ELECTION CARDS

ELECTION CARD ELECTION CARD

I beg respectfully to inform the Electors of St. John (not overlooking the 17 voters) that, in response to requests from citizens in the north, south and east sections of the City, I have decided to enter the field as a candidate for the office of Commissioner at the ensuing Civic election.

The new council will have to deal with some very important subjects, including the routing of the Valley Railway, the terminals at East St. John, the completion of the paving of Main street, the paving of some other streets on which the traffic is heavy, the care and maintenance of all of the streets, the providing of a more equitable system of taxation and the improving of the ferry service in Carleton by utilizing a slip extending to Union street, if the change should be found to be a practicable one.

In these and in several other important matters, as well as in departmental matters, I should hope, if elected, to be of service to the City, and I would advocate the "open door" at City Hall and the taking of a public vote at an early date on a number of public questions not requiring expert knowledge for their decision.

I will be pleased to receive such support as may be accorded to me.
G. FRED FISHER.

ELECTION CARD

To the Electors of the City of St. John: Ladies and Gentlemen:

I take the opportunity of announcing my candidature at the coming election for Commissioner. To call upon each elector will be impossible, but I will endeavor to interview as many as possible. I fully appreciate the responsibility and duty which should rest upon anyone honored with your confidence. If elected I expect to discuss and act upon civic matters in such a manner as will meet with an intelligent and vigilant public opinion.

I am in favor of the open door, and giving of reasons for arriving at conclusions.
I respectfully solicit your support.
CLARENCE W. McFARLANE.

ELECTION CARD

At the solicitation of a large number of electors, I will be a candidate for Commissioner, at the coming civic election, and beg to solicit the support of the citizens generally.
JAMES V. RUSSELL.

ELECTION CARD

As I am not in favor of promises but in doing, I again ask your liberal support in this coming election for commissioner, and if elected I will carry out your wish as far as your money will allow.
Yours obedient,
WALTER W. ALLINGHAM.
6-12.

Byron, Keats and Burns Know Science of Self-Defense

FAVORITE POETS AS BOXERS

Maurice Maeterlinck, a Belgian poet and dramatist, some time ago decided to spar a number of rounds with Carpenter, the celebrated heavyweight champion of Europe. The poet and the pugilist appeared on behalf of a desecrating Paris charity.

The author of "Fables and Melancholy" and "The Steps of a Staircase" celebrated poet, Lord Byron, who prided himself on being a skilled boxer. He frequently attended meetings of the "Famous Poets as Boxers" and in his diary he writes: "I have been sparring with Jackson this morning and mean to renew my acquaintance with my mufflers. My wind is in good plight and I am not in the least fatigued by a hard hitter."

From Byron's friend and fellow bard Percy Bysshe Shelley, such a resolution would have been impossible, yet although in every sense of a retiring disposition, he could, when needed, resent an insult in true British style. Keats used to relate how he once astonished a drunken and abusive waterman by pitching into him and thus secured a vigorous style with his fists that the fellow begged for mercy.

Keats himself, although constitutionally delicate, was a boxer of no mean order. He possessed of no small amount of physical strength. He was, indeed, well able to take his own part, as he conclusively proved when assaulted by a heaving butcher, who mistook for cowardice the poet's naturally retiring manner. Quickly he found out his error as he rose, amid the jeering laughter of his companions, from the mud into which he had been sent by a straightly delivered blow.

Charles Kingsley, besides being a novelist, was a poet of no mean order. He was, too, what may be termed a handy man with his fists. "There was another professor whose lectures we attended together," wrote the Rev. Pittman Campbell, who was a fellow undergraduate with Kingsley at Cambridge. "One who taught the gentle art of self-defence—a negro of pure blood—who appeared to Kingly at Cambridge, a man who usually allied to humanity."

Robert Burns, besides being an adept in such athletic exercises as putting the stone, well knew how to take care of himself in a "stumpup" while another Scottish bard, James Hogg, the Ettrick Shepherd, was, in his youth, a doughty opponent for any one who fancied himself as a boxer. On one occasion, it is related, he contested for upward of an hour with a strapping hardman, a man his superior in weight and inches, and one, moreover, who had fought more than one desperate battle for a money stake. Despite his qualifications the soldier was at length obliged to own himself beaten.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

PAT'S WILL

An elderly gentleman who knew something of law lived in an Irish village where no solicitor had ever penetrated, and was in the habit of arranging the disputes of his neighbors and making their wills. At an early hour one morning he was aroused from his slumbers by a knocking at his gate, and putting his head out of the window, he asked who was there.

"It's me, yer honor, Paddy Flaherty. I could not get a wink of sleep thinking of the will I have made."

"What's the matter with the will?" said the amateur lawyer.

"Matter indeed!" replied Pat. Sure I've not left myself a three-legged stool to sit upon."

FAIRVILLE NEWS

Last evening W. E. Earle entertained at dinner at his residence, Lancaster Heights, the guests being Taylor Station of the Boys' Conference, Physical Director Howard of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Fisher, Mr. McAllister, Rev. G. Earle and S. M. Stout. A pleasant evening was spent in a social chat, and several phases of the boy problem were discussed and elicited much information from Mr. Station.

Among the ladies of the local branch of the W. C. T. U. who attended the meeting in St. John High School yesterday afternoon addressed by Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston, were Mrs. O. D. Hanson, Mrs. J. W. Stevens, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Wm. Fox.

In the Methodist church, a series of services to be continued during Passion Week was inaugurated last evening the topic being "The Cross." There was a good attendance.

Three gentlemen of the type usually styled "hobo" visited the village last evening and spent some time looking for a place to rest their weary bones in sleep but without avail. Their efforts were fruitless. The community is not often troubled by such characters and one reason perhaps is that the local jail is to be feared and shunned at any cost and that being the only house of refuge, vagrants are scarce.

"You have too much rouge on, my dear, to enact properly a milkmaid."

"Have I, sir? But I thought a milkmaid should be well-checked."

"On the contrary, a milkmaid is naturally a pail girl."

WHEN RHEUMATISM STRIKES THE HEART

IT KILLS—"NERVILINE" THE CURE

Effect of Nerviline on Chronic Cases is Almost Magical

Exposure to wet or cold is apt to bring on an attack. The muscles stiffen, the joints swell, and exertion brings on excruciating twinges. Often the pain shifts from one part to another, and this is dangerous as the heart is apt to be attacked. Death as a rule follows a heart attack.

The pain of rheumatism is quickly rubbed away with "Nerviline." This is a swift, lasting and safe way to cure rheumatism. You can depend on Nerviline. It has the power, the penetrating force, the control over pain that is so essential to a rheumatic remedy.

Lots of testimony to prove Nerviline's certainty to cure.

The following letter is from Mr. R. G. Sauter, Port of Spain, Trinidad: "Last year I was severely troubled with rheumatism. I had it in my arms, shoulders and knees. The pain was at times excruciating, and laid me up so that I couldn't work. I went to Smith Brothers' Drug Store, and was advised by the manager to use 'Nerviline.' That was excellent advice. I used Nerviline as directed and was cured, completely cured of every trace of my old enemy."

Once you use Nerviline you'll realize it's different from all the others—that it contains something that gets right "at" the pain the minute you rub it on. The large 50 cent family size is the most economical—get it today, or else the 25 cent trial size. Sold by dealers everywhere, or the Cataract Co., Kingston, Canada.
