MISS DANE'S NEPENTHE

A good housekeeper is one who looks to the ways of her house, seeing that there is no waste or drainage, economizing in small as well as large things. Small leaks often amount to more than large ones, because one buys, unless the full value in use is obtained, you are cheated. The dollar made in a bargain loses its value if the articles purchased are wasted.

Whether she has this touching bit of passion may give all there is at present to explain the mysterious disappearance of "Miss Dane" of No. 122 Third-avenue. She was found dead in her bed yesterday afternoon, having swallowed carbolic acid enough to kill three men.

Miss Dane had said that she came from Toronto. She was a fair-faced, sharp-featured but comely woman, perhaps 25 years of age, with blue eyes and beautiful blue eyes, good teeth and dark brown curly hair, long.

One week ago yesterday this young woman called upon Mrs. Charles J. Morris at 122 Third-avenue and asked to see the furnished rooms Mrs. Morris advertised to let. Mrs. Morris is the wife of a stenographer employed in the chemical house Wing & Evans, No. 50 William-street. She came from Toronto and her visitor introduced herself as Miss Dane, also of Toronto.

"I am sure," said Mrs. Morris yesterday, "that she was a good girl. She seemed suffering from some great trouble. She would not give me her first name and she was so lady-like and reserved that I did not feel like pressing her. Miss Dane said she was a typewriter and had been in New York three months working for a downtown house. She was on a week's vacation and wanted to get a quiet, cheap place to live."

"I gave her a $2 room and she had her trunk moved in within two hours—from where I don't know. She went to her room and stayed there nearly all the time. All that I ever got from her about her family was the fact that her father was employed in the Queen's Hotel in Toronto. She kept in her room until Tuesday, when she grew ill and began vomiting. On Wednesday she became worse and then went to a doctor somewhere in Fourth-street. When she came back she said the doctor had given her some medicine for nervous prostration and asked me what she ought to eat. On Thursday she was better and said she would go to work on Saturday but yesterday she was very weak. Just before night I gave her some tea and a sandwich. At that time she remarked: 'Oh, how I dread going to a hospital!'"

"I said: 'Why don't you go to your home in Canada for a little while?'" "Oh, you don't know everything!" she replied sadly, and then she went at once to her room and locked the door.

"About 6 o'clock in the evening, during my absence, she called my little 8-year-old daughter Edith and sent her out for a paper, two pears and 10 cents worth of carbolic acid. The child got all the articles. "We heard nothing more from Miss Dane. This morning early I looked through a crack in the door to see how she was getting along and saw that she was lying with her feet toward the window. I did not disturb her. At noon I saw her in the same position and then I became alarmed at her rattling and then I called twice at the door in the police."

CANADIAN NEWS NOTES

A KINGSTON BURGLAR SHOT BY AN OFFICER. A United States Consul Accused of Smuggling. Kingston, July 12.—For some time past a number of robberies have taken place, but the police were unable to bring the thieves to justice. The only man was taken. Last night between 8 and 10 o'clock Officer Ballantyne heard a noise in Waldron's dry-goods establishment. He drew his revolver and went into the shop. As soon as the thieves heard him, they ran up stairs to the second floor. The officer went them to stop, telling them he would fire on them. They, however, did not heed his warning. The officer went upstairs after them, but the thieves again ran to the third story, the officer following.

Ballantyne saw the pair hiding behind the counter and walked over to it and again told them to surrender, if not he would shoot the first one that moved. This warning was disregarded. Elmer Biddle ran past the officer who drew his revolver and fired. The shot struck the fleeing thief, and he fell. The other thief, the other thief, at once surrendered. Both are about 20 years old. Biddle's wound is a serious one.

The Bottom Tumbles Out. New York, July 12.—The bottom apparently fell out of the market for trust certificates today, sugar trusts declining 7 per cent, and lead trusts 4 per cent. The sugar trusts had been enormous, amounting to over $11,000,000 in sugar trusts changed hands. Although sugar trusts declined slowly in the early trading it appeared steady until afternoon and then the pace became more rapid and in the last hour the lead trust certificates closed yesterday at 30 1/2. This morning at the opening of the stock exchange every one seemed anxious to sell their certificates. The heaviest sufferers by the break were western speculators, who had been great bulls on the certificates. A little more than six weeks ago the certificates were selling at 22 1/2 and subsequently to 35. No efforts were spared to create the impression that the market was not so bad as the money they were selling for. One Chicago operator held 30,000 shares, most of which he sold at 30. Yesterday he was quietly unloading when the break came. The break in sugar trusts was undoubtedly due to manipulation.

The Rate War. Chicago, July 12.—The action of the Chicago and Grand Trunk in issuing a tariff making a 20 cent rate has not yet been met by the other central and trunk lines. A meeting will be held to-morrow to consider the matter. Notice was given by the Chicago and Grand Trunk this afternoon of a proposed restoration of rates to the 25 cent level. This is taken simply as indicating a hope that in the meantime the Baltimore and Ohio may be induced to advance the rate on their line. In the event of the expectation not being realized the notice of advance can be withdrawn.

A Perfidious Beluctant. Buffalo, July 12.—George Whitmore of Rochester, who was charged with the murder of a woman, was yesterday found guilty of the crime. He was sentenced to the State Prison for a term of 10 years. He had been in the city for some time and had been making a name for himself as a gambler and a thief. He was also a member of the Black Legion. He was found guilty of the murder of a woman named Mary Jane Smith, who was killed in a rooming house in Buffalo. He was found guilty of the murder of a woman named Mary Jane Smith, who was killed in a rooming house in Buffalo.

Pat Pat Polson in Her Food. Mount Pleasant, Pa., July 12.—Tuesday Frances Cooper (colored) invited three other negro women to dinner. After dinner the guests were taken with convulsions and one expired in agony. Investigation established the fact of poisoning. To-day Frances confessed she had a grudge against these women and had placed a quantity of arsenic in the food for the purpose of poisoning them. She said her husband had urged her to do it. Austin Cooper, her husband, confirmed his wife's confession. The two surviving victims will probably die.

Not Sure to Kill. New York, July 12.—The examination of expert witnesses in the Kemmler case with reference to the Edgewood later published appliances recently purchased by the State for the execution of condemned murderers is in progress. The witness called is a name current of sufficient force to absolutely cause death in every instance.

The Veterans of 1812. Ottawa, July 12.—During the last session of the Dominion Parliament a return was asked for showing the names of the veterans of the war of 1812 now living. The names of residents and the amount of the pension received by each. The return has just been published. It shows the veterans received $300,000 from the Dominion Government last year. Fifty-two of the old gentlemen live in Quebec, forty-two in Ontario, four in New Brunswick, four in the United States, one in Nova Scotia and one in Manitoba.

GOING A LITTLE TOO FAST

One of the doctors is warning summer vacationists that their chief danger is going too fast. "The most common error at the start is overdoing." There is a walk of several miles on a mountain; or, if it is bathing in the sea, an hour is spent among the waves. "Degreerically to grow into anything," says one of the old writers, "is reserved unto the wisest." It adds that any change that is made in our mode of life should be gradual. "The first exercise of any kind should never be to the extent of fatigue. As to bathing, it is to be remembered that man is not an aquatic animal."

All poisonous waste, and worn out matter ought to escape from the system through the excretions of the bowels, kidneys and skin. B. B. B. cleanses, opens and regulates these natural outlets for the removal of disease.

These are now worn by ladies at the seashore. They neither will nor "wash." The famous Panama hats are all made in Guayaquil, Ecuador, and the shanties formerly controlled the trade. They are made of the pits fibre, a sort of palm, and are braided under water by native women of strands often twelve and fifteen feet long, and fine ones are very expensive. It often takes two or three weeks to braid a single hat, which sells for $5 or $6, and lasts forever. A traveller speaks of one made of a single straw or fibre as fine as thread and as soft as silk. The woman who made it was engaged four months in the work, and it was valued at $250.

A healthy infant ought to sleep twenty hours out of twenty-four, during its first month, which it will do without rocking, and it is a great pity it should be taught anything different. It is foolish to teach a child to expect you to work as the nurse when it goes to sleep; what occupies time and does not do any good. During the first few weeks of a baby's existence it will fall asleep immediately after having the breast. The next habit is even worse, that is, teaching it to compel you to walk about with it; it chooses to fall asleep, and then to put it to bed in the dark and the kind which you may try to do five or six times without succeeding, then each time you have to begin your walk again. Begin as you intend to go on. Lay it down awake, and, if nature requires it, sleep will come, and, if not, no rocking will do it; but this must be taught from the very beginning.

Why She Refused Him. A millionaire, gazing fondly into the azure eyes of the charming woman by his side, "I know that I am some what advanced in life, but still I am a man can love, and besides the disparity in our years is not so apparent that—" "Sir!" she cried, flushing indignantly—and they were not married.

The Methodist Book Concern last year declared a cash dividend of $100,000 in its capital. It is the most profitable of the publishing concerns in America. All of which must deeply interest those superannuated ministers for whose support the net profits were originally set apart.

St. Frederick Roberts, the hero of the Afghani war, looks with encouragement on the temperance movement among the soldiers, saying that the services rendered by the workers in connection with the Soldiers' Total Abstinence Association has been equal to the effective forces of India.

Mr Gladstone's absorbing study of Homer has led him to form numerous ingenious theories. One is the belief that the Greeks were color blind. Otherwise it would be impossible, he contends, for Homer to have spoken of "flocks of purple sheep." He was standing this view one day when a celebrator, agriculturist who was present remarked: "Ah! but I know that in certain parts of England there are flocks of 'purple sheep.'" Mr Gladstone expressed surprise. Inquiries were made, and it was found that these sheep were only of an ordinary brown color. The latest photographs of Mrs Cleveland were taken by Dr Ward, of Alban Lake, and one represents her leaning back in an arm-chair with her feet on the low brass fender which keeps the blazing sticks from rolling out upon the cottage floor. Another picture represents Mrs Cleveland and her mother, Mrs Polson, sitting on either side of the fireplace. Mrs Polson looks up from her book in her lap. The pictures are creating as much because they are conventional as for any other reason. Whoever has one may be pleased a his possession, for they will not get into the shops.

TORONTO TOPICS

A Blast At St. Matthew's Church—Fatal Crossing Accident. Toronto, July 15.—A most unseemly disturbance occurred just outside St. Matthew's Church last night. An over-zealous antagonist of Ritualism, who has been called "Popish doctrines and practices in a Protestant church." This was not the first time he had done so. He tried some last night when on the former occasion three weeks ago. Then he was merely hooded and hustled by excited students; yesterday he had varied experience. His literature was forcibly taken from him; he and Rector Howard had quite a tussle, according to Mr. Loyal's account. "I made several blows at him (the rector) and managed to get in two stingers on his back. He was engaged in a struggle with the Protestant champion continues; "and did not think I would get out of the crowd alive."

John McCartney of Hamilton, while standing within the closed gates at the Queen-street crossing was struck by a Montreal express and fatally injured. At the time of the accident he was engaged in a struggle with the suburban train coming in and failed to observe the express approaching. He was attended by Drs. Pickering and Stephenson and subsequently taken to the hospital where he died yesterday.

The deceased was 65 years of age. He was an uncle of Mr. John Loyal, who who keeps a brickyard east of the Don. He came to Toronto to take part in the Orange demonstration. An inquest will be held to-morrow.

On Saturday night Lawyer Charles Hogan brought to Police-man Macdonald on the Island and lost found in a boat during in Blackhouse Bay. In the pocket of the coat was found a bank book showing that the owner had $100 in his credit. The millers convention last week was a large and successful gathering. Mr. J. C. Hay of Listowel was selected president and Mr. Flew secretary. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That this meeting is aware of the efforts made during last session of Parliament by the miller's committee to have the error in the wheat and flour duties corrected and that we do further assert that the prime object of this meeting of millers is to endorse the work done last winter, and perfect the organization of Canadian millers for the purpose of obtaining justice. Other resolutions with reference to the disabilities under which the trade is to be languishing were passed.

A memorial was drafted to the Dominion Home praying for the abatement of railroad discrimination and asking for the appointment of an independent commission such as the Inter-State Railway Commission to settle all disputes over shipments and rates. A combine on milling rates was decided to buy all wheat by inspection and certificate as to weight and quality. The Secretary was ordered to issue a daily notification sheet containing the export values of all wheat and flour, so that the country millers could regulate their prices accordingly.

Mrs. Orr, aged about 40, the wife of William Orr, an expressman living at 5-12 Bellevue avenue, during a fit of insanity inflicted a terrible wound on her throat with a large butcher knife. Dr. G. H. Corbett of College avenue was summoned and he pronounced her injuries fatal and ordered her removal to the hospital. She lingered until an early hour this morning when she died.

Joseph Knowles, a C. P. R. brakeman was killed on the Ontario Bolt Works siding at Windermere owing to the sudden smashing of a brake rod, which threw him off the car and under the wheels. Knowles was an unmarried man and owned a farm in the vicinity of the accident.

The Orange demonstration was undoubtedly a great one. It numbered thousands, and was in order and appearance superior to anything similar of former years. The city brethren were densely packed and the procession, which took fifty-five minutes to pass a given point, was hailed with tumultuous applause at Exhibition Park. The celebrators went in for games, picnicking or to hear the speeches. Walter Lawson, a workman in Price's brickyards, was struck last week while at work and taken to his home on Norfolk avenue. He succumbed to the effects of the stroke. Other less serious cases of prostration from severe heat are numerous.

Winnipeg Wire Whispers. The Crops—The Calgary Murder Case—The Bankers' Extraneous Matter. WINNIPEG, July 14.—There is no definite estimate yet of what the crop will be. In some parts of the province the yield will be an average one, in others small. In the Calgary murder case against Fiske the medical evidence shows that the deed might have been accomplished by the dead and with the assistance of the second corpse. As it is likely Burke will apply for habeas corpus in the extradition matter the full court enlarged the term two weeks to dispose of the matter.

A Deceitful Popular Landlord. London, July 12.—The Earl of Eife, the Gauche of Princess Louise of Wales, refused to accept a wedding present from his tenant. He thanks them cordially for their kindness but says that he does not desire the tenants ought to devote their resources to objects which are not strictly necessary. Neither could swim. MITCHELL July 12.—About 9 o'clock this evening The Honey and Daniel Boutet, aged about 20, were upset out of a boat on the river. Neither could swim and Bohan was dead when rescued. Ronny is in a fair way for recovery. Wilkie Collins' Illness Critical. LONDON, July 12.—Wilkie Collins' illness is even more serious than at first reported, and he is not expected to recover. A Curious Accident. A curious accident, which unhappily has since proved fatal, befell M. Boutet, an artist, residing in the Avenue Victor Hugo, on Saturday morning. M. Boutet was working in his studio, when, inconvenienced by the sun, he asked his bonnet to get on the roof and pass a light linen covering over the glass. As the woman was arranging this awning she slipped and, falling through the glass, alighted on the table at which her master was seated. Oddly enough, she sustained no injury worth mentioning. M. Boutet, however, was not so fortunate. A piece of the broken glass struck him on the stomach, severing an artery. He tried to stanch the blood, and falling on the floor in the direction of a neighboring drug-gist's shop but he fell down fainting ere he reached the place, and two hours afterwards he breathed his last.—London Times.

Forebodings of Greatness. Johnny—I puzzle me to know where that marble is hidden. Willie—Move a little, can't you? There it is. You were standing right over it. Puzzled you, did it? What a gallus old detective you'll make some time.
