"Pitts of Rum" Lecturer is Blamed for Death of a Woman Killed by His Car.

Philadelphia, June 16—George Tyler of Baltimore, lecturer on "The Pitts of Rum," was held by the coroner to be criminally responsible for the death of Miss Mary Emuley, on May 27, on the ground that he was intoxicated while driving the automobile that killed her.
He was bound over to await Grand Jury action.

When Police Surgeon Keller testified that Tyler was untidy and smelled of alcohol when he was examined just after the accident, Tyler called to have been shown to have been a prohibition speech at Whosever Mission when the woman met her death.

He was untidy on his feet. The alcoholic broth, Tyler claimed, was due to a medicine he took for the ailment.

FOR VOCATIONAL SCHOOL
To the Editor of The Times: Sir—I was very pleased to see your article of June 14, calling the attention of our people to the urgent need for a Vocational High School in this city. It seems regrettable that our boys and girls, ninety per cent, of whom do not desire to pursue a classical course should not be given an opportunity of securing
