy Since September 3; Something of Their Work

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Lieutenant-General Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, has received the following communication from the Canadian Corps Headquarters in France, via London, Oct. 19.—It is impossible for those who are not actively participating in this great battle, and who must still entertain a conception of warfare based on former wars, to understand the extraordinary revolution which has gradually taken place in our methods of attack. The Somme offensive is being conducted upon new principles, drawn from the study and experience of the last two years. It is at the same time the most colossal and the most fearful form of warfare which has ever been evolved. Its novelty is its character of change and invention, its bold departure from military precedents is well exemplified by the famous tanks. Its gigantic scale is illustrated by the casualty returns which represent, however, but a small fraction of the troops employed. Its infinite detail may be seen from a study of the trench maps, where the facing and interlocking of innumerable lines form a most intricate pattern and show the slow labor and nature of the advances. Objectives of attack must be defined with the exactitude of a city plot. They must be approached by the construction of parallel jumping-off trenches and communication trenches, and the advance must be made as possible the period of infantry exposure and also the direction of the assault. Aeroplane photographs must be obtained of the area objective, to show the precise location of the enemy's lines and the results of the artillery preparation there. Photographs are clear and searching, and some taken during the assault, even show the advancing figures of the infantry. Every detail, every secret of the German defence is laid bare. Soon after the aeroplane observer, sweeping low over the enemy's lines, photographs, the results have been distributed to all the staffs concerned.

Dominate the Air.

In this respect the British and French domination is almost absolute. Here all day long we watch our planes circling above our heads. Closely they come and far off they seem to hang suspended in the sky. Occasionally a flight of five or more planes, intent upon some special mission, go over high up and disappear into the distant mist. So rarely do the German machines appear that some men who have been here daily for a month have not seen a single one.

The Canadian corps is only a unit in the great drama. Its movements depend not upon its own volition but upon the intricate web of the great scheme of battle. Let any essential portion be checked in its allotted task, and a rearrangement of the whole fabric must be made.

the way is a vista of utter ruin and desolation. This is a desert land, but the silence of the desert is not here. Night and day the silence is shattered by the never-ceasing fire of our own guns, or by the crashing explosion of the enemy's guns. Posters shares the fate of La Boisselle. No hand could trace the outlines of a single house or garden plot. There are no bricks or beams which could be used in restoration. As a village Posters has disappeared.

Just beyond Posters, and still below the summit, runs the line of trenches first occupied by the Canadians. These are in the midst of the ground which has most suffered. Here is the scene of destruction. No grain or surface remains undisturbed. There is no room for a fresh shell hole. Nowhere now is the power of modern artillery or the thoroughness of preparation better exemplified. We have literally blasted our way forward. Ruin appears not only in the devastated area and the crushed houses but also in the sadder waste of human life. This is all ground seized by the memory of our advance, and the severely defined trenches of the enemy the German corpses lie thickly.

Last Week's Fighting.

Already the scenes of our earlier attacks are losing the clearness of their detail. The memory of this ground is fresh, the immediate interest of the front line is absorbing. During the past week our advance has not been the result of infantry assault, but of hard labor, under artillery fire, and some times at night subjected to the sweep of machine gun fire or the hail of the enemy snipers. Only upon one occasion did the enemy attempt, by counter attack, to check the advance.

At 2.30 p. m., on the afternoon of Oct. 11, he opened a heavy fire on our front line trenches, shortly afterwards about 100 German attempted to leave their trenches, but our snipers were promptly replied to by our artillery, and so effective a barrage was placed upon the front line that they were driven back with considerable loss.

As they retreated northwards along the Pyramont-Mirambert road, they left a trail of destruction. The survivors of the German attack were engaged and several replacements destroyed.

There are no fences, there are no waste places, there are no ragged groves, no idle clumps of trees, no half-cleared land. Every inch of earth does its patient, happy labor. Fields are only distinguished by the difference of the crop, or the direction of the furrows. Admiration for French.

Very deep and very sincere is the admiration of the Canadian soldier, not only for the skill and courage of the French army but for the brave, silent industry of the women, the old men and the children of the French farms.

The transition from this scene of beauty, peace and ancient prosperity to a minutely distressing field is given over to the tramping rows of tethered horses, and are disfigured by a variety of encumbrances from ordered white tents to huts of rusted biscuit tins and low discolored hives.

There is a certain inevitable litter or materials; there is an obsession of a lot of military. The houses are all occupied by uniforms more or less clean, a few civilians are engaged in selling eggs, candles or embroidered picture cards, and other odds and ends. The roads block and jam with a ceaseless procession of arm vehicles or marching units. Either the dust rises in a choking cloud or the mud spreads and splatters everywhere. This area of active occupation gradually thins and abuts on a region of more sinister appearance. Here trees have broken bodies, and the houses seem in pain, for their roofs are rent, their windows gone, their walls scarred and pierced.

Grass-grown trenches appear stinged with depths of rusted barbed wire entanglements, and shell holes fresh or old become more and more frequent. But the full view of the land of war is not dulled in effect by its gradual coming over beyond the bleak gray slopes east of Albert, with their chalky scars cut by the long lines of trenches.

The view suddenly sweeps into the valley. Before La Boisselle there were the original German and British lines on July 14. This was the outer wall, the stoutly resisting shell of the defence, through which the indomitable English had fought their way and so permitted those who followed, other English, Australian, South Africans and Canadians to come and deal their blows.

Of La Boisselle there is more upon a map than on the ground. A few shattered trunks, here and there a splintered beam, perhaps a corner stone or two, some cellars roofed with wreckage. Otherwise only the upheaval of tortured earth, mine craters, heaps of rotting white in full extension, half-choked trenches and a dreary litter of old wire, cans and human rubbish remain.

On the left is the twin city of desolation, Ovillers, La Boisselle, and between the two the white road running beyond and mounts to the level of Posters. All

EARNINGS OF SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS DURING VACATION

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 20.—Amazing results showing the thrift of the students of the North Central high school in earning money during the summer months are revealed in a statistical report completed by Miss Ida May Wilson, head of the vocational department at one of the two Spokane high schools. Sixty-five per cent of the boys enrolled in the high school worked during the summer. They earned a total of $28,850. Twelve per cent of the girls worked, earning a total of $4,347.63. The senior A girls during the summer averaged only $50.50 in comparison with the average of $102.66 by the boys of the same class. The average earned by the girls gradually decreases by classes from the standard set by the senior A girls. The freshman B girls hold the lowest average, each worker earning $24.81. The average earnings of all the girls and all the boys was $54.62, while the average earning power of the boys was $72.82 and of the girls $36.62. The total number of boys who worked during the summer was 306, while 116 girls worked. More boys chose farm work and common labor in mines, mills and factories than any other occupations. Either is good for removing grease stains from clothing.

ACUTE AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to some kind of infection. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a cure in all cases. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction, and that every case of rheumatism has been cured. This is a great disappointment. All physicians agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. R. Schmitt expresses this opinion of rheumatism as follows: "Rheumatism is a disease of the nervous system when he says that anti-kennite salts should be given in preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These salts can be used in the form of capsules, and they are also unsurpassed in headache, neuralgia and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets."
