A Message to Women

SELF-SUPPORTING women in America reach approximately twenty millions, and the number is rapidly increasing. Ladies in large numbers have entered the big field of Life Insurance soliciting, especially among women, and are making good. It is a congenial, ideal occupation, for which they are specially adapted. Men prefer to write men, being handicapped for insuring women by the lack of feminine sympathy and understanding. The ideal woman agent fills a natural demand, which appeals to her; without her a great, untold service to women would be left undone.

Large policies are being written among Business and Professional women, also among those of wealth and social position. Why not enter this attractive profession and reap your share of the rich rewards? We have a few vacancies for good lady Solicitors, to whom every assistance will be rendered. For further particulars apply by letter to W. G. WATT, Inspector of Agencies, 219 Continental Life Building, Toronto.
