

WEAVING THE NET AROUND DR. HYDE

Chain of Circumstantial Evidence
Renames Kansas City Physician
—Fleishchman.

Kansas City, Mo., April 24.—In the weaving of the net of circumstantial evidence about Dr. Bennett Clarke Hyde, the Kansas City physician, a net which the state of Missouri believes will send Hyde to the gallows, branded as one of the most monstrous criminals of this or any other age, the story is told by "Young Tom" Swope, Hyde's brother-in-law and a member of the family on which Hyde is accused of having used desperate and cunning means to exterminate by the use of deadly drugs, subtle poisons and disease germs, will furnish a most absorbing chapter on this most absorbing tale.

Here is the story of "Young Tom" Swope practically as he is expected to tell it to the jury in the Swope murder trial before many days have passed.

Mrs. Swope Suspicious.

"Up to December 18, 1909, notwithstanding all of the strange and unpleasant circumstances at my mother's home, I was in no way suspicious of Dr. Hyde. My mother by that time had become suspicious of him and the matter had been talked over.

"That night I had taken my sister to the house of a neighbor where she was to remain all night. At 8:30 o'clock I was on my way back to my mother's home.

"On Pleasant street, I noticed a man coming toward me on the sidewalk of the street. There was snow on the ground. The man was about a block and a half away.

"He crossed to the opposite side of the street. Under an electric light so that I could see him plainly, he took something from his pocket, dropped it on the ground and stamped upon it with his foot.

"I recognized the man as Dr. Hyde, my brother-in-law. He coughed and when I heard him cough I wiped my mouth. He passed on, without having seen me. I did not speak to him.

Cyanide Capsule.

"I did cross over, did strike a match, to see if I could find what Dr. Hyde had dropped. I found one half of a capsule. I held it in my hand and it turned blue.

"When I got there I put the capsule on a card and in an envelope. I noticed a peculiar odor and the odor was, for I had worked in the gold mines out in Montana, and I was sure it was cyanide. I took the capsule to one of the nurses and asked her to smell it. She did so and said while the odor was familiar she did not know what it was.

"Later in the evening John G. Paxton and myself went back to the same spot. We found fifteen or twenty little pieces of broken capsules. We gathered them together and the next day Mr. Paxton and myself took them to Chicago for analysis.

Chicago Analyst to Testify.

"And when his turn comes to take the witness stand, Dr. H. H. Haines, of Chicago, will state positively that he has already made the statement before the Grand Jury that he analyzed the capsules and found cyanide in them.

"Tom" Swope placed the broken capsule, he had found in the snow, showed under analysis unmistakable trace of cyanide of potassium.

The testimony of these experts at the trial of Dr. Bennett Clarke Hyde is going to have an important bearing in outcome of the trial. These men—Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, Dr. Haines, and Dr. Victor C. Vaughn—are no mere theoreticians. They are men of them practicalists. They speak of facts of which they have practical and personal knowledge. The facts of which they testify are recorded in black and white. Their analysis, their tests and their deductions will be the test, the capsule and the deductions of cold blooded men of science. They will speak by the card.

An Irrefragable Case.

As one studies this most inexplicable case, as one delves further and further into the testimony that already has been given and which will be given for the Hyde case has been thrashed out in a large degree in other court proceedings, one cannot help but marvel at the extraordinary chain of evidence that is building Dr. Bennett Clarke Hyde. If he is an innocent man, then he is the victim of a most convincing and almost terrifying chain of circumstances. If he is a guilty man—the future will tell. The present week should see the testimony for the prosecution well under way. Up to date a beginning only has been made.

Storm on the Lakes.

Fort William, Ont., April 23.—Traffic generally is considerably obstructed here and a number of steamers are thought to be in shelter along the north shore of Lake Superior as a result of the storm which has prevailed here since last night. Since yesterday morning there has been a drop in the temperature of 35 degrees and snow, accompanied by moderate gale, has been falling ten hours.

B. C. Hindus Will Appeal to Him.

Vancouver, B. C., April 24.—Sir Sayaji Rao, Gaekwar of Baroda, one of the most influential of the independent princes of India, will arrive from Yokohama on a tour of the American continent June 15. Cold Wave in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—The mercury dropped today to 25 below the zero temperature record so late in the season in seventy-five years. The record does not extend so far back as half an inch of snow fell, and the vegetation is practically ruined.

CLARKE WILL NOT BE PRESENT SAYS ROBSON.

Winnipeg, April 25.—H. A. Robson, K.C., expresses the opinion that President Clarke, of the Great Waterways, will not testify or be present at the Winnipeg sittings of the Royal Commission investigating this case.

Hon. C. W. Cross, attorney general of Alberta, is here, but refuses to be interviewed.

3,000 Bottles of Liquor Seized.

LaSalle, Que., April 25.—Three thousand bottles of liquor, valued at as many dollars, were seized and destroyed in the woods six miles from here by a special constable of the Transcontinental Railway.

WHITNEY ISSUES A POWER STATEMENT

Ontario Premier Declares Refusal of Disallowance of Hydro Electric Legislation Question of Right of Province in Such Matter.

Toronto, Ont., April 24.—Premier Whitney today issued a statement relative to Hon. A. B. Aylesworth's announcement in refusing disallowance of Hydro Electric Power legislation, saying in part: "It is now certain that in the future there will be no further attempts, at any rate no successful attempts, to minimize or destroy the powers of a provincial legislative assembly within the limits of its jurisdiction. The unfair and dishonest method adopted against this legislation, which I can only touch upon in passing, prove clearly that when men's pockets govern their action they are not a rule particular as to the use of the means they are willing to adopt in order to succeed."

"To the application for disallowance an answer was put in by the provincial government. The same great measure was again brought into play when, if ever, the secret history of this matter is made public, the people will indeed be amazed."

"It was said a few days ago by one of the most bitter enemies of the legislation, if we are not much mistaken there was a very strong feeling in the cabinet in favor of disallowance. Possibly this was said from knowledge. At any rate, newspapers apparently desired to be understood and Opposition papers to be understood. The fact is, however, that the government has been watching the progress of Mr. Aylesworth's and similar enterprises with a keen eye. The government has been watching the progress of Mr. Aylesworth's and similar enterprises with a keen eye. The government has been watching the progress of Mr. Aylesworth's and similar enterprises with a keen eye."

FIRE THREATENS THE FORT.

Fort Saskatchewan, April 23.—Only with the greatest difficulty has the town been saved from complete destruction by a fire which has raged to the north and east of the town during the greater part of the day.

The volunteer fire brigade, the R.N.W.M.P., and practically every able-bodied citizen has been called upon to take a hand in the battle against the flames. Many teams have been engaged in ploughing fire guards to check the back fire. The fire was started by a man who was smoking a pipe. The fire was started by a man who was smoking a pipe. OPPOSED POWER BILL FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES ONLY

Conservatives in Federal House Line-Up Against St. Lawrence Power Transmission Measure, Which Gives to Eastern Portion of Ontario Similar Power Benefits as Western Ontario Secures From Niagara Power Legislation Passed by Whitney Government.

Special correspondence.

Ottawa, April 18th.—In the bill passed by the House of Commons at the close of last week, granting a charter to the St. Lawrence Power Transmission company, the Federal government extends to the eastern part of Ontario what may be termed the St. Lawrence counties the benefits of the western portion of the peninsula, enjoys from the Ontario government's Hydro-Electric scheme, in the doing whereof, a somewhat anomalous situation was presented to the country.

The undertaking of the Ontario government to carry electric power to the peninsula, yet when its scheme presented itself before the greater part of the not the whole of the eastern section constituting the St. Lawrence counties might be permitted to enjoy similar benefits the country was treated to the spectacle of the members of the House, whose political antagonism corresponds with that of the Ontario government, opposing the proposal and doing their utmost to defeat it.

Not Government Measure.

The St. Lawrence Power Transmission bill was not a government measure but as there appeared no likelihood of the Ontario government taking steps to extend to the eastern side of the province the advantages to be derived from distribution of electricity, the current which has already been granted to the western portion of the province, as many points in the east stood in need of some arrangement of the kind and as provision had already been made for the generation of such power, the proposal of the transmission company appeared strongly to the members of the government, individually and to the members of the Liberal majority in the House as well.

A charter had already been granted to a company to generate power, as intimated, on the St. Lawrence river, but that company had no power or authority to transmit it to the interior by means of transmission lines. In consequence, in view of the fact that the transmission of electricity was a public utility, a bill was introduced to the House to give the company the right to do so.

Opposition Against It.

Therefore, as another bill of the transmission company was a strong appeal to the majority in the House, singularly enough, as it struck many minds, they were not regulated by the opposition. The bill, in the face of the fact that the hydro-electric scheme of the Conservative government was a policy of opposing the extension of a large benefit to the country for seemingly no other purpose than to play at politics.

Trade Slightly Irregular.

Bradstreet's Report for Last Week—Wheat Export Increases.

New York, N.Y., April 24.—Wheat including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending April 21, as reported by telegraph to Bradstreet's, aggregated 1,239,972 bushels, against 1,836,266 bushels last week and 1,555,778 bushels this week last year.

Trade in Canada displays some little irregularity. Thus reports from the eastern section of the Dominion are satisfactory, but those from the West indicate that unfavorable weather has superinduced a slight falling off in exportable goods. However, all advises agree that prospects are bright.

Montreal reports that travellers are ending the winter season with a good deal of money in their pockets. The Columbia did not become alarmed at the alarm and filed from the building without any excitement.

THIRD READING OF BUDGET.

Income Taxes Must Be Paid Inside of a Fortnight.

London, April 24.—Now that the budget has been introduced it will pass its third reading on April 27. Englishmen are confronted with the necessity for raising the wind to pay their income taxes, which payment has been held up since January 1, by the squabble between the Lords and the Commons.

The exchequer authorities have issued intimations this week that the tax must be paid within a fortnight of the date of the budget. The total amount of £45,000,000 has been voluntarily paid, while £115,000,000 remains to be collected within a fortnight. No grace will be allowed to delinquent persons who are subject to the tax.

How much of the income tax payers' loss to the budget is due to the fact that the budget is a surprise, and the tax payers are not prepared to pay it until they have had time to consider it.

Central Pennsylvania Miners Return.

Altoona, Pa., April 24.—The operators and miners of the Central Pennsylvania fields today effected a compromise agreement in the wage scale to be paid for the next two years. The miners are given an advance of three cents a ton on pick mining and 5.5 per cent increase for all classes of mine labor. The miners will resume work tomorrow pending a ratification of the scale by a referendum vote.

Inspecting Granby Mines.

Nelson, April 24.—J. P. Graves, of Spokane, vice-president of the Granby Consolidated Company, visited Phoenix this week inspecting the company's mine with a view to reporting to the directors at the meeting next month in New York. He was accompanied by Mr. Morgan, of Spokane, and Treasurer J. W. Woodruff.

To Be Received by Catholic.

London, April 24.—Og. Roosevelt will be received by the Lord-Maver, Sir John Knill, the Lord-Maver, who is a Catholic. He is one of the few persons who are not converts to the faith of London. He is zealous in his faith.

FREIGHT YARDS IN THE WEST END

Grand Trunk Pacific Preparing to Erect Sheds For Handling of Heavy Traffic.

Four officials of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway were in Edmonton Monday, E. J. Chamberlain, general manager, and H. H. Brewer, general superintendent, came in this morning from Wolf Creek in their private cars, Transcontinental and Prince Rupert, and J. E. Dalrymple, general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and Mr. McFadden, superintendent of the prairie division of the road, have also returned to the city from their trip to the end of the steel.

Measrs. Chamberlain and Brewer spent but a few hours at Wolf Creek yesterday. They made an inspection of the work on the bridge over the Macleod river. Mr. Chamberlain reports the construction to be proceeding satisfactorily, and from his inspection of the line west of Edmonton, found it to be in good order. The bridge over Wolf Creek will be completed some time next week, and when the Macleod river bridge is ready to convey the tracklaying apparatus over the river in about two months' time it is expected that nearly 100 miles of the road west will be graded and ready for the laying of the steel. Mr. Chamberlain registered this morning at the Edmonton club, of which he is a member. He is accompanied on the present trip by Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr. Dalrymple had a long conference this morning with the secretary of the Board of Trade, with reference to the handling of freight from Edmonton to points on the line between this city and Winnipeg, and the provision of better facilities for the handling of freight.

Principle Held to Be Good.

But the principle involved, the members of the majority party held to be good and so general was this feeling among the members on the liberal side that the measure was given the aspect of being a semi-public bill.

Relative to the paramount objection raised to the bill by the opposition, the members on the government side of the chamber took the ground that if the destruction of a very great natural beauty was involved as against a small or any ordinary utility, the enterprise would be the subordinate consideration, but to set up the preservation of the natural beauty of a bit of scenery, which, though pleasing to the eye, cannot be said to be extraordinary, as against a very large and highly important utility, one involving the interest of a large and important section of country, they held could not be justified on any ground.

No Occasion for Party Division.

Thus was a unanimity of sentiment with regard to the transmission company's bill manifested among Liberal members, which gave to the various debates the semblance of the bill being a government measure while the opposition, on the other hand, would have seemed to have indicated the same thing although there was no occasion for division on party lines.

Assuredly it was in the nature of a compromise, as soon as it was made a first-class passenger service would be inaugurated between Edmonton and Winnipeg.

Mr. Dalrymple stated that arrangements were now being made for the erection of freight sheds in the west end of the city where the freight yards would be located. He hoped to have everything in readiness in a time for the handling of large quantities of freight. The objections to the shipping tariff which have been made by the business community, and the fact that the railway company was not a public utility, were not a matter which rested entirely with the railway. They could supply checkers or not as they saw fit. The fact was that the railway was prepared to do so when the line was ready for business.
