

whole nation, but they care not for that. Christ's honor may be great, but they have no share in it.

And so they are strangers from the covenant of promise. They have nothing to rely upon for life, nothing for eternity, nothing for heaven, nothing for which they can be commended.

4. Of course they are without hope. They may have dreams of future good, but those will all vanish like the mist.

5. How poor and wretched and miserable and lost is an unconverted sinner! 2. How rich and free and unadversed is the mercy that saves sinners.

3. How great is the obligation to do all we can to save dying sinners! 4. How conceivably dreadful it will be to go to eternity an unrepentant sinner!

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1860.

The Sixth Decade of the Nineteenth Century.

The events which have taken place within the last ten years, treated of in our previous number, are of such importance in themselves, and significance for the future, that we must pause before they can be properly appreciated.

Important and portentous as these events are in the West, they are scarcely, if at all, of inferior moment to those that have occurred within the same period in the East.

The great characteristic, however, of the decade, are the material progress which has been made in it, the development of the sciences, the improvement of the arts, the progress of civilization, and the progress of the human mind.

The spirit of the age has been to 1850, which, through the aid of the British fleet, and coasting trade, to all nations, on equal terms with vessels under the British flag.

And so they are strangers from the covenant of promise. They have nothing to rely upon for life, nothing for eternity, nothing for heaven, nothing for which they can be commended.

4. Of course they are without hope. They may have dreams of future good, but those will all vanish like the mist.

5. How poor and wretched and miserable and lost is an unconverted sinner! 2. How rich and free and unadversed is the mercy that saves sinners.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1860.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS.

The events which have taken place within the last ten years, treated of in our previous number, are of such importance in themselves, and significance for the future, that we must pause before they can be properly appreciated.

Important and portentous as these events are in the West, they are scarcely, if at all, of inferior moment to those that have occurred within the same period in the East.

The great characteristic, however, of the decade, are the material progress which has been made in it, the development of the sciences, the improvement of the arts, the progress of civilization, and the progress of the human mind.

The churches deeply sympathize with his afflicted family and friends. The Rev. Mr. Read, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Christie, Canada, has given a great stimulus to commercial transactions, and greatly increased the facilities for an exchange of goods.

And so they are strangers from the covenant of promise. They have nothing to rely upon for life, nothing for eternity, nothing for heaven, nothing for which they can be commended.

4. Of course they are without hope. They may have dreams of future good, but those will all vanish like the mist.

5. How poor and wretched and miserable and lost is an unconverted sinner! 2. How rich and free and unadversed is the mercy that saves sinners.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1860.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS.

The events which have taken place within the last ten years, treated of in our previous number, are of such importance in themselves, and significance for the future, that we must pause before they can be properly appreciated.

Important and portentous as these events are in the West, they are scarcely, if at all, of inferior moment to those that have occurred within the same period in the East.

The great characteristic, however, of the decade, are the material progress which has been made in it, the development of the sciences, the improvement of the arts, the progress of civilization, and the progress of the human mind.

WESLEYAN MISSIONS. The Wesleyan Missionary Society, for the purpose of raising funds for the support of their various missions, have decided to hold a Bazaar on the 25th of February.

And so they are strangers from the covenant of promise. They have nothing to rely upon for life, nothing for eternity, nothing for heaven, nothing for which they can be commended.

4. Of course they are without hope. They may have dreams of future good, but those will all vanish like the mist.

5. How poor and wretched and miserable and lost is an unconverted sinner! 2. How rich and free and unadversed is the mercy that saves sinners.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1860.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS.

The events which have taken place within the last ten years, treated of in our previous number, are of such importance in themselves, and significance for the future, that we must pause before they can be properly appreciated.

Important and portentous as these events are in the West, they are scarcely, if at all, of inferior moment to those that have occurred within the same period in the East.

The great characteristic, however, of the decade, are the material progress which has been made in it, the development of the sciences, the improvement of the arts, the progress of civilization, and the progress of the human mind.

TEACHERS WANTED. WANTED FOR THE CAVERIDGE Road District School, a Teacher of the First or lowest class.

500 CORDS OF HEMLOCK BARK. Wanted during the coming summer, for which Cash will be paid. The above quantity of Bark will be let to persons wishing to contract for the same, in lots from twenty cords and upwards.

JUST RECEIVED, PER ISABELL, & other arrivals, at THOMAS'S OLD STAND, -Cottons, Prints, Marines, Colours, Dresses, Shawls, Mantles, Flowers, Ribbons, Furs, and all kinds of Staple and Fancy Goods.

THE ANNUAL SHOW OF GRAIN UNDER the direction of the Committee of the Royal Agricultural Society, will be held in the TEMPERANCE HALL, Charlottetown, on WEDNESDAY, the 27th March, 1860.

FOR SALE A FRESH LARD FARM OF 100 acres situated in Lot 14, about 2 miles from Grand River Ferry, formerly in the possession of High McPherson.

JOHN W. PICKARD RESPECTFULLY informs the public of F. E. Island, and former partner of the establishment in particular, that he has purchased the said establishment in its entirety.

RESPECTFULLY SOLICITS THE ATTENTION of Persons visiting the City, and the Public generally, to his very large and extensive Assortment of FASHIONABLE FURNITURE.

THE SUBSCRIBER BEGS TO INFORM the inhabitants of Charlottetown, and the country generally, that he has induced to offer his services to the public as ATTORNEY.

JAMES PEBBLES, Pump and Block-maker, Naval Architect, &c. &c. is intimating to his friends and the public in general the removal of his Work shop from Charlottetown to the large, commodious, and newly erected Building, Front Street, nearly opposite the store of Mr. Kenneth McKinnon.

NEW BOOKS JUST RECEIVED AT HAZARD'S BOOKSTORE, QUEEN SQUARE, per Lady Jane Gray and George Dandel.

THE LONDON TIMES (opened on Friday with great success) is a new addition to the list of newspapers published in this city.

Unit: What is it—Where is it? We have reason to thank God for a practical and experimental answer to the above enquiry—namely, that the Unit is the true and eternal principle of the world, and the force or heat of the Unit.

And so they are strangers from the covenant of promise. They have nothing to rely upon for life, nothing for eternity, nothing for heaven, nothing for which they can be commended.

4. Of course they are without hope. They may have dreams of future good, but those will all vanish like the mist.

5. How poor and wretched and miserable and lost is an unconverted sinner! 2. How rich and free and unadversed is the mercy that saves sinners.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1860.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS.

The events which have taken place within the last ten years, treated of in our previous number, are of such importance in themselves, and significance for the future, that we must pause before they can be properly appreciated.

Important and portentous as these events are in the West, they are scarcely, if at all, of inferior moment to those that have occurred within the same period in the East.

The great characteristic, however, of the decade, are the material progress which has been made in it, the development of the sciences, the improvement of the arts, the progress of civilization, and the progress of the human mind.

WESLEYAN MISSIONS. The Wesleyan Missionary Society, for the purpose of raising funds for the support of their various missions, have decided to hold a Bazaar on the 25th of February.

And so they are strangers from the covenant of promise. They have nothing to rely upon for life, nothing for eternity, nothing for heaven, nothing for which they can be commended.

4. Of course they are without hope. They may have dreams of future good, but those will all vanish like the mist.

5. How poor and wretched and miserable and lost is an unconverted sinner! 2. How rich and free and unadversed is the mercy that saves sinners.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1860.

THE PROTESTANT & EVANGELICAL WITNESS.

The events which have taken place within the last ten years, treated of in our previous number, are of such importance in themselves, and significance for the future, that we must pause before they can be properly appreciated.

Important and portentous as these events are in the West, they are scarcely, if at all, of inferior moment to those that have occurred within the same period in the East.

The great characteristic, however, of the decade, are the material progress which has been made in it, the development of the sciences, the improvement of the arts, the progress of civilization, and the progress of the human mind.

Secular

Yesterday the new count by the Queen with a 5 centing that such State Debt. Her Majesty was pleased to sign the bill.

Speech had alluded to over the Queen for the past year, and it was a great pleasure to see the Queen and country would send a Conference of the European States to be held in London.

The war between Spain and Austria is now in progress, and the British Government has taken the precaution to send a fleet to the Mediterranean Sea.

The San Juan affair, which we cannot but regret, has been a great disappointment to the British Government, and it is to be hoped that it will be settled in a manner which will satisfy all parties.

The reference to India, which we have mentioned in our last number, is a subject of great importance, and it is to be hoped that the British Government will take the necessary steps to improve the condition of the Indian people.

The steamship Prince of Wales, which was launched at Liverpool on the 15th of January, is a fine vessel, and it is to be hoped that she will be a great success.

The British Government has decided to send a fleet to the Mediterranean Sea, and it is to be hoped that this will be a great success.

The London Times (opened on Friday with great success) is a new addition to the list of newspapers published in this city, and it is to be hoped that it will be a great success.