

A Justice of the Peace Guarantees this Cure by the Use of Doan's Kidney Pills

Mr. B. J. Thomas, Fisher River, Man., writes:—"I beg to acknowledge a receipt of thanks for the great benefit derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stooped down to pick up anything I felt as if my back would break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was completely cured and feel that I cannot speak too highly in their favor. It will be two years this April and am still cured and expect to stay cured."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN
I, the undersigned, J.P. of Fisher River, do hereby take oath and swear, knowing the above statement to be true as testified. Knowing all men by this right.

Signed, L. C. ROGERS, J.P., Fisher River, Man.

THE HIGHEST DIGNITY.

There joined the police, force of London a young Scotchman but recently arrived from his native land. Being detailed one day to block the traffic on a certain thoroughfare where members of royalty were expected to pass, he was accosted by a lady hurrying to keep an appointment who thrust her head from the carriage window to remonstrate with him over the delay. "I canna let you pass, ma'am," answered the man of the baton. "But, sir, you do not know who I am. I am the wife of a Cabinet Minister." "It disna mak' na difference, ma'am," he answered. "I couldna let you pass if you were the wife of a Presbyterian minister."—Presbyterian Standard.

PRETTY PERSONAL.

In one of the large cities a street-car collided with a milk-cart and sent can after can of milk splashing into the street. Soon a large crowd gathered. A very short man coming up had to stand on tiptoe to see past a stout woman in front of him.

"Goodness!" he exclaimed. "What an awful waste!"

The stout woman turned round and glared at the little man and said, sternly: "Mind your own business!"—Harper's Magazine.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

AUTOMOBILE—MOTORCYCLE.

1. A has built a new wire fence along the road. B has an auto. He and his wife are out for a pleasure ride, and, going by A's place, frightened C's team and made them run through A's fence, wagon and all, smashing it badly. Who has a right to repair the fence?

2. A is going along the road with his team and wagon. B comes along behind with a motorcycle owned by C. He runs by, frightening A's team, making them jump the ditch, throwing A out and injuring his spine, disabling him for a year at least, and probably for life. Who is responsible for the accident? I might say that neither man saw the machine coming till it was right by their side. Ontario. *SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—1. Assuming that B was negligent in managing the automobile, and that it was such negligence on his part that brought about the accident, we would say that B is liable to A in damages for the injury to the fence.

2. Apparently the accident was caused by negligence of B, and he is, accordingly, responsible to A for the resulting damages. It is possible that C may also be liable.

BLACK KNOT—SOW THISTLE, ETC.

1. Is there any way of killing black knot in plum trees? I cut off all small branches with it on, but notice it is breaking out in the larger branches, which it is impossible to cut without damaging the tree.

2. In whitewashing stables, what is good to put in the whitewash to make it stick well?

3. There are thick patches of sow thistle in a field newly seeded down, which was sown to oats at time of seeding. What is the best way to deal with this, as it is too thick to pull? If cut for hay next year, would there be any liability of it spreading through the manure?

4. Have a large field of peas, and, as help will be scarce, have thought out a plan of harvesting them, viz.: Cut with mower before shelling stage, and when two rows are cut around the field, run the side rake over this and make into a coil like hay, then let dry well, and load on wagon with a hay-loader. Have never heard of this method of harvesting peas, but think it is worthy of trial. Kindly give your opinion about it. R. M. A.

Ans.—1. The only method is to cut out and burn all knots during early spring, and whenever seen during summer. Always cut a few inches below the diseased area. A short time before buds burst, the trees should be sprayed with lime-sulphur or Bordeaux mixture.

2. Take half a bushel of unslaked lime, slake with boiling water, covering it during the process to keep in the steam; strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer; add a peck of salt previously dissolved in warm water and three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste, and stir in boiling hot half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting and a pound of glue, which has been previously dissolved over a slow fire, and add five gallons hot water to the mixture. Stir well, and let it stand for a few days covered up from dirt. Apply hot.

3. The best method of dealing with sow thistle is to break up the sod and practice clean cultivation. If cut for hay, it would be necessary to cut it very early, so as to be certain that none of the thistles had produced seed, or it might be spread in various ways. It spreads more by aid of the wind, but might also spread in manure.

4. This is surely a new method of handling peas. It would take considerable time to get them dry if they were cut green enough to prevent shelling, and even if cut on the green side, they would shell some in raking, and by the time they were dry and loaded with the loader, they would be pretty well threshed out. The loss would likely be very heavy. It might be tried in an experimental way first, but it doesn't look very feasible.
