The choir of the Methodist church, assisted by other musical talent, repeated the cantata that was so excellently given by them last Easter, on Sunday evening. There was a large attendance and the service was a most enjoyable one. On this occasion Miss Annie Murray took the leading soprano part, and her singing was very highly commented upon by those present.

Mr. W. D. Tweedell arrived home with his bride on Saturday last and is visiting his old home. He was married on Thursday last week at Toronto, to Miss Clara Edna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Trux, of that city. Mr. Tweedell is one of our most popular young men, and he and his young bride have the best wishes of a host of friends. We are only sorry that they are not to make their home in Wolfville.

The friends of Professor Roy Elliott Bates, of Acadia University, are pleased to hear of a distinguished honor which has recently been conferred upon him. A few days ago he received notice of the acceptance of one of his paintings by the committee of the Paris Salon. The subject of the paintings is 'September in Pictou' and is the result of work done last summer during his sojourn in Longpre, and the Valley of the Somme.

A very successful parlor concert took place at the home of Mrs. Angove, Acadia street, on Thursday evening of last week. The concert was in aid of Mrs. Angove's mission band. The performers were well fitted with an appreciative audience, who heartily applauded each and all of the items presented. In addition to appropriate and pretty Easter hymns and exercises, performed by the children of the mission band, and a dainty recitation by little Mona Bates, the following solos were skillfully rendered and much enjoyed: Mrs. Moore, vocal; Miss Lydia Hesketh, violin; Mr. Watson, cornet; Miss Daisy Simpson gave two very fine readings which were received with well merited applause. A number of favorite selections, including 'Rhapsodie Hongroise No. 12,' 'Liszt,' were played by Mr. Angove on his player-piano. Miss Evelyn Bishop was the accompanist during the evening. The proceeds amounted to $10.75.

Wolfville Leads.

IN THE CONTEST FOR HERRIN TRIP TO THE OLD COUNTRY.

Wolfville is showing up well in the interesting contest for a free trip to the Old Country started by the 'Standard of Empire.' W. K. Wortman of the High School has now more votes than any other candidate in Nova Scotia, but several other boys are working hard to win the trip. The 'Standard of Empire' is giving the twelve High School and Collegiate students that secure the greatest number of subscriptions to that newspaper a trip of three weeks in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. For the successful Nova Scotia boy this means a free holiday of five weeks. The competition closes on June 1st, and the boys sail on the 'Empress of Britain' on July 16th. It is to be hoped that local enterprises will give young Wortman all possible support in order to enable him to win this interesting prize for Wolfville.

The twelve successful boys will see all the principal historic sights of the Old Country and will have the honor of dining with Lord Roberts. Candidates from most of the principal High Schools and Collegiate throughout the Dominion are working to win this exceptional prize, which is offered with the approval of Governor General and of the Premiers of the various provinces. All information as to how the trip is to be won can be obtained from the 'Standard of Empire,' Stair Building, Toronto.

The Laymen's Missionary Congress.

It was the privilege of the writer to attend this great Congress recently held in Toronto. Some of the outstanding features of this notable meeting may be indicated. It was unique in its purpose. As we have already heard told this was the first time in history when the men of a nation came together to consider their missionary responsibility in world-evangelization. It was the culmination of a national missionary campaign which was held last fall. All are familiar with that campaign. It was a tour across the continent conducted by Mr. J. Campbell White, under the auspices of the Canadian Council of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. Twenty-four strategic centers were chosen between Sydney and Victoria. In these leading Canadian cities the men of all denominations were brought together to discuss Canada's share in the evangelization of the world. Everywhere an emphatic 'yes' was given to the question, 'Will Canada assume her share of world-evangelization?' These leading men of these leading centers voted unanimously in favor of a very large immediate increase in giving to missions. Mr. White conceived the idea of getting together at Toronto some thousands of men to outline a national missionary policy and take some practical steps toward the carrying out of such a policy.

The Congress was also unique in its personnel. Massey Hall was packed with some four thousand men three times each day for five days. They were chiefly laymen, picked men who had come from all parts of the Dominion. They were 'key' men, who will be used in future to push and propagate the plans devised for the evangelization of the world. In this respect the Congress was the most prominent of the world were there as speakers. There were notable lawyers, editors, captains of great commercial industries, great philanthropists, eminent missionaries, leading clergymen from the centers of influence, and leading mission board secretaries.

There were registered some four thousand two hundred men, of whom some fifteen hundred were missionaries. The laymen were the most prominent of the Congress. Again the Congress was unique in its program. The meetings were very marked in spiritual tone-full of spiritual power. They were also immensely enthusiastic. The addresses were, many of them, of a high order intellectually. But with all this there was a very practical side to the gathering for very much was said about money and no gathering of business men was more serious in dealing with plans that would involve the outlay of money. It was unique also in its platform. It was national in that Canadian men were striving to handle their own missionary problem and face their own responsibility. It was international in a sense for there was a large number of American leaders present and some from other parts of the world, who looked on with keen interest to what Canada was doing, and their rendered valuable help in outlining the policy which she was to adopt. It was interdenominational. Some said, 'These four thousand men will never again be able to think in narrow sectarian lines.' They have seen the vision. To them in future the idea of combination and co-operation for world-conquest will have a large place.

Some of the fundamental principles emphasized at the Congress may be stated. The universality and finality of the Christian religion was emphasized. Some one has said, 'there may be comparative religions, but Christianity is not one of them.' He has nothing to learn from the ethnic faiths. They contain some good things, some half truths, some high moral teachings. But they contain nothing that Christianity does not possess far more fully and clearly. They are altogether inadequate to meet the religious needs of men. The fact that Christianity is essentially a missionary religion was prominent.

It is pleasant to read in the papers of the cordiality shown by neighboring towns when called upon to send from them those who have been useful and respected citizens. The 'man on the street' recalls instances where Wolfville people have allowed citizens who have occupied leading places depart from our town without any public expression of esteem or regret at the loss. This ought not to be. Our people are not wanting in feeling, but sometimes they are in thoughtfulness. Perhaps this hint may not be out of place.

How Is a Cold to be Cured
When it has reached the chest, it is developing into bronchitis and threatens to become pneumonia. It gradually and stealthily does a cold pass from its simpler form of a cold in the head into inflammation of the bronchial tubes and then on to the lungs that may do no realize their condition until pneumonia is upon them. Why should not every cold be taken seriously and Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine used before a severe illness is upon you?

There are many reasons why you should use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It is more thorough and far-reaching in its effects on the system than any mere cough medicine can possibly be. It keeps the lungs loose and open, it aids expectoration and relieves the inflammation.

Mrs. Geo. Good, Timbuctoo, Addington Co., Ont., writes: 'It is with pleasure that I certify to the wonderful success of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for colds. It is the best and surest treatment for coughs and colds that we have ever been able to find.' 25c. a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
