If Mr. Sproul were elected to represent the constituency in the local house, what would be the result? Would he thank any Liberals who had lent him their aid to attain such an end? Could he do them any good? Is it not on the contrary eminently clear and apparent from the record of the man, and from the record of the Tory party, that he and they would herald his election far and wide as of future walkovers-a triumph about F. D. Monk, M. P., both delivered adpendent electors whom Mr. Sproul is now endeavoring to cajole into voting for him, would "kick themselves" as soon as they realized the meaning of their work?

All the specimens of cajolery and chicthe hard-and fast dyed-in-the-wool Tories, but to guilefully seduce if possible the independent element of the electorate who hold in their hands the fate of the county. The electors who constitute this independent think deeply, and their eyes are not blinded by any glamour of Tory sectionalism. They realize that the present administration in this province has nothing in its record that the people of Kings county can fail to commend. They realize that in electing a supporter of this government they will declare themselves in unison with the progress and enterprise tion, and will place themselves upon a higher plane of prestige than if they for pure recklessness-there could be no other cause declared themselves against the government. They realize that the Mone ton convention of Toryism has never been repudiated by Mr. Sproul and that today he stands upon it to wrest if he can the

THE SUN'S GUTTER METHODS.

'In the Sun of Tuesday appeared an ed itorial under the title, "Mr. Sproul and Mr. Milligan," in which Mr. Sproul is quoted as saying, "that the bogus Rothesay list found its way into the hands of Mr. Milligan, the Liberal Organizer at that time, now the Manager of The Telegraph." The editorial proceeds as follows: "Mr. Sproul also pointed out that the bogus list was registered in the Post Of-fice in Mr. Milligan's name. If these speaking in his own house it is well to look speaking in his own house it is well to look the first they are certainly pertinent to the issue. If they are not true, Mr. Milligan would do well to contradict them. He certainly cannot deny died upon the lips of his friends when it its results may constitute one of the most that the letter containing the bogus list was mailed in his name, and he has not yet denied that the genuine list found its way to his hands before it disappeared. Nor has he, so far as we know, denied consigned them. Hence the Sun's silence. all knowledge of the preparation of the

The Sun in making this latter comment, is making a statement which is not only the Sun knows to be absolutely false. On lished in The Daily Telegraph "An open the President must not be the recipient of the making of the bogus list. We quote a section of that letter which was signed by Mr. Milligan:

"I had absolutely nothing to do with the revision of the Rothesay non-resident list; never saw either one or the other of the two lists; never asked that a name be added or taken off the list; and as far as my memory serves me, never had any converging the same of the s

The Postmaster's second letter to Mr. Otty, published in the Globe, clearly shows that fact, for in it Postmaster Hanington admits his specific statement in the first letter to be incorrect, and simply states that the letter in question purported to have been mailed from my office. Possibly it was. But neither I or my clerk have ever seen the list, and we are clerk have ever seen the list, and we are both satisfied we, neither of us, mailed any letter that would be likely to contain such a bulky document. As far as I can tell, I was away from the city attending the Kings county recount of votes at Hampton during the entire time that the revision was being completed."

This "Open letter" was at the time re published in the Sun, but its explicit denial has not prevented either Mr. Sproul or the Sun from again making a most bitter and venomous attack on Mr. Mili-

The electors today will poll it seriously, and upon it found a very grave and serious charge.

We are surprised that a respectable paper such as the Sun professes to be would indulge in such mean personali ties directed against the manager of business rival, but Tory bitterness wil stoop to anything, no matter how mean or

Thus it seems that the possibility of bribery by some of the states was considered in the beginning of American history. Instead of being vile and deadly brigands in the popular acceptation of the term, the kidnappers are now represented as to win funds for the patriotic cause of enabling the Macedonians to free their land from Turkish rule. That sort of thing may be excellently calculated to win the sympathies of many residents of the United States, but if Miss Stone had been a British subject instead, it would have been called exacting money fraudulently and under false pretences, and the perpetrators of such fraud would have been rattled up to the bar of justice so quick that the great American eagle's eyes would open in admiration. DEAFNESS IS CURABLE. Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhozone are reported and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrho-zone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall, of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarr-

Ald Millidge referred to the advance in rates of fire insurance and quoted from a statement compiled for the Insurance. Chronicle from the official statements of the superintendent of insurance, Ottawa. The net premiums received by British, Canadian and American offices for business in Canada for 32 years were $156,704,807; combined losses and expenses, $156,447, 491, leaving $317,316 as profits—less than one-fifth of 1 per cent. This he said was in itself sufficient reason for raising the rates. A subsidiary reason affecting St. John was the change in method of assessing insurance companies which the city had brought about. Under the old system in 1899 the fire insurance companies which the city had brought about. Under the new one (which provided the impost of a license fee)—in 1901 the amount was $6,725. The insurance companies had stated to the city that unless the water system was extended to Loch Lomond so as to provide a minimum pressure for fire putposes of 20 pounds, and unless some additions were made to the fire department the rates would be advanced. This was not the real reason—that being found in the almost profitless business.

Speaking of the water supply at present, he quoted from Engineer Murdoch's report.

Speaking of the water supply at present, he quoted from Engineer Murdoch's report of last year showing the number of fire hydrants in the city to be 321, there being 105 on the high level and 216 on the low level. Only 12 had a pressure of less than 20 pounds, the majority varying from 30 to 50 pounds.

worth streets, the highest level in the city, water would rise without pumping 10 feet at midday and 21 at midnight. By 10 feet at midday and 21 at midnight. By pumping a further altitude of 30 feet would be secured giving a minimum pressure of 17 or 18 pounds. This would be increased through the city. On Prince William street water would rise 100 feet to the level of the Little River reservoir. The city has already decided to raise the dam at the Little River reservoir three feet. The first recommendation he made was to increase the storage capacity of the reservoir at the pumping station at Silver Falls by raising the dam three feet, which would make the reservoir 1,500 feet long, 300 feet wide. At present the reservoir at Silver Falls could be emptied in 25 minutes; with the improvements tied in 25 minutes; with the improvements it would take 121-2 hours. The cost of raising the dam and acquiring necessary land would be about $3,500. This he thought the most important recommenda-tion. In reference to the reservoir at Little River all the land necessary for its be April before the lake is filled again. Ald. Millidge proposed to increase the available supply in this lake by depressing the sluice way to 12 feet from the present depth of seven feet. As a feeder for Lake Lattimer, to enable it to fill more quickly, he proposed to divert Elderslie brook by means of a canal to the slake. This canal would be 4,500 feet long, 4 deep, 6 wide at the base and 26 wide at the top. By this system, in addition to the other feeders, Lake Lattimer would recover much sooner. The cost of this

Ald. Minings said that to do so it would be necessary to raise the Silver Falls dam eight feet and this the council had refused to do. The cost would be about $50,000 as opposed to $3,000 for the improvements now projected. His idea was to store the water higher up when it could be let deven as proceed. be let down as needed.

Ald. Christie thought further improvements at Silver Falls were not very necessary. The object was to store a supply for pumping purposes. The Little River reservoir could be tapped for enough water for these needs.
Ald. Millidge said it would take two hours to replenish the reservoir at Silrer Falls under present conditions. The water stored there would be exhausted in 26 minutes and the reservoir would be 26 minutes and the reservoir would be more than an hour and a half dry. The more than an hour and a half dry. The pumps would consequently be useless for that time. Last year during the drought it was found necessary to use for pumping purposes water which should have been used for city consumption.

Ald. Armstrong favored the raising of the Silver Falls dam.

Ald. Macrae seconded the adoption of the section. The pumps at Silver Falls had been of great benefit and the projected improvements would make them jected improvements would make them even more efficient. It was not right to use water which should be for the city's use for pumping purposes. The improvements must materially affect the fire underwriters.

The section was amended to allow of The section was amended to allow of expropriation of more land should it be required, and was then adopted.

The section dealing with Lake Lattimer was amended to provide that the sluiceway be lowered five feet and the necessary gate house constructed, the whole cost not to exceed $3,000. In this condition it passed.
