The L. B. A.'s New Tactics.

A correspondent calls attention to the new tactics of the L. B. A., and the subscribers to the guarantee fund should see to it that these tactics are checkmated at once. The members of the L. B. A., having consented to work with the guaranteed men, are trying to drive those men out by combining to render the work too severe and too dangerous for them. When the one hundred and fifty who came at the call of the merchants are driven away by such tactics as these, and a bad impression created concerning the nature of the work and the manner in which guarantees are kept by the merchants, and the harbor is full of vessels, the L. B. A. will strike again. No dependence can be placed on this society at all. Nothing short of its entire overthrow by a combination of merchants pledged against the employment of its members will protect the shipping interests of the port from danger. The opportunity for such a combination was given by the society's folly, the merchants got men enough for the emergency, more men could have been got for the asking, the authorities had made ample preparations for the preservation of the peace, and the strikers were emptyhanded on account of the long and dull winter that had scarcely closed. If the merchants had decreed the dissolution of the society then, it would have been dissolved, or it would have shrunk in membership so much as to destroy its power for disturbing the trade of the port at its will. The golden opportunity was allowed to pass, the members of the society were taken back, the trade of the port was again placed within the L. B. A.'s noose, and a struggle for supremacy when the men are in funds and the needs of the employers urgent is sure to take place. In the meantime, the merchants should see to it that their guarantees to volunteers who came to their aid are kept in the spirit as well as the letter.

Literature of the Future.

The mediocrity of most of the writers who have been recently puffed into fame and fortune by the Mutual Admiration cliques to which they belong, is attracting considerable comment. Some despair of an improvement, because nothing better than the fashionable trash will remunerate the writers, and others look for a literary revolt that will overthrow the dictatorship of patronizing publishers and emasculating social and literary cliques. "The literature of the future," says one writer, "if we are to have one, will, like that which made the name of Boston famous a third of a century ago, be one of revolt, this time against the fraud and complacency of society, the pretence and cant of religion, the inflation of spurious reputations, the vulgarity of wealth, the assumption by ignorance of the airs of learning, the decay of robustness of manhood, the elevation of mediocrity to distinction, the glorification of cowardice as magnanimity, and of greed as philanthropy. This revolt may express itself by setting the true against the false, either by actual contrast or by direct assault against the frail outworks of fraud and stupidity, or more probably by both. There is a plenty of work for men of brains and courage to lay their hands to, both in and out of journalism. The workers, however, will need to take off their gloves, and coats too; and they must not expect to be members of fancy clubs or welcome guests in fashionable houses." Specimens of this kind of literary work may now be found in the daily press, but nowhere else. But it is, alas! yet too rare a journalistic fruit. To the future must look those who are sick of the toadyism and trash of fashionable journals and popular books.

Palliating Perjury.

It has become so evident that rank perjury has been liberally indulged in by respectable witnesses in the Beecher case that apologists are at work making excuses for false testimony. Perjury is no sin, these apologists argue, in itself, the sin being in the injury done by it. Perjury for a good purpose, therefore, or in self-defence, is not sinful, according to these self-styled advanced thinkers,—is no more a transgression of the commandment, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor," than shedding blood on the battlefield or in self-defence is a transgression of the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." We knew it would come to this. Perjury has been becoming far too respectable to be left without a justifying theory to support it. The practice of allowing litigants, and criminals of all kinds, to testify in their own behalf, could result in nothing else but the wholesale perjury that has become so marked a feature of the Brooklyn trial. Our laws do not go so far in this direction, criminals not being allowed to add perjury to their crimes or heighten the presumption of their guilt by refusing to take the stand, but the tendency is in the same direction. The tendency should be checked. Interested witnesses should be sworn as seldom as possible. The crime of perjury should be punished with social ostracism as well as legal penalties. The successful working of the machinery of justice depends upon the preservation of a wholesome feeling of horror of perjury. Its apologists should be branded as enemies of God and man, and banished from decent company.

A Sackville correspondent informs THE TRIBUNE that one Noonan, of Cape Tormentine, intends challenging Harmon to run a race for $100 a side, the race to be for 300 yards, and to take place at Sackville on the 1st of July. We think Westmorland county has had enough of foot-racing for a while.

The oration of Mr. Johnston, of the Halifax Reporter, at the Mount Allison Anniversary, is reported as a great success. The subject was the Modern Truth Hunter. The other exercises were of an interesting character, and passed off pleasantly. The degree of M. A. was conferred on Rev. Ralph Brecken. Miss Emma V. Henderson of St. John, and Miss Eliza Van Norden of Yarmouth, received the degree of Mistress of the Liberal Arts; Miss Annie Grace Lockhart of St. John the degree of Bachelor of Science and English Literature; and John L. Dawson, Charles S. Gilbert, Matthew R. Knight, Henry A. Powell, Fred. H. Wright and Leonard Allison, the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Dr. Allan M. Ring's beautiful and valuable medal for the best essay was given to Miss Bessie Freeman. H. A. Austin, Esq., offered a medal for the best essay next year, and Dr. W. H. Tuck one for 1877. Miss Annie Inch and Miss McCurdy were presented with testimonials for excellence in art, and Miss Girvan with diplomas for music. Other prizes were presented. The attendance, last year, was so numerous that several applicants were refused admittance.

The Races at Sackville—The Lessee Rules the Roost—Judas and his friend Budd.

DEAR TRIBUNE:—The horse races here yesterday were slimly attended, though not more so than was anticipated by those who knew the prime mover, the ruling spirit, who was instrumental in gathering the four score and ten who witnessed another of those "little games" in which Sackville excels so well—to its shame be it said. The only race which was honorably conducted was the running race which was won by a horse, a promising animal, owned by Daniel D. Betts, a hair-dresser of Amherst. For the principal trotting race there were four entries, viz: "Charcoal," by Silas W. Rand, (le locataire du parc); "Princess," by W. F. Chute; "Tiger," by Blair Estabrooks, and "Dandy Dan," by Charles Fawcett. There were two heats, the first money being awarded to "Charcoal," the second to "Princess," the third to "Tiger," "Dandy Dan" keeping fourth position throughout the contest. The best time was 3.04. It was believed by knowing ones that it was understood by the drivers of "Charcoal" and "Princess" the race should terminate as it did; and it is also asserted that when pressed closely by "Princess" the driver of "Charcoal" said to him who drove the mare (sotto voc, of course,) "keep back a little"—an order which it is needless to say was followed to the letter. The other trotting race was contested by "Dandy Dan," driven by Chute, "Brown Dick," by Rand, and "Pete" by one Towse. The latter horse did nothing and was withdrawn after the first heat. "Dandy Dan" took the first heat as per arrangement between the drivers, no doubt. The second heat was awarded to "Dick," the third was declared a dead heat, the driver of "Dick" having fouled "Dan." This "foul" caused quite a disturbance, and the judges left the stand, walked over the marshy green in the centre of the course, and viewed the place where the alleged "foul" took place. After mature deliberation on the part of the sage judges they called on the fourth heat, which was won by "Dick," to the annoyance and disgust of "Dan's" owner, whose advent on the turf has been the means of opening the eyes of one who now thinks he was sold. This concluded the races, which, on the whole, were a delusion and a fraud.

It was understood from the Vice-President of the Agricultural Society and the lessee of the track that spirituous liquors were not to be sold on the grounds. Liquors were sold in any quantity, the proceeds of which helped to swell the revenues of the indefatigable young man who ever is on the alert to "turn a penny." It is worthy of note that not one lady graced the grounds with her presence, and outside the judges and their immediate friends the gathering was of that nature which found favor in the eyes of the lessee.

Yesterday's proceedings have added another stigma to the many preceding ones in connection with this track and its system of conducting races. And your correspondent fervently hopes the Society owning the course will, when they again lease it to a man, consider the character of the person, and remember the little games so well played yesterday.

Yours, &c., VENI VIDI.

How the Guaranteed Laborers are Treated by the L. B. A.

ST. JOHN, May 25.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

I am not going to write a piece for your paper, but I wish to tell you a few facts which I think you ought to know. I like so much the fearless and independent manner in which you have expressed yourself on the right side regarding the labor difficulty, that I feel sure you will, in your own style, suggest to the Merchants' Committee some better method of disposing of the surplus "outsiders" than by sending them to work with Club men to get crushed with deals dropped accidentally on purpose, or rushed on by stronger men until worked to death.

I think those young men who came out from their usual line of life and gave themselves to severe labor to help the merchants out of a difficulty, are entitled to some consideration at their hands; there is a possibility that they might need help again. A Club man said in my presence, "Just as soon as there are plenty of vessels here to load we will try it again."

A young man next door to us, who was told when he got his ticket that he would soon learn the business, has been dismissed by one party and sent to work with Club men who have nearly finished him in one day. P. M.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Some one to love! It is the cry of the human soul, the note to which every human heart responds; the bond which will bind us all together in that other world where mourners will be comforted and love shall reign forever.

An article has appeared in the Paris Figaro suggesting that the revenge of France be postponed a hundred years, and causes a great sensation. It is asserted by the Liberté that the article has been made the subject of Cabinet discussion.

The article melado, frequently mentioned in commercial reports, is the concentrated juice of the sugar cane, which is boiled down to a certain consistency and contains nearly equal proportions of sugar and molasses. It is used exclusively by refiners of sugar.

I want to be a speler
And with the spelers stan
A Wooster in mi poket
A Webster in mi han.
There rite befor the awgence
So gorgus and so brite,
He wrasels with the biz words
From mornin until night.

To illustrate the eccentricity of James Lick, the California millionaire, it is said that he hired two men to work for him and set them to work planting cabbages, directing them to put the plants tops down, roots up. One of the men obeyed the order strictly. The other thought it a mistake and put the plants in the soil just as any sensible person would do. By and by the employer came along. Seeing the work of the latter, he inquired, "Who did that?" "I did," said the man confidently. "You cannot work for me any longer, sir," was the reply, with a summary dismissal.

REMOVAL.—The Business Office of the DAILY TRIBUNE has been Removed up stairs, on the same Floor with Editorial Rooms.

Brevities.

Vivid lightning last night.

Judge Watters is recovering from his indisposition.

Two fellows, "on a time," smashed the glass of Mr. D. S. Kerr's office door yesterday afternoon.

The remains of Mr. Edward Berton are to be conveyed to the Cemetery for burial on Friday next at 3 p. m.

The spelling match in Calvin Church was concluded last night and the prize awarded to Mr. Williams, an employé in Fleming's foundry.

The News says there were "irrigating" showers last night. Those who were caught by them think "irritating" is a better word.

This morning dawned auspiciously and the sun shone with great warmth. Before noon a thunder storm had arrived and now nature looks very wet, indeed.

The Resolutes, of St. Stephen, played a game of base ball with the Mutuals of this city on the Barrack Green, yesterday afternoon. The game occupied two hours and a quarter and resulted in a victory for the Resolutes. The score was 23 to 18.

Mr. Edwards, who has been in poor health for some time past, retires from the management of the Victoria. Mr. Geo. W. Swett will assume the position. The latter gentleman has been conductor of the Pullman car Pictou on the I. C. R., and his place will be filled by Mr. A. W. Morrison of this city.

Thos. McCarthy had his ancle crushed while working on board the bark Young Eagle yesterday afternoon. The accident was caused by the breaking of a chain by which a tub of ballast was being hoisted and which caused the tub to fall on McCarthy before he could get out of the way. The injured man lives at the lower end of Sheffield street.

THE DAILY TRIBUNE and all the most popular Canadian, English and American newspapers and magazines can always be obtained at the bookstore of Mr. W. K. Crawford, King street. aug 8

Art Studio.

Mr. Geo. F. Simonson's Photograph Rooms, No. 14 Charlotte street, are the most attractive and extensive in the city. Pictures taken in all the popular styles; old pictures copied and enlarged to any size required, and colored in oil, ink and water colors. A large stock of engravings, chromos, views, frames, brackets, and photographers' materials for sale at lowest prices. tf

The Academy of Music.

The attendance at the Academy last night should have been larger, for the production of "Othello" was worthy of a crowded house. It is seldom that the public have an opportunity for witnessing more impressive acting than that of the leading characters in this play, as they were taken last night. Mr. Warner, as Othello, looked and acted the Moor with a rare degree of excellence, while Mr. Lanergan's Iago was one of those histrionic delineations which cannot receive justice by the employment of the laudatory phrases and hackneyed adjectives by which dramatic representations are usually described. His coolness, skill, subtlety and smiling villainy were faithful to the life, and it is hard to see in what way this representation could be given with greater fidelity to the true nature of the Moor's most mischievous, but well dissembling Ancient. Miss Miles made a graceful Desdemona, and showed some superior acting. Mr. Fyffe made a fair Cassio, and Mr. Fiske took Roderigo with good success. Messrs. Meade and Fuller gave good support as the Duke and Brabantis, while Mrs. Hamilton appeared to good advantage as Emelia. The acting of the leading characters was of a nature to fix the attention of the audience from first to last, and in the 3d and 5th acts the acting was particularly effective.

To-night "Lucretia Borgia" will be repeated by request, and the acting of Miss Miles should draw a full house.

"ALAS FOR THE RARITY OF CHRISTIAN CHARITY UNDER THE SUN."—A few days ago an old man might have been seen going round town begging cents; his plea was that he was sick and wanted to buy medicine. After many unsuccessful attempts he at last accosted a gentleman at the corner of King and Germain streets with the same plea. He was asked, What do you want the medicine for? He replied that he had Catarrh very bad and wanted to raise thirty-five cents to buy a box ofRæder's German Snuff. The gentleman, having been cured himself of that disease with this wonderful compound, readily gave him the amount and sent the old man on his way rejoicing.

The Manufacturer's Exhibition.

Another meeting of the persons interested in the proposed manufacturers' and mechanics' exhibition was held last night, and a number of detached reports were received from the various committees. The prospects for the exhibition were reported as favorable, as the manufacturers all express their anxiety to contribute towards making the affair a success. It was resolved that the Mayor be petitioned to proclaim the day of opening as a public holiday. A long talk took place on the matter of making a distinctive line between domestic and imported material, regarding the extent to which the latter could be admitted when used in the manufacture of home-made goods. It was admitted that too stringent a regulation would cripple the exhibition, as in many cases the parts of musical instruments, &c., made here, had to be obtained from abroad. The matter was referred to the executive committee. It was decided that the ladies should be invited to exhibit needlework, &c., and after some interesting talk on other matters the meeting adjourned.

None but a physician knows how much a reliable alterative is needed by the people. On all sides of us, in all communities everywhere, there are multitudes who suffer from complaints that nothing but an alterative cures. Hence a great many of them have been made and put abroad with the assurance of being effectual. But they fail to accomplish the cures they promise, because they have not the intrinsic virtues they claim. In this state of the case, DR. J. C. AYER & Co., of Lowell, have supplied a COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA, which proves to be a long desired remedy. Its peculiar difference from other kindred preparations in the market is that it cures the diseases for which it is recommended, while they do not. We are assured of this fact by more than one intelligent physician in this neighborhood, and have the further evidence of our own experience of its truth.—Nashville (Tenn.) Farmer.

Strawberries, Strawberries.

The first of the season! The subscriber has just received a fine lot of Virginia strawberries in boxes, the finest in size and flavor ever brought to this market at this season of the year. He would also announce that he has secured in Philadelphia and New York new patents for the manufacture of ice cream superior to any ever before offered in this city.

Prime oysters received from P. E. Island and the United States constantly, which are served up in the best styles to suit customers.

Shipping Notes.

Steamers.—The tug boat Hiram Perry, Jr., arrived at Halifax Monday morning, on her way to Sydney, C. B.

The Sidonian, of the Anchor Line, Edwards master, sails from Liverpool today, for Halifax and this port.

A fine run.—The brigantine Premier, Wilson master, has made the run from Antigua to Halifax in 12 days. This is a remarkable passage.

The schooner Pampero, of this port, from Philadelphia for Port Caledonia, C. B., before reported put into Lewes, Del., with mainmast sprung, sailed on the 20th inst. for Wilmington, to repair.

A claim for damages.—The owners of the American fishing schooner J. O. Friend, run into and sunk while anchored on the Banks, fishing, by the French bark Clementine at Halifax, have libelled the latter vessel on a claim of $50,000, the schooner being nearly loaded at the time of the collision.

Detained by the ice.—The bark M. Wood, Thurmott master, which arrived at Shediac on the 22nd inst., from Liverpool, 34 days, reports having made the coast of Cape Breton 19 days out, when they met with immense quantities of ice which detained them. Saw about 200 sail of vessels bound up Gulf also detained by ice; fell in with an abandoned bark, part sails set, and seemingly not much injured, also two other deserted vessels. Had to go as far north as Gaspe to get round the ice.

Another Quick Run.—The brigt. Wood, from Halifax, arrived at Point P. R., on the 20th inst., having made the run out in 12 days.

Bottom Up.—The brigt. Nancy Ross, Whittier master, at Antigua via Barbadoes, from New York, reports having, on the outward passage, in lat. 34 40, lon. 55, passed a brigantine of about 130 tons register, coppered, bottom up. Could not ascertain her name.

The bark County of Richmond, Le Blanc master, at St. Thomas, from Arichat, C. B., reports having on the 4th inst., in lat. 25 4 N., lon. 49 20 W., passed a vessel of from 200 to 300 tons, bottom up, apparently new and not long in that condition; could not see her name, it being under water. She had yellow metal rudder braces, and garbet streak thicker than the rest of her planking.

Rural Cemetery.

MR. SPRAGG will run the two first-class omnibuses, ONWARD and UNDAUNTED, to the RURAL CEMETERY, every fine day during the season, beginning on Monday, May 3rd., for the accommodation of visitors. Hours for leaving the Bell Tower (head of King street) will be as follows: Half-past one, two, half-past two and three o'clock, p. m. Mr. Spragg also runs a "buss" regularly to Fairville, twice daily, leaving Market Square at 9 a. m. and 3.15 p. m.

The Charge Against late Superinteadent Gibson.

The case of Andrew Gibson, charged with being drunk and disorderly in the Portland Police Office, as stated in yesterday's TRIBUNE, was heard yesterday afternoon before Justice Tapley. The result was the dismissal of the charge. Capt. Jones and Policeman Darrah would not swear that Gibson was drunk, but had believed him to be under the influence of liquor. When he attempted to make an entry on the slate they ordered him to stop, and when he afterwards used excited language they attempted to put him out and subsequently made the arrest. Mr. Gibson brought a number of witnesses, and they gave it as their opinion that he was not drunk previous to the affair nor after his incarceration. As there was no evidence to support the charge the Magistrate dismissed the complaint, but in doing so justified the action of the police in preventing Gibson from writing on the slate. It was a part of the books of the office and under the charge of the police. So the matter rests here. Gibson is proved to have been excited, but not drunk, and the policemen have not been proved to have acted contrary to what their belief and the circumstances justified.

Re-Opened.

The United States Hotel, corner of King and Charlotte streets, James Hinch, Proprietor, will be re-opened in a few days. Transient and permanent boarders accommodated. Several fine rooms overlooking King Square, can be secured if applied for at once. tf

Circuit Court.

Yesterday afternoon James Goodwin, charged with larceny, and Daniel Doherty, with breaking jail, were arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

This morning the case of Philps vs. Trueman was finished and given to the jury, who returned at 12.20 and had not brought in a verdict when the Court adjourned.

The next case is that of Knox & Thomson vs. T. E. Milledge, an action for goods sold and delivered. The articles furnished were the furniture for the vessel Silas Alward, and the defence is that they were purchased by Mayes Case, who subsequently became insolvent. The plaintiffs seek to make the defendant liable. Mr. Palmer for the plaintiffs and Mr. Thomson for the defendant.

The best selected stock of Cigars, including the celebrated brands Henry Clay, Prof. Morse and Flor del Fumar, meerschaum and briar pipes, tobaccos and smokers' articles, will be found at Robertson's, 74 Prince Wm. street.

City Police Court.

James Doherty, drunk and disorderly on Union street, also resisting policeman Barnes, was fined $6.

Michael Coughlan was fined $20 for assaulting John J. Driscoll. The affair took place in Leslie's bar-room on the afternoon of the Queen's Birthday, and the complainant alleged that the defendant hit him over the head with a tumbler.
