Weather it was for advertising purposes, to test police protection or due to the subtle carelessness of one of the clerks is not known, perhaps all three reasons may explain why a suit of men's clothing was left outside the door of I. HE HAS NOT AUTHORITY TO COLLECT

Young Man Seeking From Citizens in Name of the Victoria Athletic Club - No Right, Says Mr. Armstrong

A young man who states that he belongs to the Victoria Athletic Club is collecting money from citizens. The Times-Star has been asked about it. There was an organization last winter known as the Victoria Athletic Club, of which R. J. Armstrong was president, and it has not yet been dissolved, although Armstrong has no authority to collect money for that club. The young man who has been collecting showed, quite a list of names and had apparently been quite successful in his collection campaign was carried on last fall in the name of the same club, which has yet failed to produce any evidence. When asked last fall why they did not join the Every Day Club, the collector volunteered the information that it was "no good."

Whether he is the same who is now seeking funds this paper has not learned.
